A FREE LUNCH CHURCH.

Novel Way of Bringing People to the House of Worship.

With respect to religious services it has often been said that "Fools who came to scoff remained to pray," but a new and more polite version of the line, says the London Telegraph, has been furnished by Lincoln's Inn, unine, says the London Telegraph, has been furnished by Lincoln's Inn, un-der whose auspices "toose who came to pray remain to lunch." Interesting as is the chapel of the inn, good as is the music, excellent as is the sermon, hitherto the services have been but poorly attended. The Benchers seem anxious to remedy this state of things, so they have made a regulation which will doubtless be much appreciated, reminding men of their college days and college break-fasts. It is now open to every mem-ber of the inn, in inviting a friend to attend chapel, to accompany his in-vitation with an offer of hospitality, and after the service it will be per-missible for him to entertain his guest at a cold luncheon, which will be served in the hall at one o'clock. It was rather unfortunate that the hauguration of this regulation, adds the Telegraph, should have taken place in such unpleasant weather, but it spring and summer the gardens after service will be resplendent with well dressed ladies who have honored aspir-ants to the woolsack by accepting in-vitations to "chapel and lunch."
