FAMOUS GEMS OF PROSE

THE SIMPLE LAW OF SLAVERY

By Charles Sumner

From an address before the people of New York at the Metropolitan theatre, New York city, May 9, 1855.

"The cardinal principle of slavery—that the slave is not to be ranked among sentient beings, but among things—is an article of property—a chattel person—obtains as undoubted law in all of these (slave) states."—Stroud's laws of slavery, 22.

SLAVE, this is enough. As out of its small egg crawls forth the slimy, scaly reptile crocodile, so out of this simple definition crawls forth the whole slimy, scaly, reptile monster by which a man is changed into the whole slimy, scaly, reptile monster by which a man is changed into the whole slimy, scaly, reptile monster...

OPPOSITION OBSTRUCTING BUSINESS IN OTTAWA

Tactics May Bring on Election, of Results of Which Government Has No Fear—The Situation Briefly Outlined

Ottawa, March 19—With the ending of the fiscal year less than two weeks away, and a very small percentage of supply for the present of the government, and with the obvious obstruction of the opposition, particularly during the past two weeks, it has been decided by the government to devote most of the balance of the month to endeavoring to get supply, leaving the opposition the part of a section of the opposition to propose an interim supply bill, if found necessary, until next session.

MR. SIFTON'S MISTAKE

Only a highly emotional nature can visualize the Canadian Northwest transferred within a few years into the "backyard" of the city of Chicago, and Canada itself as a satrapy ruled from Washington. To those who see the spectre of annexation staring in the face of reciprocity, this question might be put: If it has taken thirty years to bring so reasonable and so inevitable a thing as reciprocity within the realm of actuality, how many years must it take to make the infinitely more complex and difficult problem of annexation a living issue? Unless Mr. Sifton allies himself to the very highest type of statesmanship, which insists on looking a hundred years ahead, why use the telephone to disseminate his nerves? We do not believe that the proposed arrangement will "turn Canada from the path which leads to the capital of the British Empire to the path which leads to Washington." We insist rather on considering the benefit to this nation, to Canada, to the British Empire, and, more than that, to the peace of the world, if a Canada in friendlier relations with ourselves shall come to be the tie that binds us closer to Great Britain.

REMNANTS ARRIVED

Cardinal Gibbons was recently the guest of a human friend in Baltimore. In the home is a butler of Mrs. Partingtonian proclivities, and on the church dignitary's former informal visits to the home his mistress had been under the necessity of reminding the obtuse servant that the distinguished guest was to be addressed as "Your Eminence."

On the present occasion when the Cardinal rang the bell the man of impressive countenance answered, received the card, and, turning, announced to the hostess: "Please, mum, your remnant has come." Ladies' Home Journal.

MR. Haultain on LOYALTY

(Toronto Globe)

The opinion of Mr. Haultain, who governed the Northwest Territories for years before the formation of the Province of Alberta and Saskatchewan, and who has had excellent opportunities of learning the real views of the Americans now pouring into the Canadian West, should be of far more value than that of eastern critics of reciprocity who declare that it will Americanize the West.

Mr. Haultain is the Conservative leader in Saskatchewan. It was hoped that he would be one of Mr. Burden's chief lieutenants should he ever be called upon to form a government. He cannot be accused of subservience to the government at Ottawa. His opinion is that of a man who has always been actively identified with imperialistic sentiment.

Mr. Haultain, in the exercise of his duties as a member of the Executive Council of the Saskatchewan Legislature that he did not believe the Americans who were helping under the cover of reciprocity had any idea of annexation, and he had always found that the Americans were better satisfied with the conditions in Canada than they had been in the States. Besides, no one had ever heard of a political agitation arising where people were prosperous and contented, and for that reason there could be none in the Province of Saskatchewan. The Americans who came here would first become good Canadians, and in the end good Britons.

It is remembered that there are almost a quarter of a million people of American birth and ancestry in Saskatchewan, and that many are being added to this total every day, the importance of Mr. Haultain's statement cannot be overestimated. Within ten years we shall have between the great lakes and the Rockies over a million persons born south of the border who will be good Canadians and in border who will be good Britons.

New York Letter By Wire.

New York, March 20—Notwithstanding the extreme dullness which prevailed in the stock market during the last week a strong undertone characterized the transactions and the market showed a tendency to advance wherever active. This is a normal period of waiting in financial affairs, and it is admitted that the winter just passed has been a most favorable one for winter wheat, and it is said that the government's report to be published April 8, will make a most gratifying showing for that crop both in the matter of acreage and condition.

There is also every prospect of large areas sown to the other cereal crops and to cotton, particularly to the latter, on account of the high prices which have prevailed for the staple for a year past. In other fundamentals the situation has become very strong. For the eight months of the current fiscal year the country's trade balance has been exceeded only three times in the last twenty years, and it seems reasonably assured that the showing for the complete fiscal year will be one of the best in history.

It would be hard to exaggerate the far-reaching economic significance of this prospect. In the matter of money, time accommodations can be obtained at low rates notwithstanding the prospect of an active demand at the crop-moving centres a little later on. In short, underlying conditions are of such character as to warrant a sustained advance in the stock market. The only unfavorable factor in the situation are the uncertainty of the outcome of the corporate elections and the fears of "stiff" financing of the extra session congress. These matters, however, appear to have been well handled.
