Locally it is not believed that the Windsor board of the chamber of commerce will favor the longer and more expensive route in preference to the shorter and more economical one passing through the most thickly populated part of the peninsula.

At the Woodstock meeting, held on October 15, it was decided to send representatives from all the municipalities west of Hamilton, including Brantford, Ingersoll, Woodstock, London and Chatham to Toronto in the near future to advocate the route of the provincial highway through the above towns. One citizen, at least, has tried to offer a practical solution to the problem by approaching A. A. Mr. Langford feels sure that the school board would be willing to do anything which would relieve the situation, and will approach Mrs. Thompson of No. 4 Division to talk over the feasibility of the plan.

HEAD REORGANIZED BOARD OF TRADE

Local Men Believe It Will Not Governing Members of the Epidémic of Influenza Keeps Present Body To Retire, Is Part of Improved Plan.

That the combination of towns between St. Thomas and Tilbury, whose representatives met at Ridgetown Friday to discuss the proposed provincial highway route through Western Ontario, have little chance of securing the Government support of the route suggested at this meeting, through Shedden and following the M. C. R. west to Ridgetown, thence on westward, is the opinion of local men who are Under Plan of U. S. Bureau.

"When the membership has been secured the new body will be organized under the plan which the American City Bureau has so successfully employed in many other cities, involving, of course, the adoption of new bylaws and the election of new officers.

"In stating this, please understand that the executive committee of the relieved of the responsibilities which now rest upon them. On the contrary, they are all immensely impressed with the importance of this work and are willing to serve; but, obviously, it would be proper when the membership has been widely enlarged, as it most surely will be as the result of the campaign now on, that all who come into the new body should have the privilege of expressing a choice in the selection of those who shall administer the affairs of the organization.

"To meet this view, the reorganization must be complete, with the prime object in view to give London the most thoroughly efficient medium for community expression and for co-operative service to the Dominion which we can devise."

This statement is signed by F. E. Leonard, president; John Bridge, vice-president; Gordon Phillp, secretary; E. H. Nelles, treasurer, and the following: A. E. Silverwood, T. W. McFarland, E. G. Part of Improved Plan.

Evidence of the completeness of the reorganization and expansion of the London Board of Trade is contained in the statement made last evening that all the present officers and members of the executive committee have offered their resignations. This action is to take effect when the wilrectors and Diners are elected.

Because of the appeal being made in the campaign for eight hundred or more members, the present governing group of the board believed they should retire, and thus afford the new membership and the present executive committee, the following statement was made public last evening:

Line of the board of trade is a complished by the establishment of an entirely new community organization, in which there may be enrolled not only those who are now supporting this in which there may be enrolled not only those who are now supporting this in which there may be enrolled not only those who are now supporting this in the city. battle against death. Green cross motors were humming all day, tired nurses continued to give relief to the suffering, while a whole army in bed, waged a weary battle against the germ called the "flu." In the Alexandra school the diet committee of S. O. S. girls labored all day long in their efforts to supply food to families unable to provide for themselves, while the motor brigade sped hither and thither bearing this food to its destination. sped hither and thither bearing this food to its destination.

The action of the board of health in closing the churches must have given a day of rest to the influenza germs. What a harvest they might have gathered in had they been able to fly from the mouth of one good pewholder to another. Even the places of business gave them no opportunity of transmission yesterday, when they indeed must have had a season of rest. Everybody hopes this rest may be but the forerunner of their final extermination.

Local newspapermen are of the opinion that it is an ill wind that blows no good, as for the first time in centuries the busy reporter had the day to himself, the suspension of church services making yesterday an "assignmentless" Sunday, although it was not regarded as a gasless Sunday.
