The Empress Hotel, Victoria, near which are the British Columbia Parliament buildings where the monument has been erected. (Inset) Victoria's War Memorial to her fallen soldier sons.

On July 12th the Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia, Hon. Walter C. Nichol unveiled Victoria's War Memorial to her sons who gave their lives at Ypres, Passchendaele, the Somme, Vimy and Passchendaele. A beautiful site, in the grounds of the parliament buildings was presented by the Provincial Government. It lies adjacent to the very streets along which the various battalions marched to embark upon their long journey overseas, and here, amid the most delightful surroundings, the monument has been erected.

A column of local granite from Nelson Island, B. C., forms the plinth, chaste of line and graceful in conception, it rises to a height of sixteen feet and is surmounted by an eight foot figure of bronze, a Canadian soldier on guards and with the two bronze wreaths and the simple tablet bearing the following inscription: "To Our Glorious Dead. He died the bravest death a man can die. Fighting for God, and Right and Liberty. And such a death is immortality." Victoria's war memorial is at once both striking and beautiful. It is the work of Sydney March, of the celebrated March family of Farnborough, Kent, England, whose brother Vernon March designed the Champlain monument which has recently been unveiled at Orillia. The March brothers were at the ceremony at Orillia and also at the Victoria unveiling, having come to Canada expressly to attend the dedication of their masterpiece.

Thousands of citizens stood with breathless and the solemn and impressive services, and many beautiful wreaths were laid at the base of the monument. The cost of the bronze figure, tablet and wreaths was presented by His Hon. Lieutenant Governor Nichol, in a subscription of $5,500, the balance of $7,500 was by public subscription. The plinth was erected by Mortimer and Sons, Victoria. To the west of the monument and at some distance from it, stands the Bruce-Joy bronze of Queen Victoria, which also occupies a prominent place in the wide grounds of the Parliament buildings, and a short distance across the green lawn and rose gardens the "Empress" the famous Canadian Pacific Hotel stands as a background.

FINDS "BURGLAR" IN HOME; ASKS DIVORCE

Husband Accuses Wife of Hiding Man in Home—Story is Denied.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Arthur F. Connolly of Brooklyn, alleged in a complaint filed in the Brooklyn Supreme Court for divorce from his wife, Mrs. Helen Connolly, that a man he found hiding in his wife's apartment on July 8 declared he was a burglar. Connolly returned home earlier than usual that day, he says in his affidavit, and when his wife's behavior excited his suspicions he searched the apartment and found Robert Nimmo, of Brooklyn, who at the time gave him the name of McNelly.

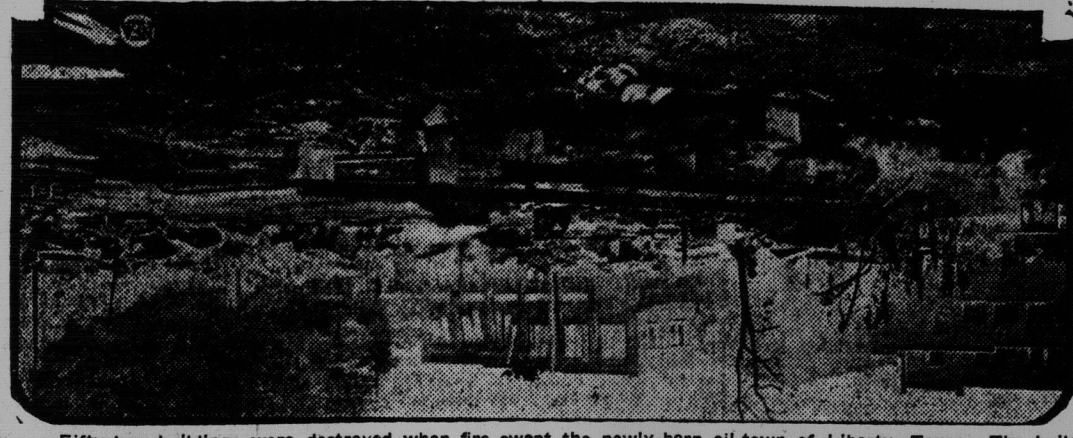

The "burglar" was handed over to Patrolman Charles Nuzzi, to whom the stranger confessed he was not a burglar, it is alleged, but had gone to the apartment at the invitation of Mrs. Connolly, whom, it is alleged, he said he had visited twice before.

Connolly, who is alleged to have called the charges against her "a low and despicable frame-up." She charges cruelty by her husband and asks alimony of $10 a week. She says that her husband, who is connected with the advertising firm of William H. Rankin Company, has an income of $10,000 a year.

Mrs. Connolly, who is suing for a limited divorce in her affidavit, also calls the charges against her "a low and

HOPE OF TITLE LOST

Austrian Consul Refuses Typist's Claim, as Did That of Poland.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The hope of Victoria Augustynowicz, 23-year-old typist, of establishing herself as a Countess suffered another rebuff when the Austrian Consulate, announced that titles were no longer legally recognized in that country, and that she could not call herself an Austrian Countess. She then declared that she was going to be known as a member of the Austrian nobility on the ground that the Austro-Hungarian government had recognized her ancestor's title in 1785. Miss Augustynowicz refused to discuss her plans for recovering the eleven barrels of gold and the city of Lemberg, which she declares are rightfully hers by inheritance.
