RUSSIANS BURNED AN TUNG. The Russians were forced to abandon An Tung yesterday. They burned the town and retreated to Feng Wang Cheng. The Japanese now hold the estuary of the Yalu River.

A FIVE DAYS' BATTLE.

After five days' fighting, largely with artillery, the first Japanese army, under Gen. Kuroki, has forced a crossing of Gen. Kuroki, has forced a crossing of the Yalu River, and today, with a gallant infantry charge, covering a frontage of four miles, it drove the Russians from Chiu Tien Cheng and the heights on the right bank of the Iho, or Aida River, which enters the Yalu from the north, almost opposite Wiju. The Japanese turned the left flank of the Russian pointing and in the hattle of today they tion, and in the battle of today they day. Tokio, May 2—7 a.m.—A report from Gen. Koro, covering Sunday's fighting, says: The Russians made two stands. The enemy's strength included all of the third division, two regiments of the sixth division, one cavalry brigade, about 40 quick-firing guns and eight machine guns. We have taken 28 quick-firing guns, many riffes, much ammunition, more than twenty officers and men as prisoners. I am informed that Major Kashtalinsky, commanding the Third East Siberian Rifles Brigade, and Lieut-Gen. Zassaof Kinteito, and under Chiu Tien Cheng. The Japanese battery replied to this shelling and silenced the Russian fire. Later eight Russians gums, posted on a hill to the east of the village of Makao, opened upon the Imperial Guards. In this shelling the Japanese artillery to the east of Wiju responded, and the Russians ceased fire. Then both the Chiu Tren Cheng and the Makao batteries responded, and this fire brought a vigorous response from the chain of Japanese batteries on the Korean side of the river. The Russian guns fired for two hours before they were silenced.

The Opposition have not the faintest hope of defeating the measure, and their minutes past 8. At 9 o'clock they obstructive tactics will only delay the commencement of preliminary surveys and other works. Another explanation must, therefore, be found for the policy of Mr. Borden and his followers.

The long session of last year was the river or in the direction of mainly due to the Opposition's belief that the Government intended going to the country in the fall, which intention they desired to thwart. A similar reason is responsible for the obstructive measures and the wearisome small talk of the present session.
