THE BABY.

(Ethel M. Kelley, in St. Nicholas.)

I use to be the baby

'Fore the other baby came,

I didn't know that maybe

I'd have to change my name;

But now I'm only "brother,"

He's "mother's precious pet,"

(I guess she's stayed my mother,

But I haven't as yet.)

I thought, though he was tiny

And he looked so very queer,

He'd get over being whiny,

When he found that I was here.

I thought before we knew it

We'd be chummy as could be;

But I ain't a-goin' to do it,

'Cause he isn't nice to me.

I mustn't even hold him

Less he drops onto the floor,

And it doesn't do to scold him;

It just starts him in to roar.

I ain't goin' to no seven,

And I go to bed alone;

But I wish he'd stayed in heaven

Till he'd got a little grown.

P'raps some day there'll come another,

It would be a funny joke;

Then he'd have to be the brother,

An' he'd tell his "nose was broke."

It would start him yellin' maybe,

But I'd tell him just the same,

That he couldn't be the baby

When the other baby came.

FORMAL FALL OPENING

Costumes and Coats—Wednesday and Thursday.

The gathering together of the very best styles as featured in New York and Toronto.

We make a study of this department,

sparing no expense to have what is absolutely correct. We contend, therefore, that we can give you more real style in our garments than you usually find in ordinary ready-to-wear departments, and without, at very moderate prices.

We have some exceptionally smart garments for your consideration at this our formal opening to be held tomorrow,

Wednesday, and following days, and will be very much pleased indeed to show them to anyone interested in pretty things.

Come in and see us during these show days. You needn't buy unless the goods themselves invite you to do so.

Yours truly,
