

THE PROTESTANT, AND EVANGELICAL WITNESS.

The United States Marshal at Baltimore seized yesterday, a large amount of contraband material.

The Union Government of Tennessee recommends resistance, if 70,000 votes are given against Bowles; but if a less number are given, then submission.

Bowles' speech comes up to the death against the North.

Opposition to an Amended Constitution to Col. Hayne.

Boston, June 8.—Major General Fremont writes from Europe, that the Rebel Commissioners have passed two slaves in England, which will soon fall from them under the British flag.

On the conclusion of the negotiations of diplomatic agents that have been running now, it has been determined that Mr. Harvey, the Vice-Chancellor of the Court of Appeals, will be sent to America to settle the property of Charleston, that a few had been sent to raise the Port Sumter. He will be recalled.

The Southern administration, evidently many other presents now.

Three more slaves arrived at Fort Monroe yesterday.

It is stated, and believed, that the institution of Slavery is drawing to a close in Virginia.

Numerous instances of rebels and negroes have been made, it is said.

The LAND COMMISSION.—We learn from the Colonial Gazette, that the Commissioners on the Land Question of this Island were to meet at St. John, N. B., on Wednesday last, the 12th instant, "with the view of finishing up their report, and judgment upon the several names submitted to their decision." Rooms at a Railway Station, three miles from St. John, where the Colonial Gazette says they will probably remain until their labors are over.

Col. Fremont has promised to give 10,000 Red Rifles and several batteries of field artillery for the Federal Government. He writes home that the Rebels have abandoned themselves in England for 100,000.

Western Virginia still stands for the Union, and is said will dominate the eastern portion of the State in rebellion. A number of Gen. Butler's staff from Fort Monroe were here to help him to do so.

Authentic advice from France states that Napoleon declares himself emphatically the friend of the American Government.

Boston, June 11.—A large body of troops advanced from Fort Monroe last night, with the view of destroying a body of rebels who were forming an extended camp near Hampton. They were divided into two parties, and took different routes, all under General Price. They mimicked the protracted signals, and met into each other, killing 50 and wounding 100. After the rebels were discovered, they formed in one body to take up arms, and after a short struggle were captured. The Rebels lost 100 men, and 100 were wounded. The Federal troops lost 50 of their men, and 100 were wounded.

Gen. Grinnell of the regular U. S. Army, who commanded the Artillery, was killed.

General Price blamed; he lost his presence of mind.

LAW AND ORDER.—Boston, June 12.—According to the Advertiser here, a dangerous engagement at Great Bethel.

The Government troops, under the command of General Butler, took rebel battery yesterday at Great Bethel, capturing 1000 prisoners and 22 guns. Further particulars have not yet been received, but are awaited for anxiously.

General Scott is quite confident of success of Federal troops, and some are being recruited, he is determined to make his mark in his master's cause. The principal part of his plan is to be magnificently equipped with rebels.

Another battery of large size being constructed, intended for operations at Memphis, and other places.

CANADA.—The Colony of Quebec is being rapidly placed in an efficient state of defense. During last week 7000 recruits were landed at the Quebec Wharf, a number of fortifications were erected, and arsenals for supplying ships with military stores. No doubt also in process of construction. Among the most valuable works recently for this purpose were two stone long-shafts of docks, probably for gun carriages. Montreal Times.

Canada is in a bad condition. The Montreal Advertiser says—

"Canada is rapidly approaching ruin in her finances. Grievous taxes are being laid on the people that must be borne for many generations, and these not the result of fair or necessary or profitable expenditures, but of sheer fraud or robbery. We doubt very much if Mr. Secretary Floyd, of Buchanan's Government, did say anything more ridiculous in the way of rubbing the Treasury that has been done over and over again in Canada; and our people, especially the French Canadians, seem to love to have it so. Their vote goes always to the men who, however gross and to some extent any fraud or swindle however enormous. There was also a number of Upper Canadian members whose votes were generally reliable on the side of the rebels."

At this time that nation in Canada seems over now to have made a stand, not for her own sectional interests, for which a separating Administration will always be ready to do its best for public principles. Oh, that next election might prove that such a change has at last been implemented! Nothing can give Canada more ruin; and if ever we have an honest Administration, the Govt. of Quebec will force some of our speculators to disgorge their ill-gotten, and the Govt. of Queen's Park will send others of them to similar fate as awaited Sir John Dunn Paul. They will find it hard to exert this."

NOTE.—May 20.—A letter from the Prince of Wales, dated May 18, 1861, to the Duke of Cambridge, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 21.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 22.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 23.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 24.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 25.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 26.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 27.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 28.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 29.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 30.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 31.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 32.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 33.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 34.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 35.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 36.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 37.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 38.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 39.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 40.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 41.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 42.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 43.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 44.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 45.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 46.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 47.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 48.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 49.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 50.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 51.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 52.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 53.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 54.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 55.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 56.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 57.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 58.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 59.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 60.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 61.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 62.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 63.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 64.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 65.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 66.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 67.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 68.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 69.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 70.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 71.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 72.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 73.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 74.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 75.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 76.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 77.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 78.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 79.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 80.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 81.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 82.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."

NOTES.—May 83.—A letter from the Duke of Cambridge, dated May 18, 1861, to the Prince of Wales, states that the Prince of Wales, in his opinion, "will be able to do very little for us."