

Acknowledgements

This study could not have been completed without the kind co-operation of the clipping services of the Department of External Affairs, the Privy Council Office, the Parliamentary Library and the Canadian Institute of International Affairs. Mr. John Holmes and Mr. Gordon Hawkins of the CIIA deserve special thanks for granting me permission to submit a questionnaire to the CIIA delegates at their annual meeting in June, 1967.

Mr. Larry Pratt, now a graduate student in political science at the University of Toronto, was an able research assistant, and Miss Joanne Blair worked on the data from the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion which had been collected by Carleton University.

Mr. Norman Robertson, Director of the School of International Affairs, Carleton University along with Mr. Peter Dobell and Mr. Gordon Smith of DL (1) Division, External Affairs, read the draft manuscript and made many useful suggestions; but any errors and omissions are those of the author.

While this research project has been conducted under the auspices of the Department of External Affairs the findings and conclusions are those of the author.