TRADE NOTE.

THE AMERICAN-ABELL ENGINE AND THRESHER CO., under their catching and appropriate motto, "The Cock o' the North," and after the successful season enjoyed by them last year, are pushing their well-known goods ahead this season with that energy which, with the first-class engines and separators they have on the market, is certain to command an extensive sale over a large area. The company will have on exhibition at the Winnipeg and Brandon fairs one of the finest displays of artistically-finished and substantially-built threshing machinery ever placed before an admiring public. The American-Abell engine is already to be seen throughout the length and breadth of Northwest Canada, for wherever there is grain to thresh, the "Cock o' the North" crows in proud possession over the fields. It is needless to say that the American-Abell machines do good work, for that is a fact which will not be disputed anywhere, and where the company's out-are best known the fact is more accentuated. During eight years, when medals were being offered for threshing machinery at Canadian shows, the American-Abell engines won thirteen medals, and they only ceased winning when the exhibition boards ceased offering. Many such trophies are kept on view in the showcase of the company's private office, but the greatest asset on which they pride themselves is the widespread goodwill of the farmers and the confidence and friendship of the threshermen. These relations are kept up no less by the straight, honorable and considerate business dealings of the company than by the absolutely perfect working of their machines. There is perhaps nothing that we may call entirely new in the way of inventions added to the machines this season, but there are many improvements announced, for it is a characteristic of the American-Abell Company to strengthen every part which might show a disability to stand the strain of action with the uniformity which makes perfect reciprocity. In addition to the "Cock o' the North" threshing outfits, the American-Abell Company supply from their Winnipeg warehouse the manufactures of the Advance Thresher Company and the Minneapolis Threshing Machine Company. Minneapolis, both well known as makers of the highest grade and perfect-running machines. Threshermen and farmers should make it a point to visit these exhibits at the fairs and obtain the attractive and highly-instructive works of literature and art these companies publish as catalogues.
