There is always a position and a good salary for the man who knows.

No Gas—No Smoke—No Dust in the "HECLA" FURNACE.

As the mercury in a thermometer expands with heat and contracts with cold, so does every other metal expand and contract but in different proportions. Steel and iron in a furnace expand and contract, but in different degrees. When the metals are joined by bolts and cement, the expansion and contractions gradually loosens the bolts and allows the cement to drop out, and the openings left allow the dust and gas to escape to the rooms above.

In the HECLA, there are no bolts—no cement. The joints are made by fusing the steel and iron together at white heat—just as a blacksmith welds together the pieces of a horseshoe.

The HECLA FUSED JOINTS are indestructible—as tight after ten years use, as before the first was started.

Send us a rough plan of your house and we will give you an estimate of the cost of installing a HECLA FURNACE. No charge for this.
