Blackmailers Got $40,000 From a Widow.

Exploits of a French Gang of Swindlers is Revealed as the Leader is Arrested—A Clever Plot.

Paris, August 6.—The leading figure of a blackmailing gang, whose principal exploit caused a foolish woman to lose $28,000, ($140,000), was captured yesterday by the Paris police in the person of a man calling himself "La Basse," but with half a dozen aliases.

Two summers ago a wealthy young Parisian widow made the acquaintance at Chateau Guyon, a fashionable watering place, of a well-dressed man who was known as Fabris and described himself as an American banker.

A flirtation began and the couple took a moonlight excursion in the park. There they were surprised by a man dressed in uniform, who said he was the park keeper, and ordered the couple to follow him to the police station. They protested, but their protests and supplications were unavailing.

THE CONFEDERATE APPEARS.

A stranger then appeared and introduced himself as "Pierre Cournaillies," saying he was an engineer. He suggested that the keeper, to avoid a scandal, should agree to some arrangement with Fabris and the widow.

Finally, the keeper undertook to refrain from action in consideration of the incredibly large amount of $16,000 ($80,000), which in her distress the widow paid by check. Fabris promised to reimburse her as soon as he returned to New York.

The widow left the chateau the following day, but in Paris she was horrified to receive a visit from the keeper and "Cournaillies." The latter said the keeper's conscience was pricking him and he wished to refund the money received and let matters take their course. The panic-stricken widow consented to pay a further sum of $12,000 ($60,000).

Afterward, on receiving a letter from Fabris declaring that, on consideration, he had decided not to refund the money, she had her suspicions aroused and communicated with the police, when she found she had been the victim of a gang of thieves whose specialty was this odious form of blackmail, practised in the fashionable watering places of France.

ENJOYED A GOOD REPUTATION.

The bogus American banker and the bogus park keeper were arrested and sentenced to four years' imprisonment.

Fatal Accident.

A man named Henry Willmott met with a fatal accident on the afternoon of August 8th, in a saw mill, Bay D'Espoir, and which proved fatal.

The day's work had just been over and the machines were being brought to a standstill when the unfortunate man in attempting to remove some shavings and kindling beneath the saw was nearly cut in two, the stopping of the machinery barely saving Willmott's body from being torn to atoms. As it was the poor fellow was badly mangled and an hour after the accident happened he died of his injuries. The deceased was a native of England and leaves to mourn a wife and five children.

A Marvel of Healing

It does not take long for Dr. Chase's Ointment to prove its magic healing power. A single night is often sufficient to produce the most startling results.

Mrs. Chas. Gilbert, Haystack, P. E. Bay, Nfld., writes:—"I was suffering from Salt Rheum for 12 years, and had about despaired of ever being cured, so many treatments had failed. Reading of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment, I commenced using it, and was entirely cured by eight boxes."

Mr. Stanley Merrill, Delaware, Ont., writes:—"For years I was troubled with my hands cracking, often becoming so sore that I could hardly do any work. I got some of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and happily find that one or two applications of same to the affected parts makes them well. I have had no trouble since using the ointment for some hands."
