CARNEGIE'S CURES

Ritchest Man en Earth Cannot Digest

How many people have envied Andrew Carnegie retiring from the strife of business with a fortune so colossal that he may scatter millions in charity and feel it no more than the average man feels the bestowal of as many coppers? And yet the multi-millionaire himself declares he is not to be envied. He is unhappy. "I am sixty years old and cannot digest my food, e says.

The German poet tells us the story of Faust the old man who sold his immortal soul to the devil for the gift of youth and health. Andrew Carne-gie, rich, poweful, envied, states he would make Faust's bargain if he could. He cannot digest his food. Dyspepsia, more than any other dis ase disgusts a man with life. It bitters him, destroys his joy in livng, makes him see the world through smoked glasses. What good is life to Andrew Carnegie, what is the use of all of his millions, He cannot digest his food.

Dodd's :Dyspepsia Tablets would help Andrew Carnegie. They would beyond question insure the digestion of his food. Thousands and thousands of people in this country have found the blessing of regained health through Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Hundreds of thousands in the United States have done the same. In Great Britain though Dodd's Death Period Tablets. Britain, 'hough Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have only been introduced a couple of years, they have already broken through the prejudice of the Englishman against new things as far as the mass of people are concerned. It is a strange paradox that Andrew Carne-gie, with all his wealth fails to find what so many poorer countrymen have discovered-the value of Dodd's Dys-

Meanwhile the Chatham the Maple City citizens. They loudly applauded the efforts of the players and responded nobly when the hat was passed around for the collection.

The game commenced at 4 o'clock, and lasted for 95 minutes. At the first face-off the ball was kept pretty much at the Chatham goal. The Blenheim boys were evidently in the pink of condition and "played all around" the Chatham boys during the first 20 minutes of the game. At the end of the first half the prospects for the Chatham boys were not the brightest. Baird had succeeded in scoring one goal for Blenheim, and if it had not been for the excellent work of Newman in the Chatham goal the score would have been much larger in favor

During the second half, however, the Chatham boys livened up to the game, and owing to the splendid work of Summers, McLeod and Wilson they succeeded in scoring a couple of goals During this half the ball was secured by the Chatham players and after some beautiful combination work by home players, the ball was passed to Wilson, who sent it twirling towards the Blenheim goal. Mercer, the goal umpire, immediately threw up his hand, and pronounced a score. W. Henry, the field captain of the Kents, directly the score of the Kents, the state of the kents, the kents of the kents, the kents of the kents, the kents of t disputed the decision and appealed to the referee who decided in favor of the the Blenheim boys. If this goal had been allowed the score would have stood 3—2 in favor of Chatham. Shortly after this, during the last half of the game, Burke sent a liner through the Chatham goal. This was the last goal made during the game leaving the

The Blenheim club have a good swift team and their playing yesterday was the result of hard and continued practice. Those who distinguished themselves by their clever playing were Knight, Clements, Gibson, Burke, Gray, Baird and Shill lington. The others, while they did phenominal playing, also deserve a great deal of credit. Elliott, Jahnke, Newman and Wilson were the stars in the Chatham team. The rest of the players, however, are mostly beginners and have not had the practice that the Blenheim boys have had. The general opinion of the lacrosse' "cranks," who witnessed the game is that Chatham has possibly a better team than Blenheim. What they lack s experience and practice in combination work. Fetterly, who played cov-er point for Chatham, played a very even gane. He was severely handicap ped, however, by a badly injured leg, the result of an accident while practic ing a few nights ago. Two of the beginners, Sowerby and Summers, showed up well, when the fact that this was their first game, is taken into consideration. Both give promse of becoming stars before the season is over. W, Gerow, of Blenheim, refereed the game to the satisfaction of every one concerned. In fact, the game yester day was one of the cleanest ever play ed in Chatham. It was free from any quarrelling or ill-will among the play ers, which so often mars the lacross games played here. W. Henry seted as field captain for Blenheim, and J. D. McNab filled the same position for Chatham. "Mac." is a thorough lacrosse player and helped the Chatham boys very much in their playing. The Chatham club will play in Blenneim, as a return match next Tues The next game here will be week from to-day, when the opposing teams will be Chatham and Detroit. To Mr. and Mrs. Walker

Dear Friends,-We are assembled here to-day to wish you very much joy and to pray that each of you may be long spared to enjoy your beautiful home with all that combines to make life pleasant.

Honored and respected Sir,-We who have known you best and longest have not lost sight of your many sterling qualities.

The kind, considerate treatment, which we have ever received at your hands during the many years in which we have been associated together in our various capacities as employees of the Kent Mills, and your policy of ruling through kindness, have been fully appreciated and endorsed by us. Your wise and generous administra-tion has had the effect of making every man a willing co-worker with yourself for the advancement of the ousiness which we all love.

The many kindnesses shown to us by you, Sir, have woven around our hearts, an affection for you and yours which time cannot efface.

When any of us were ill, we soon sew your stalwart form by his bedside with words of encouragement and an earnest solicitude for his recovery. Should there be trouble in our midst, we feel that we have in the person of our model manager, an in-terested and ever willing ally, with wise counsel ready at hand to assist

These and many other noble traits of character and deeds have endear-ed you to us and, Sir, in view of the very friendly relations existing between us, we have ventured to be-lieve that you and your esteemed lady, Mrs. Walker, will be pleased to accept from our hands, this silver tea service

There is more catarrh in this sec tion of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incur-able. For a great many years doc-tors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in loses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. of duliness. In its 160 pages of stories, verses and witticisms there are surprises and delights for the most blase reader. The August number op-ens with a novelette of remarkable power and originality, entitled "Miss Sylvester's Marriage," written by Ce-cil Charles. Miss Sylvester, the niece of a society leader in New York, has some of the wild blood of the South American Spaniard in her veins, and she is fascinated by Count Geraldina. a daring adventurer, who claims to be worth millions as the beneficiary of a pearl fishery concession. The story of their sensational marriage and its strange results is told with great

MASONIC EVENT

H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught In stalled as Grand Master of England -Lanada Represented.

London, July 17 .- In the Royal Albert Hall to-day, His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught was installed as Grand Master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of England, in the presence of a great throng of brethren, who occupied seats in the auditorium and the galleries of this celebrated building. It was a magnificent sight, and one that is rarely witnessed, for it is only the fifth ceremony of the kind that has taken place in England since the beginning of last century. Thousands of Masons—and none below the rank of past master, master or senior war-den were allowed to attend in full re-galia—filled ever seat in the vest hall, and the sight was one that will never be forgotten by those who enjoyed the honor of being present.

The office of Grand Master had been held by the Prince of Wales since 1874. When he ascended the throne of Eng-land, then his brother, the Duke of Connaught, was chosen for this mos

Connaught, was chosen for this most exalted position.

The Grand Lodge of Canada, now in session at Hamilton, sent greetings, and when the cable was read this morning, the fraternal enthusiasm was unbounded, and the sentiments of the brethren across the Atlantic were cordially received. The Earl of Amherst, Pro-Grand Master, received R. W. Bro. G. W. Bennett, representative from the Grand Lodge of Canada, and presented him te the assemblage. The Smart Set can never be accused He was given a distinctive seat on the stage along with the officers of the Grand Lodge and the distinguished representatives and he was also honor ed with a special line in the program of proceedings, and was place with Ireland and Scotland in the royal procession. Every mention of Canada by the speaker brought forth repeated cheers, and the premier colony of the Empire occupied a foremost place in the ceremony,
