The Eye of a Giraffe. Giraffes are the most difficult of all animals to take by surprise. No matter from what direction you may approach the giraffe is sure to discover you. It has been called the original "rubberneck." It is not generally known that nature, because of the height of its eyes from the ground, has supplied it with a talent peculiarly its own for making observations. As a matter of fact, a giraffe can see in all directions at the same time with-SOUSTON, STONE & SOANE—Barristers, Solicitors, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc. Private fends to loan at lowest current rates. FOOLS USE WASHES AND SNUFF,

Thinking perhaps they will cure Ca-tarch,—but no one ever heard of a genuine cure following such senseless treatments. There is just one prompt and thorough cure for Catarrh, and it is fragrant, healing Catarrhozone, which goes Mght to the root of the trouble. It destroys the germs, heals the inflammed membranes and cures any case no matter how obstinate or long standing. I experimented for years with Catarrh remedies, but, found Catarrhozone the most rational and satisfactory," writes W. J. Mc-Eachern, of Waterville. "It cured me for all time." For a sure cure use only Catarrhozone. Complete outfit, §1.00; trial size 25c.

DIANA AND THE WHALE.

Latter, 36 Feet Long, Impaled on Ship's Ram and Slowed Her Down Very Noticeably.

A recent number of The Daily Graphic, from which the accompanying illustration is taken, says: When between Malta and Gibraltar on her way home to pay off, H.M.S. Diana struck a large whale, some sixty feet in length. The impact was not felt, but the officer of the watch noticed, on taking bearings of an island which the ship was passing, that she paled on the ship's ram, and was just appearing above water. The ship was stopped and the engines were reversed, and as she went astern the whale dropped off. A similar occurrence was recorded in The Daily Graphic in 1890, when H.M.S. Immortalite ran into a whale off the coast of Portugal while on her way to England. On that occasion collision between the ship and whale was distinctly felt.

The Death of Verestchagh

Vassili Verestchagin, the Russland was painter, perished in the Petropavlovsk disaster at Port Arthur.

M. V. Verestchagin, the distinguished painter, was a native of Novegorod, and was born in 1842. In 1859 he entered the navy, but soom gave it up to devote himself to art. When only 18 he won the silver medal for his "Lovers of Penelope Slain by Ulvsses." and then went to Parent March 1862. In 1863 and then went to Parent March 1864. Dress in the Commons.

There is one point about the House of Commons that strikes an occasional visitor afresh every session, and that is the well groomed appearance of the members. Taking it all in all, the House is probably the best dressed assembly in the world. In the Canadian it is just the other way about. The ordinary costume is a long and very loose frock coat, a low cut waistcoat, a turned down collar, a white bow and a derby or eit hat. At first glance you might easily take the Canadian Commons for an assembly of dissenting ministers.—London Chronicle.

HIS LAST HOPE BEALIZED.

(From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.) In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this pa-per was among the many seekers af-ter fortuns who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards his camping upon his ctain, he encoun-tered much bad water, which, togethtered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to cheek, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure and he cannot help but feel grateful. The meason for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by All Druggists.

The Sea of Space. The human mind cannot comprehend what is meant by the four little words n the expression "the sea of space. If the volume of "space" included with in our solar system—which is perhaps but a single train of planets among hundreds of millions of a similar kind —were occupied by one single globe 5,600,000,000 miles in diameter it would be but as a feather in the marvelous spread of "vacancy" surrounding it. In fact, it has been calculated that in the space occupied by our solar sys tem 2,700,000.000,000,000 globes the size of our earth could revolve, each at a distance of 500,000 miles from the other.

Curious Bread Law.

There is a curious provision in the British bread acts of 1822 and 1836, which are still in force, to the effect that "every person who shall make for sale or sell or expose for sale any bread made wholly or partially of peas or beans or potatoes or of any sort of corn or grain other than wheat shall cause all such bread to be marked with a large Roman 'M.' " It would thus appear that the baker who chooses to put potatoes in his bread could escape the charge of adulteration by marking the loaf with this letter in the manner described.

FRAUD ORDERS.

The Way the Postoffice Deals With Attempts to Swindle.
When a business concern in the United States begins suddenly to receive a large number of letters daily it may be sure that, although no ripple has dis-turbed the surface, a quiet investiga-tion is going on, and if there is any-thing dishonest about the business a notice will soon appear from the postmaster to the effect that the department at Washington has ordered the retention of all letters addressed to that man or company.

The dishonesty which is held to jus-tify the issuing of a fraud order may not be a mere barefaced attempt to steal-an effort to get something for nothing. The charging of an excessive profit or misleading advertising has called forth such an order. A recent case in point is that of a company which advertised to furnish seed for an agricultural product and to buy the product at market prices. The order against the company was issued because it was learned that it sold in small quantities for a total of $600 seed which it bought in bulk for $3 and because it represented the product as easy to raise, when, in fact, it is difficult.

This fearless attitude and action of the government are of the greatest possible benefit to the country at large in two ways. It checks-indeed, it stops absolutely—one kind of fraud, and it protects innocent persons from loss through that fraud. The thing on which stress should be laid is the availability of this strong arm of pro-

There is always a large number of fraudulent schemes afloat, dependent upon the publicity which they get through advertising. When one's attention is attracted by such an adverdisement he has only to call the attenhim to notify the department at Wash ington. To do this in every suspicious case is a duty which every honest man owes to his neighbor as well as to himself.—Youth's Companion.

It is predicted that within a few generations the race of native Hawaiians will become extinct.

The main causes, as set forth by Lucien C. Warner in the Outlook, are intermarriage and the poor state of health of the pure bloods. Their total number has been reduced from 70,000 in 1853 to less than 30,000 in 1900. Marriages between the Hawaiians and other races are quite frequent, and the number of part Hawaiians as steadily increasing. In 1872 the census gave but 1,487 part Hawaiians. In 1884 they had increased to 4,218 and in 1990 to 7,848. The larger proportion of children among the part Hawaiians is indicated by the statistics of school attendance, which in 1902 showed 4,903 full blooded Hawaiian children to a total population of 29,787 and 2,869 part Hawaiian children to a population of 7.848. In other words, the proportion of children is twice as great among the part Hawaiians as among those of pure blood.

The Juggernaut. William Eleroy Curtis, the newspaper correspondent, says that the stories of fanatics in India throwing themselves under the wheels of the Jugger-naut are all fiction. He says that on certain holy days the great Jugger-naut is put on a truck and drawn through the streets. The people flock around, throwing rice, flowers, palm leaves, bamboo whisps and other offerings, and once in awhile an unfortunate falls under the wheels an is crushed. The official records show only nine such accidents in eightysix years. So worshiping the Jugger-naut is less dangerous than trying to board a moving trolley car.

The Cork Grop. The production of cork in Spain is estimated at 28,450,716 pounds, that of Portugal at 32,515,104 pounds, Algeria and other cork producing countries to-gether about 20,321,940 pounds, making the world's total annual cork production 81,287,70 pounds. The export of raw cork from Spain in 1902 amounted to 9,664,966 pounds and for the first eleven months of 1903 to 8,723,602 pounds. The export of manufactured corks from Spain in 1902 amounted to 4,369,698 pounds, valued at $4,445,700.

A curious lamp has been constructed by a professor. A glass globe placed on a metal stand is nearly filled with a liquid composed of luminous marine microbes. There are two tubes running from the globe, and through these a supply of air can be sent to the inte rior when the light grows dull, the effect apparently being to revivify the microbes. The light from this lamp will last for several weeks without renewal of the illuminating medium.

Trolley Cars and Appendicitis.

A New Jersey doctor, Thomas W. Lauterborn, says that trolley cars are responsible for appendicitis. He says they make us lazy, that we ride when we should walk and thus develop the disease through the abdominal muscles not being actively exercised. He says that if the human animal wants to conserve his strength and preserve his health let him walk and let him be careful to keep the abdominal muscles strong and the intestinal muscles active.
