SHOULD BEGIN AT HOME.

The union of the Maritime Provinces is not now a live issue although some delegates to the board of trade regard it as such. It will, however, eventually become a necessity, for these little provinces will realize the fact that they must unite if their position is to be maintained in the face of the growing strength of the west. But what is needed now is some other sort of union, neither wholly political nor commercial, by which all matters of common interest may be dealt with. There is no use in denying the fact that the Maritime Provinces are standing still. What is gained in one direction is lost in another, and there is small profit in increasing St. John's population by a hundred men through winter port shipping while one thousand from rural districts leave for the west. One province alone can put up only a weak opposition to this movement, but the three provinces working together can do much more. And this is only one of many matters of common interest which require attention and which should be handled jointly. Only a week or two ago thousands of young men left their homes here to work in western Canada. Reports are being received that the crops in some sections of the west are spoiling because of scarcity of help. Well, let them spoil. If western farmers have as usual bitten off more than they can chew, it does not follow that eastern men should be compelled to cure their indigestion. There is more to be gained by gathering the crops at home than by helping with those two thousand miles away, and it is not right that New Brunswick farms should be neglected in order that those of Alberta may flourish. This talk of unselfish sacrifice for the good of the empire, and the nobility of looking to the prosperity of Canada as a whole is all right in its place, but the people here should make Canada prosper and to increase the wealth of the empire is by each man doing his share towards the progress of his own province or city. There is no more reason why an eastern laborer should give his strength to the west than there is why a St. John capitalist should spend his money in Australian rabbits.

THE NEW MUSEUM.

The Natural History Society has recently issued a prospectus, in which an appeal to the general public for support and assistance is made. The circular sets forth the benefits to be derived from a public museum of natural history and arts. It tells of the aims of the Natural History Society in New Brunswick and of the efforts which, during past years, have been made to provide a museum and to afford instruction. The Flinn residence on Union street has been secured and is now being properly fitted and equipped for the reception of the collections belonging to the society, and in this new building it will be possible to display to good advantage the different specimens which have previously been stored away in rooms in the market building. The museum contains the Genser collection, which was formerly lodged in the Mechanics' Institute and which consists of natural history and ethnological collections and also the first collection of minerals and geological specimens that was made by a government geological survey in Canada. In addition to these there have been large numbers of specimens added by members of the society. All the available funds of the New Brunswick available Society have been invited in the purchase of the new building and to fitting it up. More money is now needed, and the members of the society feel that it will be impossible for them to complete their work without public subscriptions. Five thousand dollars will be required to pay off existing liabilities, and when the value of the work done by the society is considered, there should be a generous response.

POLICE AND DOCTOR AGREE.

Dr. Horatio Parkins, the medical expert, described at a medical banquet the vicissitudes and excitement of the life of a young ambulance surgeon. "An ambulance surgeon of my acquaintance," he said, "had a curious experience the other night. 'He was summoned to the police station to examine an unconscious prisoner. The prisoner, muddy and disheveled, lay on the floor of the cell room. They physician bent over and examined him, and then, rising, said in a loud, stern voice: 'This man's condition is not due to drink. He has been drugged.' 'A policeman turned pale and said in a timid, hesitating voice: 'I'm afraid yer right, sir. I drugged him all the way from Carney's saloon, a matter of 100 yards or more.' 'Milwaukee Sentinel.

AN UNFAIR ADVANTAGE.

(Translated from Tales from Meggen-dorfer Elmet.)
"Mrs. Nagz is the most inconsistent woman I know."
"How's that?"
"She had the words, 'Rest in peace,' carved on her husband's tombstone, yet she visits that grave every day."

GOT IT HONESTLY.

Vincent was altogether too garrulous in school to please his teachers. Such punishments as the institution allowed to be meted out were tried without any apparent effect upon the boy, until at last the head master decided to mention the lad's faults upon his monthly report. So the next report to his father had these words:
"Vincent talks a great deal."
"Back came the report by mail duly signed, and with this written in red ink under the comment:
"You ought to hear his mother!" Philadelphia Ledger.

SONG OF THE WILD CHAUFFEUR.

I want to go out in my automobile, My automobile - hobbly-hobbly-bubble, And rattle and roar till I run against trouble; I want to cut loose with the Gabriel tooter, To skip and to scamper about with my scooter, My bowler, my yeller, my shrieker, my booter, My automobile - hobbly-hobbly-bubble, That roars at the rubbering ring of the rattle, My rattle, expansion of forty-horse double, My automobile - hobbly-hobbly-bubble, With honkey - honkey-honkey-bing! And tootley - tootley-spring! My automobile - Ker-smash!

I want to whoop and go whirling and whizzing, And scolding and tooting and fazing and fazing, And flapping and flapping and fusing and fusing, And gliding and sliding and shooting and shying; I want to go puffing and panting, pell-mell, And coughing and crying and screaming and yelling, To ride in my automobile-hobbly-bubble, Surrounded by dust and by smoke and by pebbles— My automobile - Ker-smash!

I want to wind up with a tire on my collar, To face a repair bill that takes my last dollar; And I want to go smash in the smashiest of smashies— My automobile - Ker-smash!

Only 5,981,000 barrels were produced in this country in 1880, and the consumers were forced to go abroad for 2,427,639 barrels. Last year the total production at home was 5,596,112 barrels. The tariff act of 1884 placed salt on the free list and the importation increased to nearly 50,000,000 pounds in the following year. The tariff act of 1887 returned salt to the dutiable list, and salt in bags, barrels or other packages, these two States amounts to more than two-thirds of the total production of the United States.

No attempt has ever been made to ascertain what per cent. of the salt consumed in the United States is used for culinary purposes. The annual output is largely consumed in the industries of meat packing, fish, curing, etc. The like. The chief salt producing States are Michigan and New York. Statistics recently gathered by the government show that the combined output of these two States amounts to more than two-thirds of the total production of the United States.

NO SECRETS.

NORTH SHORE GYPSIES

AS HIGHWAYMEN

A Party There are in the Habit of Holding Up Persons on the Road.

CHATHAM, N. B., Aug. 16.—A camp of gypsies is stationed near Nelson not far from the Southwest Branch bridge, and it reports are true, they need some attention from the authorities. It is claimed that they are in the habit of holding up people who travel by that road, and actually compel them to hand over small sums of money. Last week two young men of Derby were riding on their wheels through this part, when they were held up in the usual manner, and it was not until one of the wheelmen displayed and fired a revolver, that they managed to get best without losing any of their valuables.

A NATION OF SALT EATERS.

A Barrel a Year for Every Three Persons

—Most of It of Home Production.

The United States consumes 26,872,700 barrels of salt annually, or a barrel for every three persons in the land. Last year it went abroad for only 2,427,639 barrels. In 1880 6.5 per cent. of the salt used in our country was of home production. Last year 85.7 per cent. of the product consumed was produced within the borders of this country. In 1880 the consumption in this country was only 2,844,303 barrels. Thus we see that the people of the United States are using annually three times as much salt as they used twenty-six years ago.

ICE CREAM!

To those who have not used our Ice Cream, we wish to say a word.

Our Ice Cream costs more to make than any other; we use double the usual quantity of pure rich cream, which in itself is a costly item; we do not use "fillers" such as condensed milk, corn starch or patented powders to produce larger quantities for less money.

The Fruits we use are Pure Fruits, and the Vanilla is furnished by a maker of the highest reputation.

We make the Cream regardless of expense and charge no more than you pay for ordinary cream made and handled in the ordinary way.

All orders promptly filled. If you have not time to come to our Parlors, just telephone 1118 and we will deliver promptly any and all orders.

A MILD WAY OF SAYING IT.

Some years ago the Chief Justice of the United States found that the tire of one of his wheels was loose and kept slipping off. Coming to a little stream he drove into it and got one little section of the wheel wet; then drove out and backed his horse, and the same part of the wheel went into the water again. Thus he kept going backward and forward, all the time wetting the same part of the wheel.

A negro saw the situation, and told the Justice to back into the water again. He did so, and the negro took hold of the spokes of the wheel and, turning it slowly, soon had it wet all around.

"Why, I never thought of that," cried the Chief Justice.

"Well," replied the darky, "some men just natty have more sense than others."—Philadelphia Ledger.

PASS SYSTEM ON INTERCOLONIAL

Committee Satisfied With
Mr. Emmerson's Decision

Another Interview Will Not Likely be Asked For—The Contents of the Circular

MONCTON, N. B., Aug. 15.—It is very unlikely that the committee which recently saw Hon. H. R. Emmerson, minister of railways, in regard to his pass over, will seek another interview. By a careful perusal of the order recently issued, it will be seen that the officials are allowed considerable latitude in regard to the issuance of special passes, and if the latitude is impartially exercised there should be no grievance.

The circular in its entirety is as follows:

"Passes will be issued to employees: 1st. When they are sent by their superior officer on business of the railway.

"2nd. When they are given leave of absence by their superior officer to consult the officers of the railway.

"3rd. When all meetings of railway employees are held.

"4th. Each employee who has completed one full year's service may be given one pass per year. A limited number of additional passes may be given to each employee in case of serious illness or death in the family or any other unusual circumstances.

Each of these cases must be submitted to the general manager with a statement of the facts, and his approval to be obtained before the pass is issued.

"5th. In the case of employees in the train service when the management is such that the lay off time is away from home the district superintendent may in such cases as they consider not to be against the interests of the railway, issue passes to such employees to take them to and from their homes between trips.

"6th. Each employee who has completed one year's full service may be given one pass each year for his wife and family residing with and depending upon him for support. In case of each married employee whose father is not an employee of the railway service he may be given one pass each year for his mother or sister providing they reside with and are depending on him for support. In such cases passes will be issued by the general manager upon application through the head of the department in which he works. In cases of serious illness or death in the family or of other unusual circumstances a limited number of passes may be given to the dependent members of his family living with him as described above. A statement of the facts must be sent to the general manager with each application.

"7th. On parts of the line where there are no stores in the neighborhood each employee may be given passes for himself or his wife, mother or sister as the case may be, living with and dependent upon him for support and to and from the nearest settlement at one-half the current selling price. These passes will be issued by the general manager on the recommendation of the head of the department in which he works. Not more than one pass per month will be issued to any such family referred to in the paragraph above.

"8th. There may be issued to employees for their own use and the depending members of their families residing with them as described above first class tickets to any station on the railway at one-half the regular first class fare, also ten ride and fifty ride tickets at one-half the current selling price. These will be sold by the ticket agents on the delivery to them in each case of a certificate from the head of the department in which the employee works.

TROUBLE MAY BE SETTLED SOON

Brooklyn Trolley Cars Stop at Second Fare Boundary to Avoid Trouble

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The troubles of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company with those of its patrons who since Sunday have acted under an opinion by Supreme Court Justice Gaylor and refused to pay two-cent fares to Coney Island, seem tonight to be nearing an amicable adjustment, and it is expected that by tomorrow or Friday the seasonal traffic over the Brooklyn trolley roads will be running under something like normal conditions.

The company this afternoon adopted a plan suggested by acting Mayor McAdams to give a rebate receipt to every person paying ten cent fare, five cents to be returned to the holder if the court of appeals upholds the decision of Justice Gaylor that five cents is the legal fare to Coney Island.

It was stated that the company is preparing the papers in a test case to be taken before the court of appeals. This is regarded as an act of conciliation, as the burden of proof has been held to rest with the public.

Justice Gaylor himself helped in bringing about a peaceable solution of the difficulty today by giving out an interview in which he advised everyone to pay the double fare rather than commit acts of violence.

The Brooklyn trolley cars were again today stopped at the second fare boundary to avoid disturbances. Passengers had to transfer to the elevated roads and pay the second fare.

A suspicious character attempted to gain admittance to the residence of Rev. Father Chapman on Broad street last night, about eight o'clock. The occupants of the house at the time were two women and they becoming alarmed at the man's actions telephoned for the police. Officer Joseph Scott responded to the call but when he arrived on the scene the intruder had disappeared.
