

POLITICS KEEP WHARVES IDLE

Fiume Slow to Resume Its Pre-war Commerce—Jugoslavia Pressing Forward.

Fiume, June 30.—(Associated Press, by Mail).—Fiume lingers in the doldrums so far as resumption of the once world-renowned trade of this port is concerned, while the new state of Yugoslavia is pressing forward in an effort to take the trade with America that Fiume held before the war.

Political quarrels in this city and international disputes keep the wharves of Fiume idle but in Yugoslavia a company has been formed to establish a line of steamers to operate from Spalato, Ragusa and Cattaro to New York.

Already small steamers are being ordered along the whole Dalmatian coast under the Yugoslav flag but they do not such at Fiume, formerly the chief port for this trade.

The Italian suggestion of a consortium for the management and amalgamation of the port of Fiume and the port of Baros, has been rejected by the Yugoslavs, who claim complete sovereignty over the port of Baros and with it the town of Sussak, all of which, they contend, is in keeping with the treaty of Rapallo.

An Italian naval commander, Captain Focchini, has been designated by the Italian government to take charge of the city of Fiume in an effort to adjust the differences between the contending groups inside the town.

CLOTHES DON'T WORRY THEM IN THE NEAR EAST

Constantinople, June 28.—(A. P. by Mail).—What to wear isn't counted among Near East problems. Recently an American, newly arrived, made the round of the local stores for a bathing suit. Finally he found a pair of brief tights. When he complained that he wanted a two-piece suit, the merchant answered: "We can't afford to carry dead stock. Most people are satisfied without that much."

At the American Embassy there is one "high" or top silk hat which is at the common disposition of those civil officials who are obliged to have such an article on rare occasions, such as funerals of local dignitaries. The hat was discarded by a pre-war official.

FORCE OF X-RAYS

Commissioner Finds Them Not Sufficient to Injure Persons in Adjacent Rooms.

Paris, June 30.—(A. P. by Mail).—X-ray laboratories have been found to constitute but slight, if any, danger to persons in adjacent rooms. A report to the Academy of Medicine held that modern appliances and conditions generally existing in X-ray rooms sufficiently protect all but the operators.

The report was prepared by a commission after recent reports to the Academy that X-rays were a serious menace to people in buildings housing laboratories. It was contended the rays would penetrate walls with force enough left to cause serious injury. This contention was found by the commission to be ill-founded.

MAY FLY THROUGH CANADA.

Permits Granted to Half a Dozen American Machines.

Ottawa, July 19.—Permits have been granted by the Canadian Air Board for the passage through Canada of half a dozen aeromarine flying boats, which are being taken from New York to Detroit by a company operating an aerial service in the United States. The only waterway by which these machines can be flown from New York to Detroit is via Montreal and Belleville, and in order to fly the boats across Canadian territory the owners must secure permits from the air board. The boats, while they are allowed to fly across Canada, are not allowed to pick up passengers at Canadian points, though this was granted when the Santa Maria was allowed to fly through.
