alone in the bathroom. When asked if he had received any money from Wilson, he replied: "It is nobody's

In a subsequent interview, Link said he desired to withdraw that state-Representative Clark said that he was unable to remember the St. Louis meeting with Wilson.

Representative Shepard said that he happened to be in St. Louis on the received no money there and furthermore that he got no money any time for voting for Lorimer.

Widow's Acknowledgment.

Mrs. Chas. Luke, the widow of one of the men said to have been with Wilson the day on which White claims he received the bribe money, was found at the home of her brother, J.
C. Adderly, in St. Louis.

Mrs. Luke was asked, according to the Tribune, if she knew of her husband meeting Mr. Wilson in St. Louis on July 15, 1909. She replied: "Yes, he did. I don't remember the exact date, but Mr. Wilson notified him to meet him at the Southern Hotel in St. Louis some time last summer, and my husband went there and met him, and when he returned home, he told me that he got some money from Mr.
Wilson, but he did not say how much."

At this point Mr. Adderly interrupted, saying that he did not object to his sister telling all she knew to any investigation day after to a court, but he thought it inadvisable for her to talk further at that time.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS DENY BRIBERY CHARGES

Alleged Distributor of Fund Charges That Man Who Tells Tried to Get "Hush" Money.

CHICAGO, May 1.—Representative Chas. A. White's sensational story that he received $1000 to cast his vote for Wm. Lorimer for the U. S. senate, and that he (White) also accepted $500 as his share of an alleged legislature "hush fund," has met with denials on the part of all others.

Lee O'Neil Browne of Ottawa, Illinois, Democrat leader at Springfield, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon, as did Senator Lorimer, both denying the use of bribes in the most emphatic manner.

Mr. Browne, alleged by White to have been the distributor of the Lorimer money, declared that White had rushed into print because he had failed in an attempt to use his story to secure hush money.

Robert E. Wilson, a Democrat representative from Chicago, declared by White to have doled out the "jackpot" at St. Louis, joined the chorus of denials. Browne admits having been at St. Louis at the time White alleged the jackpot was distributed, but declares that the Democrats who had assembled there were particularly Browne, who wished to arrange a banquet for him at his home. Browne, according to Wilson, frowned on the enterprise of his partisans and the banquet was called off.

White in his charges stated that the public might expect to hear him called a blackmailer, but he was willing to suffer ignominy in order to expose the corruption which he declared exists at Springfield.

Now he is explained.

In the course of an interview today Mr. Browne said: "Since I became acquainted with White at the last session of the legislature he appeared to me several times for loans, saying he was in debt, hard up, etc.
On three or four occasions I let him have $500, for which I hold his notes."

Finally, this borrowing habit of his became too common and I wrote him a letter advising him to go to work and earn his living like other people. I even secured a position for him, but it paid only $75, and he refused to take it. Then a coolness sprang up.

The next thing to come from him was a remarkable letter. It ran this way: 'I have written a full story of my experience at Springfield at the legislature. Those who have seen it declare that it is the best story that the world has seen. I wrote it for publication. I have used every effort to get it into print, but I cannot avoid it and still set forth the facts. I also have told Senator Lorimer about it.'

"He did not ask for money," continued Mr. Browne, "but the intimation was as plain as if it had been in scare heads. The story was published.
I was my first intimation that he had gone into the publishing business. I looked at the story and said: 'It is nobody's business if I received money or did not, but one thing to do, to ignore the letter and its writer.'"

The Chicago Tribune, in publishing further details of the statement made by White, says that in relating his charge White gave the names of four other Democratic members of the general assembly who met him and representative Robert E. Wilson of Chicago in the House of Commons at St.
Louis when a portion of the alleged bribe was paid.

The names mentioned by White are J. S. Clark, of Indiana, Michael J. O'Connell, of Michigan, Henry S. Shepard of Nashville. Luke is now dead.

SMITH'S FALLS LABORER CHOKES WIFE TO DEATH

"I Killed Her and I Meant to Do It," He Says, in Spreading the Tragic News.

SMITH'S FALLS, April 30.—(Special).—"Will you come over and look at the dead?" said Rufus Weedmark as he stood in the doorway of Mrs. Gilligan, a neighbor, early this morning.
Asked what had happened, he replied, "I killed her, and I meant to do it."

In this way a terrible murder of a wife was first made known here this morning about 5 o'clock.

Led Cat and Dog Life.

Weedmark and his four daughters lived in a little frame dwelling on Maywood street. The place is surrounded by houses and it is right in the center of the town. Quarrels between Weedmark and his wife were frequent, and often violent, and when last night neighbors heard the couple quarreling, they looked upon it as an incident and thought no more of it.

Between 9 and 10 o'clock, Weedmark left the house, and as he walked away he hurriedly closed the door behind him. He did not return until this morning, and he then renewed his attack on his wife, throwing her on the floor and choking her to death.

The couple had five daughters, aged from 9 to 15 years, but only the two youngest were at home last night. The eldest of the aged 11 years, says that her mother was afraid of her father all the night and did not undress herself. The children were about most of the evening, but later on they were ordered by their father to go upstairs to bed. Before this he had been upper and had taken off his everyday clothes, but on his last ones and come back downstairs. He made no move to go to bed, and it looks as if he was deliberately planning the awful deed that was afterwards committed.

Some time towards the morning the children went upstairs at his order, and a little later they heard their mother screaming downstairs. They rushed down, and they say he had her on the floor in the corner choking her. They tried to pull him away from her, but could not, and then they ran out on the side and gave the alarm. Some of the neighbors came out and the chief of police was sent for.

Meantime Weedmark had gone over to the neighbor's house, where he had been the night before, and calmly announced the deed.

When Mrs. Gilligan and others went over they found Mrs. Weedmark lying on the lounge, quite dead. After killing her he had evidently picked her up and placed her on the lounge.

A physician was summoned, and while he and the others were inside Weedmark was walking up and down the street talking in a brutal manner to the dead woman and his wife.
He actually boasted of his work and said he had made a damn good thing of it. He went at it in a few minutes the chief and Police Constable Wilson came up and took Weedmark to the cells. He talked freely to them about the killing and seemed not to be aware of the gravity of it. The only marks on the body of the unfortunate woman were the imprints of the cruel fingers on her throat when they had squeezed the life out of her.

Often Threatened Wife.

Yesterday morning Weedmark told one of his daughters that they would be going to the police station to be after this morning. He had often threatened the woman's life, and last year she had him arrested for cruelty and neglect of his family.
