Shooting Seasons.

Some of the so called sportsmen have a poor recollection from year to year as to commencement and close of hunting and fishing seasons. They should cut this out and paste it in their hats. Open season for grouse and partridge from October 15th to November 15th, inclusive. Hare including cotton tail rabbits from October 1st to December 15th, inclusive. Ducks of all kinds, or any other water fowl, and snipe, rail, plovers or any other birds known as shore birds or waders, from September 15th to December 15th, inclusive. Woodcock from October 1st to November 15th, inclusive. Deer from 1st to 15th, November, inclusive. Black and grey squirrels from November 15th to December 1st, inclusive.

Hat Shot off

To have his hat blown off by a charge of shot without suffering any injury was the sufficiently startling experience of a man in the Queen's hotel Listowel last Tuesday night. Alby Daum had entered an adjacent room with a gun under his arm. He was out shooting that afternoon, and thought that he had ejected all the shells. He was mistaken however, and in some way the gun was discharged, the charge passing through the wooden wall between the rooms, and creating the havoc before described, after which it crashed through the window fronting on Wallace street. Needless to say, the nimrod was for once glad that he had not bagged his game.

Liquor Store Robbed.

The second robbery that has taken place in Walkerton liquor store since Mr Egan took charge was pulled off one night last week, when someone with an appetite for booze entered through a window at the rear of the store and appropriated twenty-five bottles of the choicest brands of whiskey, brandy and gin. The thief then unbolted the back door and made his exit with the goods, leaving the raised window and the open door policy to confront Mr. Egan when he arose in the morning. Trusting to strategy, the proprietor didn't squeal immediately to the police, but laid low like Uncle Remus's rabbit and said nothing. He tactfully decided to follow the advertisement and let the stolen goods like the Gold Dust twins do their work. By this course it was hoped that someone might get a skate on and reveal, but the only voter under suspect that did get wobbly on his pins didn't leak anything like a clue. After exhausting his patience to no purpose the liquor dealer finally let the secret out to the police, but it was then too late in the day for any effective work being done, and the thief is still at large with the chances of capture daily diminishing.—Bruce Times.

Steer Causes Damage.

Al blind steer made a bad mess of the front window in Mr. D. Bell's shoeshop on Saturday morning. The animal was being driven along the street by a boy, and just at this point swerved to the east and before it could be diverted from its erroneous way, had put its head and shoulders through the window. The animal then backed out and for a moment seemed likely to go at the plate glass fronts on the opposite side of the street. The driver managed to get him properly directed before any further damage was done. The beast had put its head against the sash of Bell's window and pushed in a section four feet wide by eight feet high, containing six large panes of glass. Jas. Coulter owned the beef, and the cost of the bovine glass-cutting experiment falls upon him.—Paisley Advocate.

THIN HAIR A LIBERAL OFFER.

When the hair thins out on the top of the head and the bald spot is getting ready to appear in public, don't get discouraged or irritable. Just go to your Druggist and ask for Parisian Sage Hair Tonic. He will charge you 50c. for a large bottle but if it does not cause hair to grow where the hair is thinning out nothing on the earth will. And we want to say to everybody, man woman and child, that you can have your money back if Parisian Sage isn't the best hair grower, hair saver, hair beautifier and dandruff cure on the market to-day. It stops itching scalp and falling hair and makes hair grow thick and abundantly. All druggists everywhere sell Parisian Sage or postpaid from The Groux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont. See that the girl with Auburn hair is on every bottle. Sold and guaranteed by John Coates.

Speculators Make the Profits.

Does it seem to you that it is a good thing for Canada that speculators can make such enormous profits while industries are being numbered daily with the dead? For the past six years the Northwestern lands have been returning 80 per cent, per year to their owners even though not a bushel of wheat was harvested from them. The Boston News Bureau calls this "unearned increment," a term which is becoming better known than it used to be. It means increased values which were not in any sense due to the efforts or activities of the owner who repeats them. All these six years, trains have been puffing, factory wheels turning and men and women have been putting forth effort in office and mill to create articles, to add wealth to the world, to do things. How many of these industries think you made 80 per cent. per annum? Go through the stock exchange list, from the smallest company to the Dominion Steel Corporation itself and you cannot find an industry which is earning over 10 per cent. or 15 per cent. on its capitalization. Of course, this capitalization is frequently water; but allowing for all that, few of them could have a return of 80 per cent. The banker, the grocer and the merchant put forth productive effort for it and they get a return of what? Say 20 per cent., 25 per cent., or even 50 per cent., if they are fortunate. Often they get into the bankruptcy court. Yet here is an opportunity whereby, without lifting a finger, without making a blade of grass to grow, but rather by preventing it from growing without adding an ounce of wealth to the world, but all the time consuming it, a man may put 80 per cent. per annum into his pocket. Remember that that 80 per cent. represents wealth. Now, it is in the very nature of wealth that it cannot come into existence of itself, as it were by magic. It has all to be produced by someone working intelligently some where. And because our system permitted the speculator to appropriate it, the man who produced it had to go without it. So the producer went into the bankruptcy court and the non-producer wore diamonds. This is the problem of the age—and it is easier to prescribe the cure than persuade the patient. How shall we so adjust matters that idleness will not pay and industry shall have its reward? All other problems sink into insignificance by comparison. Yet while the industries and the very life of the country are laboring under the handicap, there are those so lacking in constructiveness that to any effort to remove it they cry "hands off." Assuredly it is an achroism that in view of the general recognition of the importance of industry, it is still possible for the idler and loafer to step up to the cashier and walk away with 400 per cent. as much wealth every year as the men who produce it. Worse than that, I can tell you of dead men—dead, buried and in heaven, mind you—who went on raking in the wealth hand over fist while live men on earth worked all day in office and factory and wondered where they would get the wealth to get the winter's coal. If you don't see anything funny in that your Maker forgot to equip you.—Saturday Night.

The Wise Investor.

I often buy gold bricks by mail; in fact, I'm always sending kale to fakers here and fakers there, and rainbow dealers everywhere. I've blown myself for bogus ore, and orange groves on Greenland's shore, and meerschum mines and moonlight plants, ginseng and rubber elephants. The fakers get me in their snares, and sell me wind and Belgian hares. But when my fellow-townsmen talk, and ask me to invest in stock to help some local enterprise, I am conservative and wise. "Nay, nay" I cry "your boosting schemes are merely wild and woolly dreams. I cannot spend my hard earned dough to help to make this village grow. Your schemes would yield but six per cent., which fills my soul with discontent. I want to see my wealth increase hand over hand and never cease, so I'll buy over in Hudson's Bay, and mines a million miles away, and wireless stock and pickled snakes and gravel pits and other fakes." I think my view is safe and sane, yet people say I give them pain, and now and then a vagrant egg breaks on my bosom or my leg, and now and then a long dead cat comes up and hits me on the hat.—Walt. Mason.

Slim Chances for Her.

A missionary who was making his way through a backwoods region came upon an old woman sitting outside a cabin. He entered upon a religious talk, and finally asked her if she didn't know there was a day of judgment coming. "Why no," said the old lady. "I hadn't heard o' that. Won't ther be more'n one day?" "No my friend; only one day," was the reply. "Well then," she mused. "I don't reckon I can get to go, for we're only got one mule, and John always has to go everywhere first.

Mischief Makers.

Oh, could there in this world be found
Some little spot of happy ground,
Where village pleasure might go round,
Without the village tattling;
How doubly blest that place would be,
Where all might dwell in liberty,
Free from the bitter misery
Of gossip's endless prattling.
If such a spot were really known,
Dame Peace might claim it as her own
And in it she might fix her throne,
For ever and forever;
There, like a queen, might reign and live
While everyone would soon forgive
The little slights they might receive
And be offended never.
'Tis mischief makers that remove Far from our hearts the warmth of love,
And lead us all to disapprove
What gives another pleasure;
They seem to take one's part—but when
They've heard our cares, unkindly then
They soon retail them all again,
Mixed with their poisonous measure.
And then they've such a cunning way
Of telling ill-meant tales, they say:
"Don't mention what I've said, I pray,
I would not tell another."
Straight to your neighbor's house they go
Narrating everything they know,
And break the peace of high and low,
Wife, husband, friend and brother.
Oh, that the mischief making crew
Were all reduced to one or two,
And they were painted red or blue
That everyone might know them;
Then would our villagers forget
To rage and quarrel, fume and fret,
Or fall into an angry fit,
With things so much below them.
For 'tis a sad, degrading part
To make another's bosom smart,
And plant a dagger in the heart
We ought to love and cherish;
Then let us evermore be found
In quietness with all around,
While friendship, joy and peace abound,
And angry feelings perish.

Protecting The Horse.

Over five thousand blacksmiths doing business in the province of Ontario have organized and will apply at the next session of the Legislature for incorporation as an association. They will ask power to compel all blacksmiths who shoe horses, to pass an examination and in doing this, they are taking one of the most important steps towards efficiency and the prevention of cruelty to animals. It is a well-known fact that in different parts of the province there are many men running "smithies" who know little more about the proper shoeing of a horse than the average citizen. The poor beast that has to bear the burden of traffic throughout the entire day should be well fitted for doing so, and in order to bring about this desirable condition, its feet should be thoroughly protected. The passing of an examination by blacksmiths, will serve not only to raise the status of their trade, but it will also be favorably looked upon by both horses and their owners. The wonder is that the idea has not been put into execution before.

Boosters Ten Comandments.

- 1—Thou shalt not go away from home to do thy shopping, nor thy wife, nor thy sous, nor thy daughters.
- 2—Thou shalt patronize thine own merchants, that they shall not be driven from their home to find food for their children.
- 3—Thou shalt patronize thine own miller and baker, also the printer, and they shall patronize thee.
- 4—Thou shalt pay thy bills promptly that thy credit may be good in the land wherein thou dwellest, and thy neighbors greet thee gladly, then deposit thy surplus in the home banks.
- 5—Thou shalt not knock the props from under thine own town in order to be revenged upon thine enemy, lest thou perish with him.
- 6—Thou shalt not incline thine ear to the voice of the travelling fakir, nor to the department store catalogue, lest thou be deceived thereby and part with thy shekels without gain.
- 7—Thou shalt spend thine earnings at home, that they may return whence they came, and give nourishment to such as come after thee.
- 8—Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy town wherein thou dwellest, but speak well of it in the ears of all men, so that it may be as a city builded upon a hill, and not be hid.
- 9—Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's seed wheat nor his meat, hog, nor his corn, nor his spring chickens nor his cow which is in his crib, but whatsoever thou desirest thou shalt pay the price in the coin of the realm and not endeavor to stand him off for sixty days and then dispute the bill.
- 10—Thou shalt keep these comandments and teach them to thy children unto the third and fourth generation, that they may be made to flourish and wax rich while thou art laid to rest with thy fathers.

Cobwebs in the Morning.

Cobwebs in the head on rising in the morning is the result of a Lazy Liver, one or two mornings in succession and sick headache follows.

Father Morrissey's Liver Pills will clear the Brain.

These Pills are a purely vegetable compound prepared with great care, and are without doubt the very best pills for general use, on the market. The greatest care has been given to selecting the ingredients, and being entirely vegetable, they act upon the liver and bowels in such a manner as not to disturb the other functions of the body as many pills do.

As a Liver Invigorator, Blood Purifier and General System Renovator, they are unequalled. Sick headache is invariably brought on by a sluggish liver, constipation or irregular bowels; these pills are a cure for sick headache in any form.

Pimples, eruptions and yellow skin are often caused by a lazy liver; one pill three times a week, will soon clear the complexion.—Price 25c. per box.
