ELECTRO-DECORPOSITION OF WATER.-Two, voltameters traversed by the same current services different quantities of gas, if one contain activalited water with elec-rodes of platinum wirs, and other only pure what with electrodes of considerable "see. Coucault, to explain this phenome-non, supposes that liquids transmit electri-city in two manners-by physical conducti-bility, which is suffared without decomposi-tion; and by chemical conductibility, which reconsidering the same phenomenon, that the decomposition of water is a more con-plex process than is ordinarily supposed. the decomposition of water is a more com-plex process than is ordinarily supposed. The full volume of hydrogen is very zarely obtained, and either gas may be obtained in excess by changing the size of the elec-trodes. Electrodes with a large surface, whether positive or anguitoe, evolve less gas than fine slender wires. As one only of the elements of water is obtained by a dissymmetrical voltameter, it must be adgas than fine siender wires. As one only of the elements of water is obtained by a dissymmetrical voltanister, it must be ad-mitted that the one which is not disengaged must combine with the liquid or become condensed on the plates. Henoxyd of hy-drogen is produced when hydrogen alone is evolved, and the hydrogenated liquid produced on the evolution of water posses-ses new properties. The decomposition of water never ensues without some change in the terminal wirse, slow, but continuous. The positive terminal becomes yellow, and then orange; the negative assumes a violet color, "These tints by degrees increase and darken, so that something is evidently depo-sited upon the platinum." These deposits disappear in the air, especially if the platin-um is heated. The negative plate becomes clean in nitric acid, and absorbs gaseous oxygen; the positive is cleansed by deoxcrean in nitric acid, and absorbs gaseous oxygen; the positive is cleansed by deox-ydizing liquids, and absorbs hydrogen. Lastly, if the two terminals are immersed in acidulated water and united by a galvain acidulated water and united by a galva-nometer, they give rise to a current of re-action, which lasts for several days. These properties acquired by the plates deserve particular attention, and may be attributed to condensation of the two gases on their surface. When the discoloration has be-come very intense, the plates continue evolving gas long after the current has ceased. --[London Artisan.

CHINESE SHOPS .- Passing into some genuine. Chinese street I came to the con-clusion that, altogether, Canton presented the most extraordinary sight I ever beheld. The streets are very narrow, and hung about in all directions with signs and advertizements. Every shop has a large upright board on each side of the door, usually painted white, and on it, in red or black letters, is inscribed a list of all the articles sold." Other signs are hung out over the street and some are fixed to poles over the street and some are fixed to poles reaching from one side of the street to the other. Many bore puffing advertisements, such as, . This Old and Established Shop,⁹ &c.; 'The refugent sign. Original Ma-ker of the finest Quality of Caps,' &cc.; Canton Security Banking Establishment;' and; No. Two Prices was a very common notification. The Chinese writing looks very well in this way, and being generally notification. The Chinese writing isons very well in this way; and being generally red letters upon white black, upon red or yellow, and blue upon white, the array of signs had a most gaudy and extraordinary ffect. In addition to this, the shops are all open in front, and a large ornamented paper lantern is hung over the door. The best street, the Regent Street of Canton, was called Ouriosity or Physic street, from the number of curiosity and druggist's shops in it. The former are very attract-ive, and have some curious collections of old bronze and old china, which is always very highly prized by the Chinese, who va-lue any thing that is old and strange, and will give higher prices for old china than we should give in England. Prepared by Dn. C. M. JACKSON, NO. 120 Arch street, Philadelphia. Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States, as the cures attest, in many cases after skilfal physicians had failed. These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids. Possessing great virtues in the rectification of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching powers in weakness and affections of the digestree organs, they are, withal, safe, certain and pleasant. sant.

From inquiry we were persuaded to use it, and must any we found it specific in its action pron diseases of the liver and digestive organ, and the powerful influence it elevers upon nervous prostration, is really surprising. It calms and strengthens the nervee, bringing them into a state of repose, making sleep refreshing. If this medicine was more generally used, we are satisfied there would be less sickness, as from the stomach, liver and nervous system, the great majority of real and imaginary diseases emanate. Have them in a healthy conduction and you can bid definance to epidemice generally. This extraordinary medicine we would advise our friends who are at all indisposed, to give a trial—it will recommend itself. It should, in fact, be in every family. No other medicine can produce evidences of the same merit." For sale wholesale and retail at

Copy of a Letter from Arr. W. Amoon, of the Square, Winchester. To Professor HoLLOWAV, Sir, ---I beg to isform you: that for years i was a sufferer from Chronic Rheumaism, and was often laid up for weeks together by its severe and painful attacks. I tried everything that was recommended, and was attended by one of the most eminent sur-gons in this town, but obtained no relief whatever; and fearing that my health would be estirely broken up, I was induced to go into our County Hospital, where f had the best medical treatment the Institu-tion afforded, all of which proved of no avail, and I came out no better than I went in. I was then ad-vised to try yoar Pills, and by presevering with them was perfectly cured, and enabled to resume up gene-pation, and although a considerable period has shap-ed. To Professor HOLLOWAY, Sir, — I have much pleasure in informing you of most surprising curve of Dropsy, recently effected by your valuable medicines. Captain Jackson, of this place, was efflicted with Dropsy for upwards of eigh-teen mouths, for such an extent that it caused his body and limbs to be much swollen, and water cozed as it were from his skin, so that a daily change of apparel became eccesary; notwithstanding the various reme-dies tried, and the different medical men consulted, all was of no avail, tutil he commenced using your Pills, by which, and a strict attention to the printed directions, he was effectually cured, and his health perfectly re-established. If you doem this worthy of pablicity, you are at liberty to use it.
