Music and Drama

A Massive Production.

The Liebler Company's production of Robert Hichens and Mary Anderson's "Garden of Allah," which will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House, Hamilton, Oct. 6, 7, 8, is conceded to be the most spectacular and massive production of a drama, the stage has ever had. The play is a dramatization of the novel. As a scenic production the performance is a series of realistic pictures of life in the desert. There are wonderful views of the desert, shimmering in the whiteheat of noonday, glowing red and pink, under wonderful sunsets, for pale and sinister under the weird spell of tropical nights. There is a street scene in Beni-Mora, wild and intoxicating. Nine scenes of tropical beauty vie with one another, each surpassing the other in splendor. Sarah Truax, Lawson Butt, John Blair, Antonio Salerno, Frank Kingdon, William Jeffrey, and Florence Lester are among the 200 players who will be seen in the production. Brantford theatre goers can secure seats by mail.

The Grand will present one of the best of American farces next Saturday when the dramatic version of George Barr McCutcheon's celebrated romance, "Brewster's Millions," will be given here. The book has been adapted to stage purposes by Winchell Smith and Byron Ongle, and judging from the enormous success they have succeeded in placing Mr. McCutcheon's strongest situations in such a coherent manner that a really great play is the result. Frederic Thompson who conceived and brought forth the New York Hippodrome, is the manager and producer. So that if basic story and staging count for anything in a stage production, "Brewster's Millions" certainly possess the elements. One of the bits of realism attempted is a scene on shipboard during a real storm, which is said to be a sensational illusion. The company is headed by Louis Nilsen.

Bowling

The Sydenham Bowling Club Scotch Doubles have been completed. The "Two Jacks" - Cowbrough and English won the trophy event, and certainly deserved their well-earned victory, as their bowling was consistent and steady throughout the tournament. The consolation was won by Messrs. J. Osborne and I. D. Scruton and their victory certainly was worthy of their playing. They were only beaten once and that by an extra end by the winners of the trophy event. It is possible that the winners of the two events may play off for the club honors, as many of the other rinks would like to see another game between the two pairs. After the tournament the prizes were presented at an enthusiastic meeting of the club. It was decided to start at once to improve the grounds and next season the officers claim they will have a green unsurpassed in the city. @ Committees were empowered to push the work to completion. When they are through four first class rinks will be available. The club is in a flourishing condition and have had a good year.

Postmaster Raymond: "Many applications have been made at the general delivery window for unclaimed letters, a list of which the Courier publishes each day. The letters otherwise would have remained unclaimed owing to insufficient or incorrect addresses."

Ald. Spence: "Provision, adequate and healthy, must certainly be made for all children of school age, but it is the opinion of many that too much money is being spent on beautiful architecture rather than utility."

Cranlock finished first, leading Bro. W. Page by one point. It is also the intention of the committee to have an open whist drive, around Xmas. This is a very popular form of entertainment amongst Old Country men.
