

FAIR BOARD VOTE SHOWS UNANIMITY

Balloting Gave No Indication That Change Was Desired.

Not only were the members of the last year's Western Fair board re-elected, but the association held on Wednesday, but they were elected in such a manner that ample proof was provided that the voting representatives were almost unanimous in the belief that new blood was not required on the board.

Every member of the old board received 50 or more votes cast by the 100 voting representatives. The highest vote was cast for him. The next highest was W. W. Gammie, with a total of 69. Of the three men nominated by those who sought to introduce new blood in the board, Hayman polled the highest vote, when he received 20. According to the board, the standing of candidates was as follows: Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gammie, 69; W. W. Gammie, 69; Capt. T. E. Henson, 65; Arthur L. Saunders, 62; John Pringle, 60; W. E. Robinson, 59; W. C. McNeill, 58; William Moore, 57; H. A. Gammie, 56; W. N. Manning, 50. The defeated ones were: H. Hayman, 20; A. Martin, 19; Edwin Smith, 18; and Mr. J. R. Shure, who was an outside man nominated by representatives of the fair.

The election was accomplished without the preparation of a slate, it was claimed.

On Saturday at 1 p.m. the first meeting of the executive will be held. The members of 20 new committees will be appointed at that time. Every representative to the fair board will be placed on one committee at least. The chairman will be chosen from among the members and the board of directors.

CITY WILL START MOTOR MORE SEWER WORK

Additional sewer construction, for which plans were completed today by City Engineer H. A. Brader, will start work for about twenty-five or thirty miles on Friday. The city will start a total of about 200 miles placed on the city's payroll since efforts were started to relieve unemployment.

A shift of 82 men is taken on every three days, the previous shift being released. Men to form these shifts are taken in the order of the application at the city employment bureau in the East London hall. Today William Cason, who is in charge of the registration, reported that 800 men are on the list. Taking them in order, the vacant city jobs means that each man receives only three days' work in three weeks.

Both City Engineer Brader and Mr. Cason are confident that considerably more work will be under way within a short time so that the city will be provided for a greater number than this.

GODERICH, Feb. 16.—The boats that are lying in the harbor here are being cut out of the ice and the grain transferred to the Goderich elevator. The unloading spring repair work on the boats will be commenced in a few days.

A great deal of ice needed for the coming summer has been cut. Many people believe that they will not get a chance to get any better ice than has formed.

A party of canvassers for a Toronto publication got in decidedly wrong at some of the places where they called as a result of remarks they made. Some of the language was entirely uncalled for, so much so that the chief of police notified the police. One man as a result of the chief's action received an apology at a home where he had been abusive. The manager of the canvassers and his men left town shortly after.

DECIDE BY SYSTEM COUNTY OFFICIALS FAVOR CHANGE Regarding Appointment of Magistrates.

"One magistrate for each county" does not seem a good plan in the opinion of Middlesex officials. The proposition is to pay each magistrate a fair salary and abolish all justices of the peace, some of whom, a special Government commission found, could not read or write.

The objection to the proposed plan is that there would be too much work for one man in a county as large as Middlesex. From one border to the other is 60 miles in this county. This would mean that the magistrate would either have to be a travelling official or prisoners and witnesses would have to be brought from all parts of the county to the court house here. It is thought it would be necessary to have four magistrates to do the work effectively. This, of course, would mean a large annual amount for salaries.

Signing of informations and warrants would be a heavy task for one man. It was claimed that if an officer was required to go to the magistrate's office to sign a warrant, he might have to wait a long time before he could get to the court house. It was also claimed that the magistrate would have to be a travelling official or prisoners and witnesses would have to be brought from all parts of the county to the court house here. It is thought it would be necessary to have four magistrates to do the work effectively. This, of course, would mean a large annual amount for salaries.
