CLUE TO LEON LING.

May Have Left Philadelphia on Board German Vessel.

Police Wire to Mediterranean and Indian Ocean Points.

Think He May Have Shipped as a Chinese Cook.

New York, July 6 .- In the hope of capturing Leon Ling, the accused slayer o Elsie Sigel, the police have just cabled several cities on the Mediterranean coast and to points through the Suez Canal and Indian Ocean to hold up the German steamship Helen Rickners and search it for the fugitive. Information almost conclusive, the police say, that Ling shipped from Philadelphia between June 10 and 12. The murder was tion has just come to the police that the ship on which the Chinese took passage was bound for the Orient. In looking up committed on June 9. Further informa-Helen Rickners left Philadelphia on June bound for Itosaki, Japan, and that before sailing her commander, Captain Octting, had shipped several Chinese as part of the crew. Among these Chinese, who were engaged only a short time before sailing, was one well-dressed man who spoke good English and who professed to be an efficient cook. Leon Ling ore good clothes, spoke English fluent wore good clothes, spoke English fluentity, and was a master cook.

The Helen Rickners was the only vessel which left Philadelphia at about that time for the Orient. The vessel is now believed to be either approaching or just out of the Suez Canal. It was last reported at Tarifa, a scaport town of Spain, fifteen miles southwest from Gibraltar, on June 26.

Central office detectives would not discuss how the information came to them, but advices from Philadelphia say that the agents for the steamship observed the report of Captain Oetting concerning the listing of a Chinese cook, and they compared their list with the description of Leon Ling and notified the authorities.

Capt. Carey, of the Homicide Bureau, was surprised when he heard that this information had leaked out, and he said that he regarded it as the best clue he had yet had as to the escape of the much wanted man. As soon as the police learned that the Helen Rickners was bound for Japan and that it had shipped a Chinese cook, they cabled every port between Tarifa, Spain, and Itosaki, Japan, at which the German steamship might report.

THE MERCANTILE TRUST COM-PANY OF CANADA, LIMITED.

The Directors of this Company yesterday declared a dividend of 2 per cent. for the half year ending June 30. The Company only commenced business a year ago, and at the end of the first six months had earned sufficient to meet all expenses, including the expenses of incorporation and organization. The earnings for the past six months have been of a most satisfactory character, and while the earnings would have justified a larger dividend it was considered advisable to make the first dividend 2 per cent, for the half year.

The Company is making not only steady but rapid progress, and the shareholders, directors and general manager are to be congratulated on the fine position which the Company has attained in such a short period. The Directors of this Company yes

Some of the aldermen are rather sur Some of the aldermen are rather surprised at the laxity displayed by the different inter-urban lines, controlled by the Dominion Power & Transmission Company, at the time they secured their franchises. Even the Radial, it is said, has only rights to carry package freight into the city. The freight rights, which it is thought the company will require, in fact, which they need now, to avoid getting into trouble over hauling freight through the city, appear to have been entirely neglected. The Mayor is having the city solicitor look up the by-laws.

If it was not for the lawyers' and experts' fees this year the aldermen would have no need to worry over an overdraft. The Mayor is determined in any event that there should be no overdraft. The council, he thinks, by saving from $25,000 to $35,000 each year for five years could soon place the city in good shape financially.

A RUNAWAY.

The Domestic Laundry horse ran away yesterday on Hughson street and created quite a stir. The animal was left standing and became frightened, running down Hughson street. Some of the harness became loose, and the shafts were allowed to drop to the ground. In trying to turn the corner of Gore street the wagon first tilted on the two side wheels and then fell on the side, breaking the glass in the side and scattering the laundry all over the road. The horse broke loose, but was caught before it could get away again.

CLEVER TRICK

By Which Former Traveller Fooled a Number of Firms.

Two weeks ago a Montreal wholesale house discharged one of its travelling salesmen, who was well known in sever salesmen, who was well known in sever-al of the cities in eastern Ontario. The salesman went to Toronto after his dis-charge and visiting one of the large firms there he took an order from them and then cashed one of the former firm's cheques. The firm of course were not aware of his discharge and honored the cheque. The salesman represented the tried aware of his discharge and nonoreu che cheque. The salesman repeated the trick on several of his former customers. His next stunt was to hold up a hotel pro-prietor in the same manner and then next stunt was to hold up a hotel proprietor in the same manner and then skip out without paying his board bill. He also visited this city and London, but whether any of the local people fell victims is not known. No complaints have been made at the local detective department. The fact that he had proper bank cheque forms and a rubber stamp facilitated matters considerably, there being only the name of the firm to be forged. The amounts of the cheques varied from $25 to $100.

THE THRILLS OF LION HUNTING. EXERCISE

THE THRILLS OF LION HUNTING.

EXERCISE!

In the last three months two men have lost arms, and almost their lives, riding lions. In both cases the same mistake was made. They pressed the beast-too closely. No horse can turn or stop as can a cat. I have seen a cheetah I was riding—an animal very much faster than any ison—actually stop in its very stride. It was as though its claws were glued to the earth. It did not seem possible that such a sudden halt could be made by anything that ran. Nor can any other beast show the desperate speed of a cat for a few yards' distance. Mr. Percivale, the game warden of the Protectorate, who has probably ridden more hons than any other man in the country, tells me that he, though well mounted, was once almost pulled down by a lion that he had ridden into cover. He, too, on that occasion came too close, the lion for some reason or other dispensed with all the usual preliminaries and rushed at him. He turned his horse as quickly as he could and rode for his life. He had quite fifty yards' start, and yet he believes that had he not fired his heavy revolver into the face of the lion when it was almost on his horse's hind quarters, both he and the horse would have been pulled down. Mr. Percivale was alone. There was no other horse or hunter near to divide the lion's attention. This, perhaps, may account for its very unusually rapid and deadly attack.

Hoey was attacked by three lionesses, near the Rock. The only provocation he had killed. The three saw him from a distance of quite two hundred yards, and pressed him hard for a quarter of a mile. He was riding back to his camp, unarmed, having left his rille with his gunbearer, who was skinning the lion he had killed. The three saw him from a distance of optic two hundred yards, and pressed him hard for a quarter of a mile. He was riding the same fast mule that I rode, and so outran them.

There are one or two things that any man riding lions would do well to remember.

First, it is not well to follow a lion or lions into cover if you are on horseback, not even into thin cover. Once you have chased a lion, it is very different from the beast that rapidly slinks away from the beast that rapidly slinks away from you, when you are hunting on foot. In this last case it instinctively knows it can get away if it cures to. In the former it finds you have its pace, and, resenting that, will attack with determination. The second lion Hoey and I rode had every chance to walk into the impeentrable stronghold of the river grass if it had wanted to. The grass grew thickly not twenty yards from where the lion was first hit. But it did not want to do anything of the sort, and, angered by the long, hard chase, cast all idea of further retreat behind and eame boldly away from the covert Secondly, the man who does the shooting must dismount without delay or besitetics.
