

The Girl to be Avoided.

She is the girl who takes you off in one corner and tells you things that you wouldn't repeat to your mother.

She is the girl who is anxious to have you join a party, which is to be "a dead secret"; and at which, because people are very free and easy, you are uncomfortable and wish you were at home.

She is the girl who tries to induce you, "just for fun," to smoke a cigarette, or to take a glass of wine, and you don't know, and possibly she doesn't, that many of the sinners of to-day committed their first sins "just for fun."

She is the girl who persuades you that to stay at home and care and love your own, to help mother and to have your pleasures at home and where the home people can see them, is stupid and tiresome; and that spending the afternoon walking up and down the street, looking at the windows and the people, is "just delightful."

She is the girl who persuades you that slang is witty, that a loud dress that attracts attention is "stylish," and that your own simple gowns are dowdy and undesirable. She doesn't know, nor do you, how many women have gone to destruction because of their love for fine clothes.

She is the girl who persuades you that to be on very familiar terms with three or four young men is an evidence of your charms and fascination, instead of being, as it is, an outward visible sign of your perfect folly.

She is the girl who persuades you that it is a very smart thing to be referred to as "a gay girl." She is very, very much mistaken.

And of all others she is the girl who, no matter how hard she may try to make you believe in her, is the girl to be avoided.

The man who is waiting to be happy will next year at this time be waiting still.

"Can you cook?" he asked anxiously, ere he popped the question. "I don't know," she answered, "but I—I can try." "Not on me," he rejoined, reaching for his hat.

THE HUSBAND'S CURIOSITY.—"What nonsense is there?" he asked, as he looked over her shoulder at the paper she had in her hand. "Some fool dress pattern, I suppose." "No," she replied, "it's a diagram of the pitcher's curves in base-ball." "Lemme see it as soon as you get through, will you?"
