AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

—Live geese are regularly shipped from Prince Edward Island to the New England markets.

—It is computed that this year's crop of wheat in the Maritime Provinces would fill 2,078,571 miles, or two-thirds of the way around the world.

—No fears of a wheat blockade are anticipated on the Canadian Pacific this season. The Company has 3,000 cars, nearly double the number used last season.

—Major Bedson, warden of the Manitoba penitentiary, has sold his herd of buffalo to Kansas ranchmen for $18,000, and will be shipped there immediately. This is the only herd on the continent.

—Tomato vinegar is patented in England. It is made by reducing ripe tomatoes to pulp, steeping the pulp in water twenty-four hours, then drawing off the liquid, adding sugar and allowing it to ferment.

—The effect of the recent Chicago wheat deal has been to practically stop the export of that grain from Atlantic ports, while at the same time the shipment of wheat from the Pacific coast has largely increased.

—The American Analyst states that much of the so-called ivory now in use is simply potato. A sound potato washed in diluted sulphuric acid, then boiled in the same solution and slowly dried, will produce the style of old Italian and Dutch gardeners with everything in straight lines, terraces, balustrades, and all.

—A revolution is rumbling in English landscape gardening. There is a movement to abolish the irregular features of casual lawns, flower beds, and shrubberies, and to establish the style of old Italian and Dutch gardeners with everything in straight lines, terraces, balustrades, and all.

St. Joseph's College Notes.

In entering upon the term of '88, St. Joseph's College has seen in the number of students in attendance additional testimonies of the success which she has justly gained. The number enrolled is now 170, and each day brings its arrivals. The grand celebration which commemorated the centenary of the arrival of the first settlers in the Maritime Provinces in particular, has been brought to consider more closely the means of education which she holds out to all, and to justly appreciate the gigantic efforts she makes in training the young spirit of the land. Having lived through the years when religious and political difficulties were rife, her progressive course is now easy.

Sports.—Base ball is the predominant game among St. Joseph's students. The players of last year won for themselves a splendid record, and by their successors, who are perhaps not their equals, are kept in being creditably sustained. Football gets only a secondary consideration, and hand ball is played in the shorter recesses.

The principal feature in last vacation's improvements on the College grounds is the new Gymnasium. The building is 70x40, with a large hall—court at one end, it is situated on the south-west side of the main college building. The interior, one end of the hall is off, and contains two apartments—a reading-room, and billiard hall. The former apartment is furnished with nearly all the principal news journals of the Provinces, and among them the Post figures and is appreciated. The reading room, where students, are there open for perusal and every literary taste can be there satisfied. The remaining and larger part is occupied by the gymnasium proper, around the wall, about fifteen feet from the floor, is a gallery which serves as a place for spectators and a walk. All the instruments adapted to the physical development of the body are found in the building and their uses are being well taught by Mr. Harry A. Sheffield of Mt. Allison College. The construction of this gymnasium is principally due to the persevering efforts of Rev. Father Cormier, C. S. C.

Pugwash.
—The American House has changed proprietors, it is managed and run by John Cordell, who will attend to the wants of the travelling public as well as constant boarders.

—We have been having a disagreeable season for gathering in farm crops, and the farmers must necessarily suffer considerable in damaged hay, unripe grain and rotten potatoes.

—The extreme wet weather has also been an impediment to good progress on the O. & N. G. Railway, nevertheless they are getting on very well with the main part of the work, but there is some delay and difficulty in connection with the sustaining bog holes. The Pugwash Branch is advancing towards completion. The Govt. wharf and approaches thereto are about completed and hopes are entertained that the sort of the iron here will be heard here this fall. The Coal company's wharves are to be built during the winter, and the coal is to be shipped here next summer.

A Wonderful Cow.

Shadeland Bawn, a Holstein cow, owned at "Shadeland," Springboro, Pa., has eclipsed the milk and butter record for her class. From June 6 to July 6, inclusive (31 days), she produced 125 pounds, 12 ounces of unsalted butter, which places her at the head of all known records for that time. The butter was made from 1,722 pounds of milk. For this it took only 14.09 pounds of milk for a pound of butter. The average for the whole time was over 4 pounds per day. For seven consecutive days she produced 31 pounds, 15 ounces, or an average of 4 pounds, 31 ounces per day; and during that week she gave 4004 pounds of milk, and it took only 12.51 pounds of milk for a pound of butter; and for four consecutive days her milk made 19 pounds, 1 ounce of butter, while for two days she lacked only 2 ounces of butter per day for that time. The 19 pounds, 1 ounce of butter were made from 219 pounds of milk, which shows that it took only 11.18 pounds of milk for a pound of butter; while for two days she lacked only 2 ounces of butter per day for that time. The above record is simply wonderful, but it would have been far more satisfactory had the daily rations been given, that one might know what the milk cost per quart, and butter per pound. In all these tests the vital question is not of production, but of relative cost. What is wanted is the creature that will produce most at least expense. True value is in proportion to cost of production.—Maine Farmer.

Books for the Blind.

The following books, printed in embossed point characters, have been recently added to the Free Circulating Library in connection with the Halifax School for the Blind:—

Whittier's Poems (Selected).
The Talmud.
Ivanhoe.
Macbeth.
Hamlet.
Merchant of Venice.
Coleridge's Ancient Mariner, and Hymn Before Service.
Our Father's Care, (Mrs. Sewell).
Pilgrim's Progress.
The Roman Emperors and Christianity.
Migration of Races, Ostrogots, Visigoths, and the Huns.
Macaulay's Poems (Selected).
Byron's Poems (Selected).
Tennyson's Poems (Selected).
Longfellow's Short Poems.
The Help at Hand, (Mrs. Sewell).
The Ten Commandments.
New Testament, 9 Vols.

These books are circulated among the graduates of the Institution in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, P. E. Island, and Newfoundland; they are also distributed to those persons who have lost their sight after having reached years of maturity, and who have learned to read at home. Many an hour that would otherwise be tedious has been pleasantly and profitably spent in the reading of these books, in some instances by persons upwards of sixty years of age.

The friends of the blind throughout the Maritime Provinces should keep this Library in mind, and when its advantages can be extended to any person deprived of sight, an opportunity should be taken to send the Librarian of the Halifax School for the Blind, for a list of the books in the circulating Library, and a copy of the regulations governing their distribution.

The Problem of a Flying-Machine.

We must admit that a bird is an incomparable model of a flying-machine. No machine that we have yet devised, for the same weight of machine, fuel, and directing brain, is half so effective. And yet, this machine, thus perfected through infinite ages by a ruthless process of natural selection, reaches its limit of weight at about fifty pounds; I said, "weight of machine, fuel, and directing brain." Here is another prodigious advantage of the natural over the artificial machine. The flying animal is its own engineer, the flying-machine must carry its engineer. The directing engineer in the former (the bird) is perhaps an ounce, in the latter it is one hundred and fifty pounds. The limit of the flying animal is fifty pounds. The smallest possible weight of a flying-machine, with its necessary fuel and engineer, even without freight or passengers, could not be less than three or four hundred pounds.

Now, to complete the argument, put these three insuperable facts together: 1. There is a low limit of weight, certainly not much beyond fifty pounds, beyond which it is impossible for an animal to fly. Nature has reached this limit, and with her utmost effort has failed to pass it. 2. The animal machine is far more effective than any we may hope to make; therefore the limit of the weight of a successful flying-machine can not be more than fifty pounds. 3. The weight of any machine constructed for flying, including fuel and engineer, can not be less than three or four hundred pounds. It is not demonstrated that a true flying machine, self-propelling, self-sustaining, self-directing, is physically impossible.—By Prof. Joseph La Cour, in the Popular Science Monthly for November.

About Christopher Columbus.

In regard to Christopher Columbus the United States consul at San Domingo explains that it was with the most respectful intentions, and not in the last spirit of levity or irreverence, that he proposed to disinter the corpse of Columbus and exhibit it through the United States at so much as a head. Columbus was to be accompanied by eight Dominican soldiers in showy uniforms and by four priests in canonical vestments, and the coffin was also to be shown in proof of the authenticity of the exhibit. The Government of San Domingo was to be guaranteed at least twenty thousand dollars as its share of the receipts. It would certainly have been an extraordinary spectacle to see the remains of the discoverer of America carried up and down the country for the inquisitive people to stare at. London has its Museum Tuscanum and New York its Eden Musee, where wax-work representations of the great and the grotesque are to be seen. But it is evident to the most casual observer that the genuine remains of a great character like Christopher Columbus, properly labelled and put on view, would cast all mere wax-work figures in the shade. It is nearly four hundred years since Christopher Columbus, in his efforts to reach a back door to India, which he thought he could do by going round the world, bumped against the front door of America. It would be a poor compliment to him at this late day, to four hundred years of peace in his grave, to dig him up, ship him to America and exhibit what remains of his poor frame at twenty-five cents a head. No one but an enterprising Yankee, bent on making money, would have thought of such a thing, but unfortunately for the speculation and all concerned in it, the San Domingo Government utterly refused to have anything to do with the proposal, declaring that it would be a "painful spectacle" and a "shameful profanation." And so indeed it would. Christopher Columbus did enough for America when he discovered it, and he being exhibited about the country as if he were an Egyptian mummy or a woolly horse.

The Popular Science Monthly for November, 1888.

The November number of "The Popular Science Monthly" deals with many subjects of live and substantial interest. The first article is on "The Effect of Protection," by Charles S. Ashley. "Altruism, Economically Considered," by Charles W. Simley, is a vigorous indictment of those altruists who are too lazy to judge judiciously, and who subsequently exert a bad influence upon the poor. Mr. W. J. McGee tells what is known about the earliest inhabitants of America, in an entitled article, "Palaeolithic Man in America," by Sir John Lubbock, who shows that there may be colors, sounds, and even unknown sensations in the past, which we cannot see, hear, or feel; and another, "Man, Family, Life and Religion," by J. K. Goodrich, the third paper on Man, contains an interesting sketch of "The Earliest Man," by Prof. S. S. Shaler, who contributes an account of "Habitat of the Great Southern Toros," dealing especially with the underground work of this creature. In "Every-day Life of Indian Women," Captain K. C. Temple tells of many curious and strange and almost incredible to the Western world. "The Problem of a Flying-Machine" is stated by Prof. Joseph La Cour, who maintains that a true flying-machine, self-sustaining, and self-propelling, is physically impossible. Every one who knows what habits, occupations, diet, and physique are most conducive to long life, should read the article on "The Prolongation of Human Life," by C. M. Hammond, who has collected information on these points from several thousand persons. Some curious observations on "Sun-Power and Growth" are described by Julius Stinde, and Dr. Oswald contributes one of his inimitable sketches about "Four Handicappers." A portrait is given of Edward Atkinson, with an account of his life, and his work in economic science. The department of choice bits of scientific knowledge.

Behind the Bar.

The roses bloom in the garden;
The bee comes wooing the flowers;
The song-bird pipes to his nest-mate,
On through all the golden hours.
The breeze is freighted with fragrance
From forest, and field, and lea;
But youth has fled,
And hope has died,
So what is it all to me?
The bluebird rocks on the tree-tops,
Free as the summer air,
Sings and sways and warbles,
With never a dither of care;
Memories never haunt him,
No thought of the morrow has he;
But the guarded wall,
Like a somber pall,
Overshadows it all for me.
I sit in the glowing twilight,
And gaze on the evening sky,
On through all the golden hours,
That await the hill-top fly,
Till the diamond eyes of heaven
Look down on the bond and the free;
But I see the stars
Through the prison bars—
So what is it all to me?
Ah! the flowers have lost their perfume,
The summer breezes are chill,
The bees are hushed but glutinous,
And harsh the song-bird's trill;
For the mighty voice of nature,
Of earth, or heaven, or sea,
Have naught of cheer
For the convict's ear—
What—what are they all to me?

A Canadian Jailor gives his Thirty Years' Experience.

Mr. A. Lang, jailor at Barrie, Ont., Canada, writes to the Globe as follows:—"Drunkenness is the sin of the world. Thirty years ago on the first of last December I took possession of this jail. My experience is that eighteen-twentieths of our jail population during that period found their way there through using the poison vendued by what is now misnamed the Licensed Victuallers' Association. To talk about building houses for the drunkards' widows and orphan children sounds like an empty echo, while the law licenses men to make the poison, licenses men to sell the poison, licenses men and women to drink the poison till they become insane and commit crime, and then license judges and magistrates to send them to prisons or the gallows. Yes, first make men drunkards and ruin them, and then the country to build houses for the widows and orphans all manufactured by law, and finished up by employing keepers to oversee them. Why, sir, if it was possible next week to sweep off from the face of our continent the whole of those streams of liquid death and moral destruction, I would regard that in twelve months the Toronto jail would hold every prisoner in Ontario, thus doing away with thirty-eight jails and eight lockups, with a saving to the country of over one hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year. I would add to that the amount of prisoners' time saved—it would rise to ten times the amount in our province. And in three years more there would not be a pauper child in our country. Every man and woman would be clothed, and in their right mind, and their children would grow up to fill respectable positions, instead of finding their way into jails, reformatories and penitentiaries. Then we would have peace within our borders and prosperity within our homes."

Lighting a Cigar with a Lump of Ice.

(From the Washington Star.)

Yesterday a prominent New York lawyer arrived in Washington for a consultation with an attorney of this city regarding some patent cases. During the conversation a match to light a cigar was lacking; and the Washingtonian remarked that a piece of ice would do. The New Yorker laughed and was unrepentant, and a wager of a champagne supper was made. The Washingtonian took a piece of clear ice about an inch thick from the water cooler, whittled it into the shape of a disk, and with the palms of his hands melted the two sides convex, thus giving it the form of a double-convex lens or burning glass. With it he focused the sun's rays on the end of his cigar, thus lighting the cigar, whittled the palm of his New Yorker, who promptly paid the bet.

—The National Horse Show, at New York, will open November 5th and will continue for six days. The prizes amount to over $15,000.
