"Hold Up" Expert Revolver Shot and His Whole Family-By Request, Left Wedding Rings.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—With the piercing ray of a burglar's dark lantern shining in their eyes and two revolvers held by masked men covering them, the five members of the family of Chas. E. Taynter, a wealthy granite dealer, lay in bed in the Taynter home in Borough Park, Brooklyn, for more than an hour, while a third masked burglar packed up $10,000 worth of jewelry and silverware. Then the burglars bound Tarnter hand and foot and escaped with their booty.

Taynter is known as a crack shot, being a member of the New York State Rifle Association. It is believed that the burglars knew this and took no chance with him.

The three men gained entrance to the house by breaking a window on the ground floor. One of the burglars struck Taynter a crushing blow on the head with a blackjack as he lay esleep. The blow stunned the sleeper, and a few minutes later, when Taynter re-covered his senses, he found three re-volvers leveled at him.

Mr. and Mrs. Taynter were made to sit up in bed, and two of the burglars held them covered while a third began historical pageant organized by Louis
N. Parker, an American dramatist.
Poets and musicians from Chaucer to

A momen later Charles Taynter, aged 8, and Har old, aged 12, came into the room, hav-ing been awakened. They were made to sit on the side of the bed. The burglar who was ransacking the room found a jewel case with two wedding rings in it on a bureau, and was about to take them when Taynter told him not to. The robber replied that he would take everything of value he could find, but one of his pais said: "Don't take those wedding rings." I am a married man and have about wedding rings."

The rings were left, but two toy banks belonging to the Taynter boys day afternoon to receive instructions in picket and sentinel duty for active service. The body proceeded from the armories at 2 p.m., in command of Lieut. Eden Smith, to be later commanded by Lieut. Barrie, adjutant of Taynter to give up a $500 diamond ring the Second Battalion. he wore. The ring would not come off, one of the burglars grimly drew a jackknife and was going to cut off Mr. Taynter's fingers. Mr. Taynter pro-tested and asked permission to go to the bathroom and soak the ring off with soap and water.

"We will do that ourselves," said the man who appeared to be the leader of the trio, and he forthwith escorted Taynter to the bathroom and secured the ring. After this the leader lifted Taynter's pillow and found a revolver under it. He laughed and dropped the weapon into his pocket. Then the three men produced a rope and bound Mr. Taynter's hands and feet and escaped.
