JANUARY.—Agricultural readers of the daily press will have noticed a discussion respecting great and shameful frauds charged against pedlars and dealers in various kinds of fruit trees. Rare and hitherto unknown specimens of pears, plums and apples have been ostentatiously and vigorously advertised and personally canvassed for. We mention it here, not to recommend one thing rather than another, but to suggest to all needing fruit trees, or who propose to lay out orchards, that they should deal only with well-known, trustworthy and experienced houses. Of these there are many, and with a little care and enquiry, there is not much danger of the farmer becoming the victim of pretension and humbug.

The Canada Agricultural Insurance Company, pays for Live Stock killed by Lightning in the buildings or any where on the premises, if insured.
