Business Before The Women's Hospital Aid

Excellent Reports Received—
Treasurer Showed Balance of $5,766.85.

The Woman's Hospital Aid at their meeting yesterday considered matters in connection with the furnishing of the Nurses' Home. The committee reported that the room was not in the original plans, and also not to provide fixtures for the bathroom, as that had not been anticipated in making allowance for the furnishings at the Home. The meeting was held at the Board of Trade rooms, presiding, first vice-president presiding.

Expressed Appreciation.

Mrs. E. A. Young gave a report of an interview between a committee from the Woman's Hospital Aid regarding the cleaning and opening of the Nurses' Home. The committee expressed appreciation of the board of the splendid generosity of the Aid for the Home. The Home will be cleaned at the expense of the board to the approval of the Aid. Hearty co-operation will be shown the board in a open day for the Hospital and Nurses' Home.

The Furnishings.

Miss Addy told of being asked by Mrs. J. V. McLellan, representing the board of commissioners, if the Aid would provide furnishings for the bedrooms in the Nurses' Home. Members came to the decision that such an expense had not been anticipated and that there are no funds available.

The furnishings of the sitting room in the Dietitian suite came up for discussion, and it was decided not to furnish this room as it had not been on the original plan. Furniture for two bedrooms, which has been purchased, will not be required, as the Dietitian's suite is in place of these rooms.

A motion to exchange this furniture for sitting room articles and complete the equipment of the Dietitian's sitting room was moved by Mrs. E. A. Young, seconded by Mrs. T. H. Carter. The motion was lost by one vote—six being against it and five in favor. On motion Messrs. Manchester Roberts and Allison, will be asked to take back extra bedroom furniture on hand.

Denominational reports were given as follows:
Anglican, Mrs. Mowrey, 15 members; Roman Catholic, Mrs. J. H. Doody, 3 for the Cathedral, Mrs. T. H. Carter, Baptist, 32 for German street Baptist church, 22.
It was stated that a special nurse at the hospital will take care of the flower vases. Mrs. T. H. Carter gave an excellent report as convener of the

How You Can Remove Every Trace of Hair

(Tollit Talks)

A stiff paste made with some powdered dolomite and water and spread on a hairy surface about 2 minutes will, when removed, take every trace of hair with it. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining dolomite. No harm can result from this treatment, but be sure it is delatious you get and you will not be disappointed. Mix fresh as wanted.

Mrs. Brigadier Moore.

Mrs. Brigadier Moore bade farewell to the Aid as she is moving to Toronto. She said she was the first organization she had joined in the city, and spoke of the splendid force women could be for public good. The Aid represents all classes and creeds, and is doing a fine work. Members would be welcomed in Toronto by Mrs. Moore. In aid of the furnishings of the Nurses' Home, Mrs. Moore is arranging a garden party to be held in June, and may present purchased tickets for this. Mrs. Moore has been a valued member of the Aid and great regret was expressed at her departure from St. John.

For the cook book committee, Mrs. Sims reported receipts of $200. It was felt that members should show more interest in the sale of these books which, if disposed of, will bring in a splendid sum of money to the organization. Mrs. E. A. Young tendered her resignation as convener of this committee. The appointing of a new convener was left until the next meeting. Mrs. Sims continuing to act for the present.

Mrs. R. Duncan Smith, treasurer, reported receipts $5,766.85; expenses, $9.89; balance on hand, $5,766.85. DECORATED PARASOLS.

Parasols decorated with raised waterlilies are among the new creations for summer. The parasol represents a pond, and has green gold fish painted upon it. Another triumph is a parasol painted with gold spidery webs. This is intended to be carried when a black hat painted with webs is worn. Most beautiful of all are parasols representing black and red Chinese laquer, with gold figures upon them.

Women Want Coal Mines Developed

National Council Claims Canada Should Not be Dependent Upon Others for Fuel.

Calgary, Alta., June 16.—The coal situation in Canada, which one of the delegates to the National Council of Women describes as a burning question, was brought before this morning's session of that body in the report of the council of home economics. This was presented by Mrs. Jean Maciver, of Toronto, who urged that the development of Canada's mines was an economic necessity. In the discussion following the reading of the report, it was pointed out that Alberta has one sixth of the coal deposits of the world, and if cheaper freight rates could be procured during the summer months before the shipment of grain started, it would help in the development of the mines, the lowering of the price and the employment of men. After much discussion action was deferred until the motion could be reported.

The resolution brought forward by Mrs. Maciver to endorse the proposed bureau of information and its magazine, a project placed before the council two days ago by Mrs. Sears, of Ottawa, brought forth the opinion that something of this nature was required.

Debate on Subject.

Mrs. Muldrew, of Ottawa, said there was no reason why women should not obtain as much for home economies as is needed. While ample provision is made for information and for assistance in the care and the feeding of children, for full information for the farmer who desires to build a chicken house, there is no help and no provision for any assistance to the housewife in any of her difficulties. "We believe that the women of Canada," continued Mrs. Muldrew, "should ask for a home economics department in the federal government."

This proposition was objected to by Mrs. A. C. Skelton and Mrs. A. J. Mulcahy, of Pictou, N. S., who thought the council should go slowly in asking the government to do anything that would add more expense to the country and the matter was accepted as a notice of motion to be dealt with at the next annual meeting.

The New York Bureau of Municipal Research has determined that a young unmarried man must have $1095 a year to live decently, while a young woman needs $118. The extra $5 allowed for the young woman would, probably cover cost of rouge and powder, if not enough to pay for furs worn when the thermometer is above 30 in the shade.—Commercial Bulletin.

TODAY'S TALK

THE BELIEVER

It is better to believe in something than to believe in nothing. Even though that something be little and slender.

When I take to my pillow bed, I believe that the engineer is going to keep his eyes alert and safely bring me to my destined end—even though I have never seen him.

We sleep to wake! Because we live here there is to be a "morning." Though in the interim we are lost in a darkness.

I still believe in Santa Claus—because he makes so many little tots dance with joy.

I believe that the world is getting better all the time—for if I didn't I would get very discouraged, indeed.

And I never feel good when I am that way. Do you?

I believe that we are all of us being followed all the time—by some kind and gentle spirit that sees we do not stray too far.

The believer is always the achiever. He sees a long way ahead of the crowd. He goes to his night-bed tired and sometimes almost ready to give up. But he believes that he will awake refreshed and with never a stronger faith in his idea.

The believer bears his pain. The keeper of the door of his heart hands a smile and bids you to enter. And you go away ashamed of your complaints and imagined ills.

Be big enough to believe.

"PROTECTOR" OF GIRL RELIEVES HER OF DIAMOND

Drops $2,000 Gem in Gutter When the Police Take a Hand in Game.

GIVE TWO NAMES TO THE OFFICERS

The Young Lady Had Borrowed the Pin Without Her Mother's Knowledge.

New York, June 16.—Miss Roslyn Pick, 15 years old, of 227 Lenox avenue, went for a subway ride yesterday afternoon, and to make the trip more exciting she wore her mother's diamond and pearl pin, which is valued at $2,000. Either the pin or the girl attracted the attention of a man in the subway, and he tried to flirt with her, but was stared down by another young man who kindly volunteered to give Miss Pick all the protection she needed.

The girl got off the train at Columbus circle, and so did her gallant protector. The two walked north along Broadway, but had gone but a short distance before the young man admitted the pin she was wearing. He had previously told her that he had a great many pins like that himself at home, as he was a moving picture actor, and the son of a great hotel owner. Their friendship grew so fast after that that when he asked to try the pin in his tie the girl consented.

Asked for Pin Back.

They walked along the Central Park wall in Central Park West and turned into Seventy-second street to go to Broadway again. As they were past the Majestic Hotel Miss Pick asked her companion for the pin, and he said she would get it if she would have supper with him. She declined, with dignity, and according to her story to the police, he told her that he had already returned the pin. He tried to leave her then, the girl said, but she followed him down Broadway, and at Sixty-sixth street she found Patrolman Schnable and told him what had happened.

Dropped It in Street.

The young man, who first gave her the pin, was Harry Stone, of 346 West Sixty-eighth street, and then later said he was Wallace McCaughy, denied that he had the pin, but admitted that he might have dropped it. He was taken to the West Sixty-eighth street police station, where he told the Lieutenant that he "might have dropped" it at Broadway and Sixty-sixth street. Patrolman Schnable went to look, and found the pin rolled up in the tinfoil wrapper of a package of cigarettes, lying in the gutter, where any one could have picked it up or where the street cleaners might have found it.

The young man was booked under both his names and charged with grand larceny. The police held the pin as evidence and sent Miss Pick home to explain to her mother. The girl said that she had taken the pin without permission, and that she expected several highly interesting things to happen when she got home.

Closing Exercises Greatly Enjoyed

Witanstede School Programme Commenced Yesterday in Y. W. C. A.

The Witanstede School closing commenced in the Y. M. C. A. Recreation Centre yesterday morning and included a memory poem contest and review in the English senior department.

In the memory contest, in which the pupils repeated ten poems each learned during the year, the girls taking part were: Frances Foster, Shana O'Leary, Mary Grant, Ruth Anna O'Leary, Constance Watson, June Currey, Leonora Belyea. Their ages ranged from seven to sixteen.

The judges, Mrs. Silas Alward and Miss Agnes Warner, had in making their decisions, to take into consideration the quality of the selections and an appreciation of the art of the elocutionist at its best. The beauty of many of the selections and the patriotic tone of the majority spoke of a careful study of these two essentials to good citizenship.

This exercise was followed by a review of the year which took the form of a quiz. The following were members of the senior class in English literature: Introductory, Leonora Belyea; My Favorite Ballad, June Currey; The Ancient Mariner, Constance Watson; The Drama, Marian Curry; Everyman, Ruth Avery; An Elizabethan Theatre, Marian Curry; The Three Castles, Constance Watson; Abraham Lincoln, June Currey; Leonora Belyea's reasons for choosing The Three Fishers for her favorite story, Constance Watson's exposition of The Ancient Mariner and the papers by June and Marian Curry, dealing with The Drama, and John Drinkwater's famous play, "Abraham Lincoln," showed close study and an evident understanding of the work chosen in English literature for this term. The prize in the contest will be announced and awarded on the final day.

Japanese Women Are Charming

Most Popular Singer on Operatic Stage Today is from Sunny Japan.

Japan is a wonderful nation in a very great many ways. It has accomplished marvels, it has leaped forward at almost a single bound into a front place among the world powers, but we are convinced that the greatest thing about Japan is its women.

All women are, of course, charming, but our observation is that the women of Japan are especially and particularly so.

To begin with the majority of them are very pretty, and all of them have a certain grace that can come only from centuries of gentleness and good breeding. They have soft voices.

Are Very Adaptable.
It is often commented that the men of Japan have adapted themselves to western ways with an incredible ease. But they have not equalled their women in the performance of this difficult feat for an Oriental race to adapt itself to Occidental customs and habits.

In many social functions as well as in public, numerous Japanese women have been seen here in California, says the Los Angeles Times. The grace of their bearing and the charm of their manners have deeply impressed all with whom they have come in contact. Japan is a nation that had no music, yet the most popular singer on the operatic stage today is a Japanese woman. And this is only an instance of their conquests.

We do not think there is any reason to worry about what Japan will or will not do in the world. Any nation that can produce such women as that nation produces will not only succeed, but will endure.

Jack Dempsey Harbored At Training Agate

Boxed Four Rounds With Light and Featherweights Wore Headgear.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 16.—At a lay-off of four days, Jack Dempsey resumed his full training program today and boxed for the first time since he had his left eye ripped open a week ago last Sunday. The champion tolled for forty minutes under blazing sun, and on the hot canvas of his outdoor arena under such conditions as may prevail when he faces Georges Carpentier in Jersey City July 2.

After thrashing at the palmy three rounds and shadow boxing three, Dempsey boxed four rounds two each with Irish Paddy Chien Philadelphia, lightweight, and Herman, the California featherweight. Dempsey, who usually boxes with his head unprotected, appeared in his headgear and a thick padding under it to protect the head wound over his eye. (Time for the champion for the first two rounds was badly shaken up a couple of times with left hooks.)

Herman, who was used for forced the champion to display dash and speed of a much lighter man.

"STAGE EFFECTS" WORKED WELL IN YAMASKA FIGHT

Cripples Posed as Unreliable "Victims" of the Great Struggle.

WOMEN SOLIDLY AGAINST MONDOU

Stamped by Cries of Another War and Sacrifice Their Sons.

Stories coming out of the Yama-bu-election, now that the smoke cleared away and it is possible to more definite information as to the exact methods used, show that the usual tactics were employed against Mr. A. A. Mondou, the conservative candidate, in the campaign of "scare" issues which was waged against him.

Cripples Introduced.

Definite information shows that five or six cripples were used "stage" effects. They were gathered from various parts of the province and their parts in the war that the militia room to committee room of Liberal party and exhibit themselves as "victims" of the great war. Their speeches were much the same, namely, that they had joined the Canadian army, gone overseas, been wounded and crippled, and returned to Canada, where an ungrateful Government did little for them. However, they did not care for so much as they feared for their younger brothers, and the speech made by these cripples was ended up with pleas to vote against Mondou so as to save their young brothers and all their friends from being sent to war. The war that was coming against Japan. Japan seemed to be the favorite country which to wave the scare flag before the voters. Two members of Parliament, who were very active, were caused during the course of the campaign of having used this cry, both unreasonably and dishonestly, members of Parliament, their words were accepted.

The Women's Vote.

The cry of another war, in which they would immediately be conscription, played the great part in the women electorate, as a can study of the results just now completed indicates in going over the ballot papers to make sure of accuracy in the totals of the one outstanding fact was noticed, and that was that it was possible to tell which ballots had been made by women. The women marked crosses very neatly, as those who for the first time usually do, being carefully instructed as to how to vote on sample ballot papers. Other crosses were made in the many ways, as by voters to whom shown by the fact that in certain places there was a certain number of women voters who went to the polls and a certain number of male voters, and the number of the crosses correspond with the number of men voters.

The main point is that fully 90 per cent. of the newly made crosses for Almo Boucher, the successful Liberal candidate, indicating clearly that the cry against militarism and conscription had captivated the women's vote almost solidly. It had not been expected, for in the country the men hold sway in political matters, the women running most everything else. It is remembered, too, that Mr. Mondou, 2,600 votes, or 800 more than he when he defeated the late C. G. Glavin in 1911.—Montreal Gazette.
