This land 'logically' the city's

Mississauga planning committee still thinks it would be a good idea to take over some Oakville lands which are isolated because of the provincial parkway belt - and it seems to have at least one Oakville politician agreeing with them.

At planning committee last week, Ward 2 Councillor Mary Helen Spence once again suggested that lands south of the QEW, between Ford Drive and Winston Churchill Boulevard, should "logically" belong to Mississauga. The area is to be developed for the Clearview community.

It will be separated from the remainder of Oakville by the parkway belt, which is designed to provide an 'urban separator' between municipalities.

Spence hoped that Oakville would "not get too upset and emotional' about the boundary proposal, as it did when the idea was first suggested by the former Ward 6 councillor, David Culham, in council's last term of office. At that time, Mississauga was accused of "land-grabbing" by Oakville politicians.

Spence noted that Oakville's Ward 4 councillor, Laurie Mannell, stated in a letter to Oakville's planning committee that "perhaps we should allow the area east of the parkway belt to be annexed to Mississauga or alternatively, contract to buy services from them."

He also suggested that "since the area is far removed from Oakville services and is adjacent to Mississauga, would it not make sense to see if water, sewers, recreation facilities, schools and any other service could be supplied by them at less cost and more efficiently?'

Mississauga has said all along that it has concerns about Clearview because of the additional strain it will put on its services, especially roads.

Ward 7 councillor Terry Butt felt there was some merit in asking Ontario, as staff recommends, to reconsider the city boundaries to coincide with the parkway belt. wondered if the city should get involved in another dispute with Oakville about prime industrial land.

On the north side of the QEW, some prime industrial lands owned by Xerox, among others, are located on the east side of the parkway and would become part of Mississauga if the city's proposal were approved by Ontario.

Malton Councillor Frank McKechnie also wants the northern boundary of Mississauga adjusted to follow the parkway.

Planning committee repeated its request, unheeded to date, to Ontario to adjust the city boundaries to meet the parkway belt. They also asked planning staff to make further report on the advantages of the boundary changes.
