

the influence of an ever increasing French population. If we are to reach them with the Gospel, it must be, as a rule, through their native tongue.

In no way can our English Churches become so aggressive, as through the instrumentality of English pastors who speak fluently the French language. If some of the churches are to live it must be by such a course.

We need young men, both French and English (and women too, who will devote their lives to this work with as great enthusiasm as do Foreign Missionaries. Surely the call is as great to learn the language of more than a million people who are ignorant of the pure Gospel—people who are our neighbors and fellow citizens, as it is to go anywhere else to learn the language of those who are without Christ.

The French language can be acquired at Grande Ligne, while pursuing the regular course there of Greek and Latin, or other studies preparatory to entering University.
