demand in Chicago had a stirring ef-lect on speculators in general.

Ohio millers were said to be the principal purchasers of the spot grain said to be 400,000 bushels of No. 2 red winter. Furthermore, Kansas City laid claim to shipping sales of lou. 000 bushels, mostly to go south. In the opinion of many dealers, the big movement of spring wheat to primary markets in the Northwest was at an end, but this view could not be called unanimous, particularly in the last half of the session. As bearing out the contrary idea, the lightness of arrivals today was declared to be due to heavy fog which prevented two roads from bringing in any wheat at all to Minneapolis. Accordingly, prices sag-ged materially from top figures, but tne close was steady.
