FRANCE TRAINING YOUTH.
Physical Education Still in Hands of Army.

Physical education in France is practically an outgrowth of military activities, says a bulletin of the United States Bureau of Education. Created primarily for war purposes the system was gradually extended to serve in the time of peace. It is still in the hands of the army until such a time when the universities departments and townships be ready to play their part. Physical education is carried out along the following lines:

The commander-in-chief of each army corps gives his attention to the organization of physical education for young people in the district under his command and works in touch with the heads of the different sports clubs and other similar institutions. He places at the disposal of educational establishments instructors and such other means as he may have to promote physical education. He organizes instruction courses for teachers and assures himself that the
