

STORY

FOR AND ABOUT WOMAN

RESIGNATION.
Get nothing make thee sad or fearful,
or too regretful;
Be still—
What God hath ordered must be right,
When find it in thine own delight,
My will.
Why shouldst thou fill to-day with sorrow,
About to-morrow,
My heart?
One watches all with care most true,
Doubt not that He will give thee, too,
Thy part.
Only be steadfast, never waver,
Nor seek earth's favor,
But rest;
Thou knowest what God wills must be
For all His creatures, so for thee,
The best.
—Woman's Life.

Men Said Nothing.
At a dinner at the Plaza in honor of Mrs. Elinor Glyn, the fashionable writer, the lights went out.
Then, in the dark, Mrs. Glyn in her plain English voice told this story:
"A debutante was describing to her mother a week-end visit she had made to a smart house in Devon."
"At dinner on Sunday night," she said, "the lights went out and—wasn't it funny, mamma?—the women didn't want the butler to light them again."
"How do you know they didn't?" asked the mother.
"Because they were all crying out 'Dark!' and 'Stop!' And the men didn't say a word."

A Rare Treat.
The ladies of the Chancel Guild of St. Nicholas Church, Fishermans' Island, are giving a high tea on the church grounds to-night from 6 to 8.

Public Amusements

Capt. Beachey again showed his ability to fly thru space and at the same time have his airship under perfect control. To-day and Thursday it is his intention to fly from Hanlan's Point to Centre Island, where he will land and ascend again, if the weather permits.

Ferari's Wild Animals are still attracting large and well pleased crowds at Hanlan's. This is without doubt one of the best exhibitions of its kind ever seen in Toronto. The free performances on the open air stage this week consist of Wallace, the ferocious lion, the Three Lowes, who give a marvelous entertainment of grace, skill and strength in mid-air, and the famous performing ponies.

A highly sensational performance is given in the free show at Scarborough Beach by Edwards and Bliss, the aerial gymnasts, formerly connected with Ringling's Circus. Their acrobatic feats exceed anything heretofore seen on the open air stage and include a number of new acts that border on the marvelous. No less exciting is the performance of Los Elirados in their comedy bar act, the artists exhibiting a cleverness and agility that wins the warmest applause from the crowd, as well as prolonged laughter. The show is attracting an unusually large attendance and all the attractions at the Beach are receiving as great a patronage can be accommodated.

NEW STUNT IN MASSAGE.
Only within the last ten years have people come to understand the value of massaging. Hitherto the method has been one of rubbing simply. This was all very well in many cases for rheumatic diseases, but proved ineffective for stomach trouble and bowel action, etc. The scientific massaging now used "kneading" instead of rubbing, and the effect is better than a Turkish bath. The essential necessary to the perfection of the "kneading" method is the amount of electricity in the massager's body. Prof. Joseph R. B. Whitney has opened offices at 197 West Richmond-street, where he gives scientific massage by the "kneading" process. He is a graduate of St. Louis School, and his work is highly commended. Those who want private treatment can have it by addressing a postcard of request to the above address.

"MADE IN CANADA"

A Canadian Home Book for Canadian Home People to be issued Monthly.

$1000.00 IN CASH PRIZES and PREMIUMS

PETERS LADIES' BOOK
A MONTHLY JOURNAL FOR THE HOME

A DOLLAR MAGAZINE FOR 25 CENTS

Realizing that Canada has reached that point in her growth and independence where she can hold her own with "the nations of the earth" in any enterprise she may undertake, whether it be in the industrial, the artistic or the literary, and realizing specially that there is a field, a demand and a call for a thoroughly representative and popular magazine for the home—one which we can call our own—one which will interest the old and the young—a journal that, while as wide as the world in general interest, will be specially Canadian.

To this end "PETERS LADIES' BOOK" will make its bow to the Canadian people with its first number in September. "PETERS LADIES' BOOK" will be conducted along the high-class lines of "The Ladies' Home Journal" of Philadelphia—it will have its serial stories, its Review of Canadian happenings, narrative, and incident, its home hints, its fashion notes, articles specially interesting for people of all ages on all points and events that ought to interest Canadians, and will, in every particular, be just such a publication as appreciative Canadians can appreciate, and in asking for a loyal and hearty support, promises in its production the best that Canada can command in "talent of a high order" on its staff of editors, story writers, contributors, and artists. The publisher of "PETERS LADIES' BOOK" is a journalist of wide experience, and has been giving the subject of a popular Canadian home magazine very close study for the past two years, and is launching the enterprise, thoroughly believing that now is the time for it.

The "Chapter and Verse Bible Contest" and the Souvenir and Premium features, which are part of the circulation extension scheme, are as interesting as they are novel, and will be lived up to the letter.

The inauguration slogan is 100,000 subscribers in one hundred days, and it is because the publisher will print at least 50,000 of the first issue that he makes this liberal offer to the first 50,000 bona-fide subscribers—a dollar magazine for 25c. a year.

CROP ABOVE AVERAGE!
The Dry Weather Has Led to Effect.
WINNIPEG, Aug. 11.—Where cultivation has been good and land heavy the spring wheat crop has successfully resisted the effects of prolonged drought, and reports indicate that the yield will be heavy, probably averaging well over 20 bushels while cutting will be general in a week or ten days.
On light lands, however, the drought has left its mark, and short grass with attenuated ears is eloquent of lack of moisture.
Land so affected will tend to pull down the general average. The crop as a whole will turn out rather above than below the average of the past decade.

WHY BRITISH LAW LORDS GRANTED LABOR APPEAL

How Toronto Metal Workers' Union Appeal Was Granted by the Privy Council.

John G. O'Donoghue of Lee and O'Donoghue arrived yesterday from his successful appeal in the famous metal workers case to the Privy Council. When interviewed by The World at his office yesterday the victor in this six years' battle was working away at his documents, prepared, if necessary, to fight the battle over anew.

Mr. O'Donoghue explained that in August, 1902, the officers of the Metal Workers' Union No. 30 of the Metal Workers' Union were called into court to answer to charge of conspiracy by the Metallic Roofing Company. Judgment was eventually given with damages of $7500 against the defendants.

An appeal was taken thru the higher courts of Ontario, all giving judgment against the men, and post-mortem the contention that Mr. Justice MacMahon had misdirected the jury. Strange to relate when the appeal was explained to the law lords of the Privy Council they considered the matter so clear that they gave judgment offhand in favor of the local union, granting a new trial and ordering the respondents to pay the costs of all the appeals in Ontario and that to the Privy Council.

The appeal was taken up by the Privy Council on July 15. The court was composed of Lords Robertson, Collins, Atkinson, and Wilson. Rufus Isaacs, K.C., and John G. O'Donoghue appeared for the appellants and W. N. Tilley, Toronto, and W. Lovett, Montreal, for the respondents.

On the afternoon of July 15 Mr. Isaacs, who is an eminent English counsel, gave an outline of the case. When he gave the grounds of the appeal on the following morning the court stopped him, and called in opposing counsel to answer. They endeavored to justify the charge of the law lords said that they were so well satisfied that the appeal was well taken that they would immediately grant the appeal with costs, and would give a written judgment later.

The law lords were remarkably prompt in fulfilling their promise for Mr. O'Donoghue was able to bring with him a printed copy of the written judgment. It is surprisingly free from technicalities. It quotes the clause in the charge on which the appeal was based:

"I am going to ask you in the questions which I am submitting, whether any of the men left of their own volition, of their own free will, without any regard to the resolution that was passed by the Executive Committee, they did that that was within their right. But if they left thru the resolution which was passed, which provides that within a certain number of days, if the agreement was not signed, they would be called out, and forced to leave the plaintiffs' employment, then there was a power which ought not to be exercised as against the Metallic Roofing Company. And if it was exercised to the injury of the union is liable to damages."

The judgment says: "This is a ruling which in their lordships' opinion, cannot be supported. It was considered, however, that at the close of the trial before the case went to the jury the learned judge corrected any misapprehension. Their lordships say that 'what is cited is insufficient to effectually correct the previous misdirection.'"

Asked regarding the future Mr. O'Donoghue said he could not tell what the company would do, but the men had all along been prepared to come to a friendly agreement, and were so at the present time as their desire has only been to protect their own rights.

While in London Mr. O'Donoghue was greatly impressed by the power of the labor movement in the British parliament, and the suffragette campaign. It has been precisely the labor session of parliament with the old age pension bill occupying the public eye. In a fight between the two parties opposite to the licensing bill has taken chief place for the time being with the Conservative party. The bill proposed after a period of years, granting liquor licenses according to population.

The monster suffragette procession, entirely of women, many of them splendidly dressed and including the students in their college caps and gowns from many ladies' colleges, was one of the most impressive sights of old London during Mr. O'Donoghue's visit.
