FULAS PUNISHED.

The British punitive expedition against the Fula tribes on the Senegal river, West Africa, who had stopped the river traffic and murdered a number of caennemen, has returned to Lagos, having destroyed eight towns after prolonged fighting. The natives lost heavily, the British had eight men wounded.

4000 LIVES LOST.

A despatch from Batavia, capital of the Netherlands Indies, Java, says that a violent earthquake has visited the south side of the island of Geron, next to the largest of the Moluccas, between Booroo and Papua, completely destroying the town of Ambel, and killing, it is estimated, some 4,000 persons and injuring some 500 others.

The War has Commenced.

The following is the text of the British reply to the Boer ultimatum: "Chamberlain to Milner, high commissioner, Oct. 10, 1899. Her Majesty's government have received with great regret the presumptuous demands of the South African Republic, conveyed to your telegram of Oct. 8. You will inform the government of the South African Republic in reply that the conditions demanded by the government of the South African Republic are such as Her Majesty's Government deem it impossible to discuss."

The war news to hand at present is of a very vague character. The Boers continue on the aggressive, while the British are pursuing a waiting policy for the time being. The British forces are supposed to be largely outnumbered by the Boers. The latter have occupied the historic battle ground of Laing's Nek. They have also occupied the deserted villages of Charlottetown and Newcastle, the last named place being about forty odd miles from Ladysmith, the nearest point where the British troops are in force. There are about 3,000 troops posted at this place, while 10,000 more are at Durban and Pietermaritzburg, the last named place being the capital of Natal, and Durban the principal seaport. A railway connects these towns and leads right up to the frontier. The London Evening News considered the first news of hostilities in a despatch on Friday which stated that an armed train had been despatched south of Mafeking and fifteen British troops killed, the Boers shelling the train after derailing it. The Boers are said to be preparing for a simultaneous invasion at five separate points—Laing's Nek, Kimberley, Vryburg, Mafeking and Lobatse. Therefore it is almost impossible to guess the plan of campaign. General Sir Redvers Buller will have the chief command in South Africa. He left London on the 14th to take passage on the Dunottar Castle. His departure was the occasion for a great patriotic demonstration. He is said to be a man who will not stick at anything, and the earnest measures will not be too strong for him, and will the last vestige of Dutch power whether in the Transvaal, or the Orange Free State or Cape Colony is wiped out, he says he will not stay his hand.

A despatch received last evening reports that a battle was fought near Mafeking—the Boers being repulsed with a loss of 800 men—British loss, 18 men. There are reports of skirmishes fighting other posts, the losses being light on both sides.

A CHANGE IN THE GENERAL ASPECT—COLUMBIA BEATS SHAMROCK IN TWO RACES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The Columbia beat the Shamrock fully a mile and a half in a ten knot breeze to-day. It was foggy and this may have had something to do with the challenger's defeat, but the Columbia outfoated and out posted her opponent from start to finish and was quicker in stays. The Columbia's new sails almost transformed her and she sailed like a new boat.

The Columbia won by ten minutes 14 seconds, actual, and ten minutes eight seconds, corrected. The course was fifteen miles to windward and return. The yacht finished nearly a half hour within the time limit.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The Yacht Columbia and Shamrock started again today in a fine ten knot breeze on the triangular course and after going over a short distance the Shamrock's topmast broke and the Columbia finished alone. The Columbia was leading at the time of the accident. The Yacht is not likely to race again until Thursday.
