WOMENO SPECIAL INTEREST

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

Tonight the much-heralded historical drama, "The Dynasts," from the pen of the celebrated English writer, Thomas Hardy, will be presented at the Alexandra Theatre, and continued thruout the remainder of the week, with the customary matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. It is perhaps the biggest theatrical adventure ever attempted by Torontonans, the cast being composed of two hundred people; the production presented in three parts and twenty-four scenes, spoken and acted, which portrays many of the great events that swayed England and the world over a hundred years ago. Napoleon, Nelson and Wellington stalk thru its period, and there is reflected also the humor and hope, and the fears of a great era, when England fought as today she fights, for all that we deem most precious. Its clever cast, among whom are Farnum Bartor, Ruthven McDonald, and many o hers whose histrionic merits are well-known is bound to attract widesuread. Barton, Ruthven McDonald, and many o hers whose histrionic merits are well-known, is bound to attract widespread attention. Of special interest will be the ball-room scene, in which many gorgeously gowned women appear, and which will be enacted by prominent luminaries of society, among whom are: Mrs. Timothy Eaton, Miss Hendrie, Miss Dorothy Walker, Miss Mackenzie, and Miss Ethel Mackenzie, Mrs. Cawthra Mulock, Mrs. Hal Osler and many others. The Duke and Duchess of Connaught will attend the Thursday evening performance.

"Wake Up", the great patriotic photo play in multiple reels, which was used so extensively for recruiting purposes in England during the past year, w'll be the attraction at the Grand Opera House all this week, being shown con innously the attraction at the Grand Opera House all this week, being shown con'inuously from 11 a.m. until 11 p.m. This stirring drama has never before been screened for the Canadian public, and is being shown in Toronto under the auspices of the Citizens' Recruiting League. A portion of the proceeds will be devoted to assisting the Overseas Battalions now recruiting in Toronto.

As a timely picture, dealing with the incidents of this war, "Wake Up!" stands without a peer. It is unlike the average picture produced commercially, and with the sole idea of being a moneymaking scheme for the producer. "Wake Up" was produced in England and with the was produced in England and with the able assistance of the war office and the Boy Scouts' Association. The thousands of men used in the battle scenes were without an exception British soldiers and sailors either in active service or honorably discharged. Pictures taken by the war authorities were used to supplement the battle scenes, and thrust out the production the idea of pariotism stands before gain. "Wake Up!" was filmed with the one purpose, that of showing Englishmen the necessities of the present time and that purpose has been shown.

A special musical score for "Wake Up!" has been arranged by Mr. Frank T. Jennings, leader of the Grand Opera House Orchestra, and all in all the big pariotic week at the Grand should be a huge success.

Belles of Boo Loo.

The 9th Mississauga Horse will give a musical burlesque entitled "The Belles of Boo Loo," at Loew's Winter Garden on the 23rd of February, Fraser so the music, and the cast includes many talented young women from Toron.o's best circles. It is said that the piece contains a real plot, which, with its east-ern setting, should prove interesting. Captain Allan Thorne of the Mississaugas has made all arrangements for the protection, which is under the stage management of Mr. E. R. Durand. The proceeds of the performances will got to the Patriotic Fund and the Mississauga Horse for recruiting purposes.

The Strand Theatre

Today, tomorrow and Wednesday, one of the very best bills in its history will be presented at the Strand Theatre. This will include "The Fringe of War," a military drama, of thrilling and absorbing interest, dealing with the German syp menace. Jane Gadi, the beautiful English star, is seen in the role of the heroine. The bill will also contain a two-act Charlie Chaplin comedy, "A Night at the Show," with Charlie at his very, very best.

The clever comedy star, Ed. Blondell, a noted funmaker, with his company in his comedy offering "The Lost Boy," will be the feature attraction at Loew's Yonge Street Theatre this week. In this sketch Blondell appears as a country boy, and impersonates, a child of 10 or 12 in spite of the fact that he weighs almost 300 pounds. Marie Fenton, star of musical comedy, will be another big attraction. Her act will be a revelation in beautiful gowns and new songs. The Scoville dancers, a Chicago organization, with a company of 12 people, will offer a terpsichorean act second to none. The old-time favorite, Ray L. The Winners

"The Winners," with Snitz Moore and George B. Scanlon, will be seen this week at the Star Theatre. "The Winners," is rightly named, judging from the reports of the critics wherever the show has played. This little two-act musical piece is the combined work of Snitz Moore and George B. Scanlon, and is said to be replete with original situations and scenes.

Madame Edvina

The appearance at Massey Hall on Friday night of Madame Louise Edvina, the world famous Canadian prima donne, is commanding the sole attention of music lovers. After her recent triumphs in Montgeal and Ottawa, local concert patterns are exhibiting the keenest kind of interest in the concert, a splendid advance sale being already registered. Madame Edvina is so enrapport with every hing connected with the war that her program is certain to contain some patriotic feature. In Chicago, Christmas week, she sang "Tipperary," at the request of Miss Marie Van Vorst, the noted American war correspondent, and those present declared it to be the one big emo ional moment of the afternoon. The assisting artists on Friday night will be Hugh Allan, the Canadian baritone, and Sascha Jacobsen, a young violinist of remarkable attainments. ommanding the sole at ention of my
