The city census taken last week seems to yield a population of about 165,000. In 1881, when the last Dominion census was taken, the population was 77,000. Since then we have annexed one or two suburbs. Aside from that, however, the growth has part of this failure is due to the orthe averages. The city census taken last population was 10,000 since then we have annexed one or two suburbs. Aside from that, however, the growth has territories of its chief, and serving within them. These troops would be gradually raised to such a pitch of efficiency as would enable the Imperial Government to use them as part of its available resources to Aside from that, however, the growth has been remarkable. It is a pity the dities and towns throughout the province are not keeping stop with Toronto. They complain that not a little of our progress arises from absorption of their population.
