

The Circuit business Meetings of our Church

We fear the month of May will this year bring anxiety to many of our ministers. The deficient harvest last year, and the commercial embarrassments caused indirectly by the American War, have considerably affected the resources of the people in many parts of the country. In some of the more fertile sections, and on the weaker circuits, it may be feared the ministers will have to suffer from heavy deficiencies, unless more than ordinary efforts and liberality should prevent it. We have heard of some very painful instances of embarrassment and privation already; the particulars may not be as bad as reported, but there is no doubt that many are sorely pressed at the end of the year. It is difficult to remedy this. Only more liberal and stronger circuits a little effort will doubtless be sufficient to prevent a scarcity; and this effort will cheerfully be made. It is earnestly to be hoped that the members

By next English Mail we hope to receive a

It has been organized by the blessed Redeem

[illegible]

Saint-André, Clément

that you receive a letter from this Circuit, but one or two circumstances appear to render a lie

I observe that you are publishing the lists of subscriptions to the Jubilee Fund, and as you have not, and are not likely to receive one from the Church at this place, of any considerable value,—as its Pastor I must stand forth as an apologist. A very largely attended and interesting Jubilee meeting was held on the month of October last, at the residence of Mr. J. W. Smith, of the Financial District meeting. Between our taking of Deputation from St. John's,—the pecuniary offerings when sought for were more, to be desired. The fact is that our people, under the pressure of our own immediate necessities were unable to contribute. This stands as a rebuke to me, and to what a few willing hearts and hands can do by united effort. The building is according to plan furnished by the Rev. Geo. Butcher, and for which he has our warmest thanks. It stands upon the old site, its predecessor having been removed to the rear, where it will answer admirably for a Sunday school and well-lighted hall. The new church is 55 ft. long, and 25 ft. wide, with a Gothic style,—having buttresses, and well-placed windows of ground-glass with stained glass panels. It has also a tower projecting ten feet from the front, surmounted by a spire reaching an altitude of about ninety feet. The building stands upon a foundation of solid masonry, and is estimated to cost $2000.00, and will be ready to receive the sum of $2000.00—the whole of which will be raised almost exclusively by our own little congregation. This is the dulness of dull times, and with an increase of fifty per cent. on the Mission List, and a considerable augmentation of the Congregational income, has precluded our people the enjoyment of what they otherwise would have enjoyed. I am sure that you will very much appreciate any ardent expression of the smallest of the Jubilee list from St. Andrew's.

I may say that in the erection of the fine building just described, a heavy debt has been contracted, and I believe it is the intention of parties interested, in fulfilling the interior, to make it still larger. That debt must fall upon the Conference,—though I believe the present offering will be ready to meet it, and share with them. Its weight will be ready to share with them. We wish to see the money raised. We wish to see it not in the form of a through the most beautiful and fruitful regions of knowledge, the mind meanwhile gradually guiled by having fellow travellers, who keep an to pace with him ; for each light dissonance a brighter tone by mixing the soft replies with the more cheerful.

" And thus the youth whom Education leads Through Wisdom's paths, and Virtue's peaceful meads ;
Thro' all his tender years be thoughtless Not think his flow'ry Spring will pass away ; Nor think the sunbeams and trifling toys amuse,
Which his careless progress he pursues ;
Free streams of knowledge all their stores impart.

Went down his mind, and goodness to his heart ;
The inspiring tears of wisdom confer, Glad is himself to render others blest."

In a turning year perceives that courage, Gives him his course preposited to pursue,
And applause of all his companions ; he cherishes, therefore, these qualities in his breast, and endeavors to connect himself in friendship with those who possess them. He sees, on the other hand, that means of spirit, ingenuity, and purity, are objects of detestation. He sees, therefore, those men who display these vicious qualities, and he turns to the true sources of gratification are the respect and admiration of his teachers. Here he is repugnant to decide and to act for himself ; he negotiation among his companions dependently on his own conduct. This gradually strengthens his mind, inspires firmness and a certain manliness of character.

It is, of great importance, as Quænnell observes, that these who are destined to occupy superintending in society should enjoy the benefits of an enlarged and liberal education ; that they should be furnished with every substantial and ornamental accomplishment ; and that those who are intended for any particular profession or employment, should be particularly directed to such studies as are appropriate to their future career ; said, in every rank of life, an attention to the liberal sciences should be a primary object ; for it is by an amiable disposition, and with cultivated talents, that we acquire the affection of our relatives, and the respect and esteem of the world. May we not therefore conclude, that a young man will most assuredly become wiser, and probably more virtuous, by public than by private education. — See Virtue School

"the science of sciences,—the rich source governed, and if the customs of the people be

[illegible]

calculations, to prove that two and two make the subject, that this work should have been undertaken for the enlightenment of the whole

Christian Church, with its proud array of scholars and erudite divines, by the immemorial bequest of all other denominations, we must maintain our connection with the New Version, as one of our two Psalmodists found in the Constitution, by its means representing their churches, and by their acceptance of such a position the psalmist should say, "Praise me, O God, who art the priests of choice, that I may eat of a piece of bread." Yours very truly,
FRANKLIN

St. Allison College and Academy EXAMINATIONS AND ANNIVERSARY EXERCISES,
May 1st-2d, 1904.
Thursday, May 19th, and Friday, May 19th, Examination at St. Allison College, Cassville, Mo. 21st, 9 A.M., Anniversary Sermon by Rev. C. DeWalt, D.D.
Saturday, May 22nd, 9 A.M., Examination of Academy Classes.
Sunday, 23rd, 9 A.M., Anniversary Exercises in Lindsay Hall.
Monday, 24th, 3 P.M. Meeting of Alumni Association.

The friends of the Institution and of Education generally are respectfully invited to attend.

THE College Board is to meet in the College Lectury Room, on Saturday afternoon the 19th inst., at 2 o'clock, and the Board of Trustees and Governors, on Wednesday forenoon at 10 o'clock.—A full attendance of the members very desirable. SECRET WILLIAM H. PIERCE.

Cassville, N. B. May 2d, 1904.

Donation Visit.

MR. EDITOR.—Permit me to acknowledge the kind remembrance of St. Allison College, 9th inst. at the residence of David Fugate, Potosi, Lower Missouri, and presented you with the handsome offering of $94.00—15¢ Got returned them.

Yours truly,
J. READ.

Potosi, Mo. 9th.

OSMONT.—The Rev. W. Ryan requests me to state that in his account of the missionary meetings on Powell ridge, the name of one of the deputations, who rendered very efficient service, was omitted. It was the deputation of

Walter Kirkpatrick, David Kirkpatrick, Jr.

George Kirkpatrick, Sussex.
John Kirkpatrick, Donegal.

George Kirkpatrick,
M. Kirkpatrick,
John Kirkpatrick, Sr.
Jas. Kirkpatrick,
A. Kirkpatrick,
Wm. J. Kirkpatrick,
Alexander Muir,
Jas. McFay,
Charles McFarlane,
Mrs. Anna Muir,
James Nutter,
Wm. Patterson,
Mary Patterson,

CODD HILL.

James Graham,
Thomas Curvey,
James Bell,
J. Graham,
J. Johnson,
George Lyon,
Jas. Murphy,
William Kunkin,
John Woods,
R. F. Woods,

JERUSALEM.

Sa Bondel,
George Bellet,
H. Harrison, Jr.,
Charlotte Harrison,
Elizabeth Harrison,
James Harrison, Jr.,
Emma Harrison,
Estimabel Ingh, Sr.,
James Ingh,
Samuel Jackson, Jr.,
Frederick Madsen,
James Polley, Esq.,
P. W. Radstone,
Rev. D. B. Scott,
Jas. D. B. Scott,
Joseph Sleep,
Ira M. Sleep,

GREENWICH.

Murray Belyea,
James Belyea,
Estimabel Belyea,
Robert Belyea,

[illegible]