EDUCATION IN QUEBEC

A Notable Speech by Premier Gouin--A Progressive Policy.

The following is the Montreal Witness report of that portion of Premier Gouin's speech, at the Montreal banquet in his honor, in which he outlined his educational programme for the province of Quebec:

Educate the People

One of the functions of highest importance allotted by the constitution of 1867 was the mission of educating the people. "To educate the people! Permit me to lay stress on the matter," said the premier. "It is one of those things that cannot too often be repeated. Education is the most important of all the political, economical and social questions with which men have to deal. The wise men of all times have proclaimed it. Education, they say, is the only lever whereby the world can be raised. Education is man's destiny. The problem of education is eternal; it varies and grows younger with the centuries. It may be solved provisionally, but never definitely."

"Therefore has the government inscribed at the head of its programme: Knowledge and enlightenment of the people, making use of a famous expression, it has proclaimed that the first part of its policy would be education; the second, education; and the third, education."

"The principle of the present school law was as good as they could desire, and the government did not intend to alter that principle. "No, it is not that law must be enacted. Wealth cannot be enacted; it is produced. In the same manner education is not enacted; it is prepared, it is diffused. What we have to make is men. Let us therefore begin by having good teachers in the schools, for such as are the teachers, such also are the schools. And if we wish to have good teachers, let us give those who devote themselves to teaching a good professional training; let us encourage them to persevere in that career and let us assure them sufficient remuneration."

He praised the present schools for the training of teachers--the Normal School, the Jacques Cartier Normal School, and the school at Rimouski, but said that did not suffice for present needs. Therefore they had decided to have two others, one at Chateaufort and the other at Sherbrooke, until such time as the near future, so they might establish others in various parts of the province. For they were of opinion that the training of teachers should be the starting point of the improvements to be made as regards elementary education.

To encourage teachers to persevere in their career the government had decided to grant a yearly bonus of fifteen dollars to every female teacher with a diploma and a yearly bonus of twenty dollars to every male teacher with a diploma. "We have laid out for over twenty consecutive years to stimulate the zeal of the school commissioners they had received school moneys, but it was not until the year 1904 that we had a school moneys competition between the various school municipalities of each inspection district and prizes of sixty, fifty, forty, thirty-five and thirty dollars to the five municipalities which had made the most progress in each of the following categories:

- 1. Condition of the schoolhouses, dependencies and grounds. 2. Condition of the school furniture. 3. Success of the pupils. 4. Amount of yearly salary paid to teachers. 5. Observance of the provisions of the school law and regulations. But no municipality was allowed to compete with any of its teachers a complete teacher without diploma. In this effort both the municipalities that have obtained the most points and the municipalities that have obtained the most points in the previous year, we think we shall excite amongst the new as well as amongst the old ones, a fiercer, amongst the most backward as well as amongst the most progressive."

The prizes awarded will be apportioned as follows: 1. To the municipalities of the executive, and of course the school moneys or trustees' assessments. 2. To the municipalities of the executive in the previous high class, commercial schools, a large agricultural school, and a technical school. But it was impossible for them, for the moment, to give a prize to the municipalities that were first in all necessary to find the money for carrying out all these projects.

MANUAL TRAINING

T. B. Kidner Speaks Enthusiastically of the Work in Albert County.

T. B. Kidner, provincial superintendent of manual training, was in the city yesterday on his return from a visit to the Albert county consolidated school where a branch of manual training has been established about six weeks. Speaking to a reporter Mr. Kidner said the new science was proving very popular in the district. Already 247 boys and girls were enrolled, and a further increase was expected after Christmas. A department of household science was being fitted up for the girls, and would be in operation early in the new year. Miss Osterbridge, a graduate of the normal department of household science school in Sackville, had been engaged as teacher.

The building at Albert, Mr. Kidner said, is a fine structure, and its equipment very complete, including the latest appliances in the way of ventilation. During his trip, he added, he had visited the training school at Sackville and found great interest being taken in the work and a good attendance. Manual training was making rapid progress in all parts of the province and from the present aspect of affairs he hoped to find positions for most of the teachers who would be eligible next year. Mr. Kidner left for his home in Sackville last evening.

Mrs. Robert Connolly and family have moved from St. Martins to Sussex for the winter. They have rented the residence of Ora P. King, M. P. P., till May 1.

KILLED IN THE MONCTON YARD

David S. Melanson, an I. C. R. Car Inspector, Run Over by Engine and Terribly Mangled

Moncton, Dec. 14--(Special)--David S. Melanson, car inspector in the Moncton I. C. R. yard, was run over by a engine while at his work this afternoon and died of his injuries shortly after 10 o'clock tonight.

When No. 6 freight train arrived in the yard from St. John, Melanson, in company with fellow workmen, Peter Dawson and R. M. Graves, went out to inspect the cars as usual. Brakeman John Cormier called Melanson's attention to the fact that there was a broken brake rod on one of the cars and both started along the train to find it. Brakeman Cormier was in the lead and both were peering under the cars to find the broken rod. Melanson was in a stooping position scrutinizing the brakes and did not observe the approach of the engine of the train which had shroupled and was backing down to go into the round house. The engine was going tender first and the men in charge did not see Melanson in time to stop. The tender struck by the tender and fell across the track, the trucks of the tender passing over both legs before the engine was brought to a standstill.

When picked up it was found his limbs were horribly mangled, one near the body, the other crushed below the knee. The right leg was almost severed above the knee.

The unfortunate man was perfectly conscious, as he was tenderly borne to a building near by, and fully realized his terrible injuries. Medical aid was hastily summoned and the injured man was removed to the hospital, where the right leg was amputated near the body by Doctors Bourque, Price and Ferguson.

The physicians had difficulty in rallying the patient after the operation but it was hoped he would survive the shock. Three or four hours after the accident, however, he succumbed to his injuries. Deceased had been an employee of the I. C. R. for some years. He was about thirty-three years of age and leaves a wife and five small children. The shocking accident was a severe blow to his friends and especially his wife, who was career and the accident blow.

Brakeman John Cormier, who was with the deceased when the accident occurred, also had a narrow escape from being run over by the engine. He was just ahead of Melanson and only became aware of the approach of the engine in time to jump clear of the track, but was unable to warn or save his companion.

Melanson and Cormier were neighbors, both residing on Lower Robinson street. The death of his friend was a severe shock to Brakeman Cormier.

SOMETHING SPECTACULAR

Dominion Iron and Steel Caused a Flurry in Montreal on Wednesday.

(Montreal Witness, Wednesday.) At 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning in local stock exchange conditions. Dominion Iron and Steel, a new company, was introduced into the market by an exhibition of social gymnastics in the Dominion Iron and Steel building. The exhibition was a success and the company was well received. The stock opened at 100 and closed at 105. The market price stood at 100 on Friday the 10th and on Saturday the 11th it had advanced four points since that time. The preferred stock had touched 7 1/2. The buying of iron ore was reported to be of an excellent character. (Montreal Star.)

When the stock threatened to touch 25 in a minute, and the sales had run over the 100-share mark, the stock was bought during the day by the movement. The movement was that well-to-do Canadians had a good deal to say about the stock. The people opened their campaign the day before yesterday, and having stirred the market up turned their attention to the local market.

Many have tried hard to get hold of the shares for the summer months, but the directors have been mum. They are very optimistic, however, that the figures were exceptionally good and seem, on the whole, more optimistic than they have ever been before. They will be in operation by next April, and from that time on it is expected that their business will be a very successful one. Although steel prices moved a little at the beginning of this year, it has not gone up in proportion to the cheerful talk that is going around, and the belief expressed by some, that the patient holders will, before long, be able to realize a profit. The dividends due on the preferred stock are approximately 2 per cent., and to pay this the company will require $1,000,000. A gentleman identified with the steel company told the Star to-day that there is such a hopeful feeling in regard to favorable times for steel, that the demands of the steel men, he said, have not been exorbitant--in fact, have been reasonable--and on that account something is expected.

AMERICAN ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE (The best magazine for all the family.) Splendid Stories; Interesting Articles; Beautiful Illustrations. Yearly subscriptions commencing with the November issue, will include: Two of the best serial novels ever published in a magazine,

PRISONERS By MARY CHOLMONDELEY, author of "Red Pottage."

A human, thrilling story of tremendous emotional power and absorbing plot. The heroine is the beautiful Fay, married, but not for love, still the centre of her own universe, the prisoner of her own soul. The other prisoner is a splendid young Englishman, Michael, heroic and self-sacrificing who languishes in an Italian prison to save Fay's honor. With its dramatic situations, its searching of a woman's heart and the lovely background of its scenes, it surpasses even this author's famous Red Pottage. It is a book that will long be remembered.

THE MYSTERY By STEWART EDWARD WHITE, author of "The Blazed Trail," "The Forest," etc., and SAMUEL H. ADAMS.

To Mr. White's wonderful knowledge of people and the world out-doors, Mr. Adams adds an ingenuity in story telling and an understanding of science that altogether make this novel a remarkable magazine serial. The schooner "Laughing Lass" is found abandoned in the Pacific with galley fires burning and other evidences of recent occupation. A crew is put aboard and a few days later the schooner is again found entirely bereft of human life with no sign as to the fate of the crew. The solution of the mystery is a story of intense interest, and some of the characters involved will long remain in one's memory.
