Allde's Success in Big Poultry Exh. billon.

Mr. Walter Reid, the well-known worth giving your readers :- hairdresser of Water Street, is receiving congratulations from his ing which he has made in the exhibition of the Fanciers' Association of Indiana, which took place very recently in Indianapolis. The Exhibition is one of the most important seld in the United States, and the judges are eminently qualified men. whose names are familiar to fanciers all over the States. Mr. Reid sent some poultry to the exhibition from this city, and yesterday received a message from the President, Mr. U. R. Fishel, that he ad been successful in winning the following prizes: Third prize for lock, flirst prize for Hen, first and fifth prizes for Cockerels, fifth prize best shaped male, best shaped female and best colored specimen.

This is a very excellent showing and it amply repays Mr. Reid for the trouble taken by him in shipping the birds such a long distance. It may be added that Mr. Reid is an executive member of the local Poultry Association and has been a prominent exhibitor in the local exhibitions.

n e learned physicians turn away from dope and drugs, turn away from old positions, f r'o m their bottles. flasks and jugs. When I used to have conniptions, measles, mumps or other ills, Doc would hand me out prescriptions calling for a peck of pills. Ho would straightway send me bedward, with a trained nurse stern and dour, saying to the latter, "Edward, give him dope eight times an hour." All my bedroom was a litter of old borthes, goblets, spoons, and I swallowed powders bitter till I felt like last year's prunes. It was not till I re- ach's fault. Your stomach is as good volted that I rallied from my ills, not as any. until I up and bolted and went hiding in the hills. Now the doc writes no prescription when I've left my health for the druggist to unwind. "You the liver and carry off the constinamust live," the doc says, 'sanely, if careless habits vainly look to drugeat it slowly, go to bed at 10 oclock, sidestep all the drinks unholy, every morning take, a walk." # Hr. Grace Notes.

The event of the season was the masquerade carnival at the open-air rink last night. The management was particular in reserving the ice for two ticular not to let their friends know what costumes they were wearing. At 8 o'clock the British Band proceeded to the Rink by way of Water Street. playing suitable airs en route. The masqueraders took the ice at & o'clock very pleasing sight, and was witnessed by nearly 1.000 spectators. Some including angels, fairies, saitors, riding hoods, etc. Nick Carter and Marley's Ghost caused much merriment. We were pleased to see some of our friends from Carbonear amon, the participants. The British Band, through its leader, Mr. L. Whitman, kindly volunteered its services, for which the management and the public generally are truly thankful. Mr. James Garland with his fine accordeon kept things lively during the evening. It was rather unfortunate that snow shower took place shortly after the opening hour which caused little discomfort, but not enough i or spectators. Crescents Defeat Victorias In Play Off--A Fast Game--Excitement and Enthusiam Intense--Largest Attendance of Spectators For the Season His Excellency Governor Present.

feat in last night's hockey match, the first time for the season, the result be ing Crescents, 4 goals; Victorias, 3, The attendance of onlookers was unusually large. Crowds gathered around the beards while the galleries vere well filled. Prominent among he audience was His Excellency lovernor Williams, who, on entering he rink was greeted with the rendi-ion of the National Anthem. A meeting of the Crescents and Victorias was eagerly looked forward t nd anticipations were not in vain s from the time the hockeyists jumpd into the arena until the Crescents ecorded their winning goal there was to let up in excitement and enthusism by the supporters of both teams he Vics seemed to be the favourites efore the game started as the Cresents lost R. Stick, their excellent rovr, and this necessitated alterations in heir line up, consequently the result vas a bit of a surprise even to Cres-ent admirers. At 7.30 Referee Pinsent called the cams together. They were comprised as follows:-

THE GAME. As soon as the puck was put in motion the Crescents became aggressive while their opponents put up a stubborn defence. Joy had a try for goal and only missed by a narrow margin. The Vics became stirred up and began hostilities. Their forward line got in some combination work but was not very effective as the back division of the Crescents kept the puck clear of nervousness, nausea, bloating after the danger zone. Joy tried two more of his long drives but Hunt proved equal to each occasion and saved splendidly. Brien took the subber in splendidly. Brien took the subber in move the cause. The Vics forward line brought the puck to Crescents territory where Herder received a blow in the abdomen and had to be brought to the dressing room. After being attended by Dr. Pritchard and after a short rest continued the game as it was only a matter of a few minutes when full time was announced with three goals for each team.

In the play off a lively exhibition was served out to the onlookers. After one minute of play Joy captured the puck and shot. Parsons cleared, but Hutchings was on the spot and scored the winning goal for the Crescents. Mr. E. Pinsent was referee. Messrs. W. J. Martin, J. I. Vinnicombe and C. Ellis were timekcopers.

The game was a hard fought one. The result throws new light on the championship. Come, Feildians, let us see what ye can do.
