WINS FOR TIGERS

Evansyille, Ind., Aug. 12.—Broad-shouldered, bow-legged, with big hands, a long "hook" nose and gaunt features, Shortstop Hadley, of the Evansyille Central League club is a pocket edition of Hans Wagner, the Pittsburg star.

Nobody seems to know Hadley's first name. Even his team mates are ignorant of his front handle, for he looks and performs so much like Wagner that no one has ever thought of calling him anything but "Hans."

to give the few fans who forgot about their dinners and went to the ball park their dinners and went to the ball park early yesterday a short period of enjoyment before they departed on their last eastern invasion by taking the last game on the home lot for some time from the Nationals by a 3-to-0 score.

Tyrus Cobb was more particular about getting his noonday meal than the fans, who arrived at 1 o'clock for the game, but he managed to get in uniform in time to put the game on ice for the Tigers.

but he managed to get in uniform in time to put the game on ice for the Tigers. His smash for the circuit with Delehanty on base in the sixth clinched the contest when it looked as though their many opportunities would be lost.

There was little chance for the Nationals to do anything in the scoring line, and with Willett working in his best form they never even threatened to cross the plate. Every now and then one of them managed or reach first, only five of them reaching the initial sack through hits off Willett, but not once during the afternoon did one of them through fits off Willett, but not once during the afternoon did one of them succeed in reaching first safely.
