

THE WIFE'S APPEAL.
You took me, William, when a girl,
Unto your home and heart,
To bear in all your after life,
A fond and faithful part;
And tell me have I ever tried
That duty to forego,
Or grieved because I had no joy
When you were sunk in woe?

No—I would rather share your tears
Than any other's grief,
For though you're nothing to the world,
You're all the world to me—
You make a palace of my shed,
This rough-hewn bench a throne;
There's sunlight for me in your smiles,
And music in your tone.

I look upon you when you sleep,
My eyes with tears grow dim;
I cry, "O Parent of the poor,
Look down from heaven on him;
Behold him toil from day to day,
Exhausting strength and soul;
Oh! look in mercy on him, Lord,
For thou canst make him whole."

And when at last relieving sleep
Has on my eyelids closed,
How oft are they forbid to close
In slumber by my child!
I take the little murmur,
That spoils my span of rest,
And feel it is a part of thee
I hurl upon my breast.

There's only one return I crave:
I may not need it long;
And I may soothe thee when I'm wroth,
The wretched feel no wrong;
I ask not for a kinder tone,
For thou wert ever kind;
I ask not for less frequent tears,
My fare I do not mind.

I ask not for attire more gay,
In such as I have got;
I ask not for more of the hours
That you on "cicely" bestow—
Of knowledge which you prize so much,
I may I not something know?
Subtract from meeting among men
Each even an hour for me;
Make me companion of your soul,
As I may safely be;
If you will read, I'll sit and work,
Then think when you're away;
Less tedious I shall find the time,
Dear William, if you stay.

A meet companion soon I'll be
For your most studious hours;
And teacher of those little ones
You call our cottagers flowers!
And if we're not rich and great;
We may be wise and kind;
And as my heart warms to your heart,
So may your mind my mind.

Matrimonial Prospects.
My dear William,
Felix Willers was my first and dearest friend.
He was little as a boy, and little as a man, but the only large creature about him who was not a fool, and that was a desperate one—he was always in love. Jitling did him no good; if one woman played him false, he instantly made a declaration to another. Fair or dark, short or tall, fat or slim, were all the same to Willers; his heart was like a carpet-bag—you could cram any amount of love into it. I used to tell him it would be his ruin, so it was—that is, it will be. When he married I cut him. Self-preservation in the first law of nature, and I did not know but matrimony was catching. I called him a fool and he called me a hussy. I never saw Felix for twenty years afterwards.
