THE PUBLIC MARKET WILL BE OPEN TO THE HOUSEWIVES OF CALGARY THIS MORNING AT 8 O'C

The market building will be thrown open to the housewives Calgary at 8 o'clock this morning. Every person who cares is sked to attend and lend patronage to the occasion. Incidentally one is asked to come and see the bargains which are to be on the numerous stalls, and every bargain is open for the comer ready to give the price. And the price, be it said, will wer than it would be elsewhere.

The opening of the market is the consummation of the work the Consumers' League through several weeks. The league is ganized body of housewives of Calgary who felt that much be done to reduce the high cost of many of the necessaries ducer and supplied direct to the housewife at the cost of produc-

George Welk, who is superintendent of the market, appointed by the city council to the work, last evening said that though the Consumers' league had done much for the organization of the market, there was no bar of any kind on any person attending and making purchases. The market is for the general public, and every one who cares may come to the opening or any day and make whatever purchases he wishes.

Mr. Wells also reported last evening a well-stocked market,

Stalls and booths were crowded with products of every variety, and presented a very fine appearance indeed. There are vegetables in profusion, and no housewife will miss at the opening at least any of the wants which she goes there to supply There are in addition several stalls crowded with many fine flowers and green plants. Some very beautiful blooms are on exhibit, while the horticulturist will find many choice specimens ready for planting out, and ladies will not miss beautiful cut flowers ready for table decoration.

Those who have been in charge of the organization have also made arrangements with a number of retail groce stalls fully stocked at the market. Ladies ma kinds of purchases in the building, and a good laid in with a view to the heavy sale which ev is impending.

As to the prices, there is but one opinion very nadir, that is, in ordinary parlance, at the point. That is for the housewife herself to e only word left to be said is that each one sh lier the better, and from experience find and make the ma

Mr. Clark said that in discussing the union question with men in Toronto and on the way to the west, it was generally agreed that the union movement had made a great stride forward at this time. The opponents of the movement were not numerous but vigorous and it was felt that they were not beyond conversion. The great bulk of the members of the assembly felt that it was time to go ahead as the great body of the church members was in sympathy with the movement for union. Yet, the leaders were anxious to avoid disruption. Still the union would come sooner than was expected. The matter was left open for the present. The committee would meet again in ovember and would make a recommendation to the assembly which would in all probability call for a vote about a year from now.

It was felt that so well acquainted with the facts of the cases would the people become in the interval that they.

Would give a practical unanimous final judgment in the matter. The method of proceedury had to be calm and well conversed by the behefit of all. Mr. Clark in several important expeditions and previously acted as chief of the police department.
