Banish the Hand Pump.

In primitive countries woman is regarded somewhat as a beast of burden. She is subjected to all sorts of drudgery, does practically all the work, and her lot is hard and discouraging. This custom is rightfully regarded as inhuman and uncivilized.

Yet thousands of women in this country today are shackled to the old-fashioned hand pump. In many cases they carry the water considerable distances after pumping it. The amount of time and energy lost is incalculable.

Empire Duro Systems

have liberated thousands of women, and men, from the grinding toil of pumping and carrying water. They have brought comfort, cleanliness and health where drudgery, dirt and disease prevailed before.

Duro systems give you all the conveniences of city water service. Running water under pressure in kitchen, bathroom, toilet, garden and barn is at your service.

Compact, powerful, and automatic Duro system is easily installed in old or new homes and costs less than 1c a day to operate. Driven by either

HONEY AND ITS USES

Centuries before anyone ever had thought of sugar as we know it, honey was the universal sweetner, and while its use for such purposes has decreased with the advent of the more its use for such purposes has decreased with the advent of the more plentiful granulated sugars, it is still highly prized and largely used, and justly so. For honey is the one concentrated sugar that can be eaten in its natural form, just as it comes to us. It needs no refining of processing of any sont, and like ripe, fresh truits, communicates its foou value to he system in exactly the way Nature intends it shall be received.

Pure honey is in a class all its own. It is one of the few foods that cannot oe successfully imitated occause in passing through the body of the bee it secures special protein and animal elements that man cannot duplicate. It is one of the few forms of sugar that can be directly assimilated in the body, consisting of nearly equal parts of grape sugar and fruit sugar which require no directly assimilated in the body, consisting of nearly equal parts of grape sugar and fruit sugar which require no directly assimilated in the body, consisting to the digestive tract than cane sugar. Furthermore, unlike other sugars—with the exception of fruit sugars—it con tains certain minerals—notably lime and iron—which are absolutely necreasing the proper food value.

In addition so its proper food value it is known to exert a slightly laxative influence. There can be no doubt of the wisdom of using it generously in the feeding of the children, and its flavor is so delightful that it has a specially valuable place in cookery and on the table—cakes, puddings, sweets and conserves are all excellent, when made with honey.

it was found that bread spread with honey was digested and left the stomach as quickly as bread alone which proves conclusively that the use of honey with bread in the diet of children is preferable to the eating of candies. Honey not only serves to make the bread more palatable, but leads to a greater consumption of body-building foods instead of depressing the appetite, which is likely to be the case with candies which are eaten between meals. MeDONALD SCHOOL REPORT

A man was motoring by night through a town in the Midlands which was in darkness owing to a breakdown at the generating station. Somewhat to his dismay his car lights, too, failed suddenly owing to his batteries having gone wrons. Soon he found himself held up by a policeman, who pointed out that he had no lights and demanded his name and address. The motorists did a little quick thinking; then he smiled.

that is apt to result in some sort of disturbance, even if the one feared does not come about. Home women especially with their sense of responsibility about their families, and their comparatively outlook, are apt to lay far too great stress on these meaningless happenings, and let "premonitions" take possession of them. I know a little woman who broke a looking-glass while house-cleaning last fall, and just as she turned in dismay she saw her creeping baby reach.

Oh, don't let's be so foolish, women dear. If you could only talk with enough sensible persons, thousands would tell you of broken mirrors and tables of thirteen guests, and a hundred other superstitions invited, when nothing whatever happened a sa result. Clear your mind of the dread, the ignorance, the silly faith in such things. Think of the sad events that have occurred in your own circle that were not heralded by a bird flying past the window and not connected with number 'thirteen' of the failure to "touch wood."

A wholesome, sunny faith in good luck, good happenings, good fortune, and good health, is a million times more potent to bring results than a foolish belief in some unimportant and accidental happening. Cut out these 'pet' superstitions which you are coddling and be free.

To the average person a railroad shop is perhaps the most uninteresting institution one could possibly think of. It suggests to one's mind everything that is cold and inanimate—dry—grimy. Even the fence surrounding these stoild premises looks forbidding, like a prison wall.
