"Britain's Shield"

IS A WONDERFUL NAVÁL DISPLAY One of the most wonderful naval displays ever shown upon the screen is without a doubt the picture, "The Empire's Shield," which opens at the Majestic Theatre Monday.

Lieut. Edwin Smith, R.N.V.R., who is in charge of the picture, will lecture and explain in simple but forceful language many points of the production not apparent at first glance to the layman.

British men-of-war of all descriptions are shown under actual war service conditions, films having been taken as official Admiralty pictures for the war office library.

It is next to impossible to describe the grandeur of the massed fleet actions displayed, but some idea of the thrill can be given by stating that wherever this picture was shown frequent and enthusiastic bursts of applause marked the progress of the

In addition to the famous warships of the Empire are shown, wonderful stunts of the Royal Naval Air Service and other branches of the Empire forces during the war.

The thrilling effect of the film itself will be heightened by the special orchestra programme, which includes "Rule Britannia" and other familiar British sea tunes.

DIDN'T SLEEP QUICK ENOUGH.

The mistress was reproving the new maid for being late in the morning, "Don't let it happen again," she sail firmly. "I suppose you over slept your self?"

"You see, it's this way, ma'am," the girl said: "I'm a slow sleeper, so it takes me a very long while to get a good night's rest!"
