

Mrs. Robert Logan Passes Away

Monday afternoon, Mary Vance, beloved wife of Mr. Robert Logan, departed this life. She was the victim of a long period of illness and suffered much but all with patience and with Christian courage. Mrs. Logan was a splendid Christian woman; she was ever helpful of her home, devoted to her church and gave much time to her activities in the Missionary Society, the Sunday School, in the prayer class services. Here was the loving, responsive heart and the helping hand; she said little and did much. As a neighbor and friend she was greatly beloved.

Deceased had just entered upon her sixty-seventh year. Cause of death was anaemia. She is survived by her husband, Mr. Robert Logan; four sons: James of Peterboro, Albert E. of town, John of Norwood, and Pte. Richard of Toronto; and two daughters, Mary and Lillie, both at home. She is also survived by our brothers: John Vance, of town; Jas. Vance, Thomasburg; William Vance, Spanish River; and Samuel, of Roslin; and two sisters, Misses Ellen and Elizabeth Vance, of town.

The remains were borne to their temporary resting place in St. James cemetery vault by the four sons assisted by two nephews, John Logan and Harvey Vance.

Address And Presentation

On Saturday evening last the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moon, in the 2nd Concession of Sidney, was invaded by a party of their friends and neighbors, it being the eve of the marriage of their elder daughter. The following address was read and presented to the young lady by Mrs. A. M. Lawrence:

Sidney, Feb. 23rd, 1918.

Dear Friend, We, as representatives of your friends and neighbors, knowing that you are about to enter the matrimonial state, take advantage of this opportunity to express our appreciation of your services in the choir at Aiken's church and as soloist on many other occasions both at home and abroad, and we would now wish to express our appreciation of your valuable services in connection with all such work, in a manner that you may have something by which you may be reminded later in life that we have thoroughly appreciated your efforts. We are glad you are not leaving this community entirely and hope that we may in the future still enjoy many pleasant occasions together.

We now ask you to kindly accept this Library Table, Easy Chair, Jardiniere Stand and Jardiniere, as a slight token of our esteem and also good will for your future happiness and hoping that you may live long to enjoy all possible comforts these gifts may afford.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors,

Mrs. A. M. Lawrence

Mrs. J. W. Bailey

Mrs. Frank Spafford

After the presentation the prospective bride and also the groom, who was present, made very suitable replies, thanking all for the kindly sentiments expressed and also for the very handsome and useful presents. The evening was spent in speeches, recitations, comic songs and instrumental music. The pleasant event was brought to a close by giving three cheers for the bride and groom after which all joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne", followed by the National Anthem.

Only A Letter

You are tired and weary, and you feel you can't be cheery. And from your dirty trench you cannot roam. There's a sight to cheer your heart, make all care and pain depart. A letter from the dear ones left at home.

May be from your brother, or your dear old, grey-haired Mother, Or a sweetheart true, who sends a welcome line.

But it sets your heart at ease, when that message o'er the seas, Just tells you all the folks at home are fine.

There is the other side to tell, and it does not sound so well, It seems to give the heart a little wrench.

When the mail's all given out, and you find without a doubt, You are the only one forgotten in the trench.

In your throat a lump will rise, the tears start from your eyes, You wonder why on earth they do not write.

And it makes you sick and grim, and it's pity help the Hun, Who meets you in the next bayonet fight.

The smiling faces meet you, and the hearty laughter greets you, When all discuss the news of their home town.

How it makes a man feel small, if he's cared for not at all, And no one cares a hang if he goes down.

Show him you really care, and when you've time to spare, Just drop a line to him who bears the brunt.

It's not a great deal to ask, and will ease his heavy task, There's someone waits your letter at the front.

Pte. William Smith.

DATES

Dates have not advanced as much in price as other foods and we can well take advantage of this in these days of high prices.

The fleshy part of the date contains sugar in a large degree and a little protein. Its food value, expressed in scientific terms is fifteen hundred and seventy-five calories to the pound. Beef is one of the greatest of muscle-producing foods and is rated at eleven hundred and sixty-five calories to the pound. This shows what dates mean to the diet when served a few times a week, in one form or another. It is healthful as well as palatable frequently to substitute dates for other sweets.

The housewife who buys a package of a recognized brand of high grade knows that she has a food product which will furnish energy.

COCOA IS FOOD AND DRINK

Cocoa, when combined with milk, is an ideal food for the growing developing child since it possesses all the essential food elements, protein, carbohydrate and butter fats, in the proper proportions to serve all the needs of the growing body.

Cocoa is one of the best balanced foods and at the same time one of the most economical. The use of cocoa is a good way to get children to drink milk when it is difficult to get them to drink as much as they should in other forms. It should be used every day by the children and is excellent for the older members of the family in the middle or at the close of the day's work to add tone and renewed energy to the tired workers.

Two and a half tablespoons of cocoa, or a one hundred calorie portion is equal in food value to approximately two servings of asparagus or two large slices of toasted baker's bread or one large or two small eggs, or one-half glass of whole milk or one-half of a small porterhouse steak.

Steamed Cocoa Pudding.—½ cupful sugar, 1 tablespoonful fat, 1 egg, ½ cupful of milk, 3 teaspoonfuls baking powder, 6 tablespoonfuls of cocoa, 1½ cupfuls flour, ¼ cupful boiling water. Cream the butter and sugar, add the beaten egg, the milk then the flour and baking powder mixed together. Make a smooth paste of the cocoa and boiling water and add to the flour mixture. Steam one hour in a well greased covered mold or half an hour in individual molds. Serve with hard sauce or any plain pudding sauce.

Cocoa Apple-Sauce Cake.—1 cupful sugar, ½ cup sour cream, 1 cup hot, sour, apple sauce, 1½ teaspoonfuls soda, 1 tablespoonful cocoa, 1 teaspoonful cinnamon, 1½ teaspoonfuls cloves, 2 cups raisins. Sift together the flour, spices and soda. Add the cocoa to the hot apple sauce and stir until well blended, then add the sugar and the sour cream. Gradually beat the flour mixture into the wet mixture. Put into a well-greased loaf-pake pan and bake for forty-five minutes in a moderate oven. If desired, frost with plain white frosting.

Breakfast Cocoa.—For each cupful use 1 teaspoonful cocoa, 1 teaspoonful sugar, 1 cupful liquid (half water, half milk or all milk), few grains salt. Mix the sugar salt and cocoa. Slowly add the boiling liquid stir until the mixture is well blended then boil two or three minutes. The boiling brings out the flavor and renders the starch in the cocoa more nutritious and digestible. The use of all milk makes a richer beverage of high food value.

Cocoa for Parties.—Make the same as breakfast cocoa and serve with a spoonful of whipped cream on the top of each cup or for variety use one marshmallow in each cup and pour the hot cocoa over it.

Cocoa Muffins.—½ cup sugar, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoonfuls melted fat, 3 tablespoonfuls cocoa, ½ cup boiling water, 1½ teaspoonfuls baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups flour. Dissolve the cocoa in the boiling water. Mix the baking powder, salt and flour. Separate the eggs, beat the yolks slightly. Cream the butter and sugar, add beaten yolks, the dissolved cocoa, then the flour mixture and lastly fold in the whites.
