Major C. R. Carr, an English soldier of fortune, the aviator of the expedition, plans to fly above the Antarctic fogs to scout out passages between the floes through which The Quest may pass. He is also the photographer and naturalist of the expedition. The biplane he will use is one of only three that were ever built. The other two were flown, respectively, by Colonel Borten, V. C., the gioneer flyer from England to Mosopotamia, and by Sir Ross Smith, the first man to fly from England to Australia.
