

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

MADE IN CANADA

THE WHITEST, LIGHTEST 1 LB.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

CONTAINS NO ALUM

Magic Baking Powder is scientifically made and has never failed to give the maximum leavening efficiency. Because of this and the uniformly satisfactory results obtained by its use, we recommend it as Canada's perfect baking powder.

R. W. GILLET COMPANY LIMITED
WINDSOR, TORONTO, MONTREAL

Under False Colors

OR

Lord Somerton's Ally.

CHAPTER XXV.

He was rapidly drawing on his gloves, and Elsie's heart sank. Her white, anxious face and trembling lips did not touch his adamant heart.

"Then when shall I be able to see you, sir?" she asked.

"See here, my dear," looking doubtfully at her maid, "why not—er—join us—my wife and daughter? Take lunch with us, I mean. They will be delighted to make your acquaintance, and we will attend to your little matter when we return to the office."

He paused in sudden confusion, and reddened to the roots of his hair.

"No, no! I forgot; that will never do," he added. "Perhaps you have friends handy—lady friends? If not, you can occupy my private office. I will send out for some refreshments."

"No, thank you, Mr. Grant."

Elsie spoke haughtily. She could not tell why, but his manner was changed toward her. She felt that it was almost offensive. Why did he invite her to meet his wife and daughter, and then suddenly regret having done so?

"I will remain here, if you will permit me, until your return," she said. "My maid has some purchases to make, and can do her shopping at once."

Mr. Grant seemed relieved, and showed Miss Strone into his private office. He placed before her two or three newspapers, and promised to be back in an hour. The next moment he hustled away, and Elsie gave permission to Annette to enjoy herself in any way she chose until half-past two o'clock.

Mr. Grant came back sooner than he had anticipated, and a flutter of feminine garments in the outer office announced that he was not alone.

He hurried in, hardly troubling to notice Miss Sterne, unlocked a cabinet, from the inner recesses of which he produced his checkbook and rapidly filled in one of the slips.

He handed this to a tall, stony lady, who stepped forward languidly, eyeing the while a little curiously. Behind her was a fashionably-attired young lady, with an exquisite figure, coral lips, and glowing black eyes.

"How rude you are, papa," she said, "not to introduce us to Miss Sterne! Lam sure that it must be Miss Sterne!"

The lawyer frowned, but replied: "Really, I forgot; you ladies drive all thoughts from a man's head except money! Pardon me, Miss Sterne, this is Mrs. Grant, and—er—this is my daughter—my stepdaughter, I should say, Miss Adeline Cleveland!"

My dears, Miss Sterne, Sir John Somerton's only daughter."

Elsie never knew how she acknowledged the introduction, but she never forgot Mr. Grant's reluctance in making it, or the wicked light in Miss Cleveland's eyes.

Miss Adeline Cleveland! How quickly poor Elsie remembered the name! Had it not been branded in vivid characters into her heart by the cruel words of Lord Somerton?

So this was the lady to whom he had referred—the lady to whom Colin Ernescliffe was betrothed! To whom he was indebted for his very success even as an artist.

Elsie took in her bold, brilliant beauty at a glance, her exquisite figure, and Juno-like presence. She was richly attired, but in perfect taste, and, though at first sight she appeared to be almost girlish, her age must have been at least twenty-eight years.

A mutual dislike flashed into the hearts of both, and Elsie never forgot the smile of disdainful, half-veiled contempt with which Miss Cleveland favored her.

"Now, my dears, I have business—important business—with Miss Sterne," Mr. Grant said. "Go and buy your foie-gras, and bring the carriage back for me at four o'clock."

The ladies bowed distantly toward Miss Sterne, and Mr. Grant walked with them into the outer office, talking briskly the while.

Elsie's heart beat into her throat in a way that half-suffocated her. Her hands trembled, and the tramping of busy feet in the court below seemed to be growing less and less distinct.

By a great effort she pulled herself together, murmuring:

"I must not give way. I would not faint here for worlds! I must be brave! Enemies appear to be springing up at every turn! A few weeks since a petted child of fortune; now I am like a hunted animal!"

Despaired of Life at 50 Strong and Well at 70

Mr. Jacob H. Macksey, 336 Midland Ave., Midland, Ont. writes—

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for over 20 years and I feel that I owe my life to them. I suffered severely from rheumatism and heart failure. One doctor just gave me one year to live, and even told me I might be found dead at any time. A neighbor advised Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and I have been using them as needed ever since. I am now 70 years of age, weigh 247 pounds and can work as well as any young man."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills
One pill a dose, 25c a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Boston, U.S.A., Toronto.

Mr. Grant came back, and, flashing one of his odd, keen glances at her, sat down at his table.

"Well, Miss Sterne," he said, quickly. "Now to business. What is it that I can do for you, please?"

CHAPTER XXVI.

The keen eyes of Lawyer Grant had noticed Elsie Sterne's start of surprise when the name of Miss Adeline Cleveland had been spoken, and, partly to relieve the awkwardness of the situation, he made an attempt at explanation.

Though reputedly gift-tongued and ever ready with biting sarcasms or well-turned phrases, sparkling with legal acumen, as the case might warrant, when opposed by the most scathing counsel in the courts of justice, the clever lawyer felt considerable difficulty in facing this sad-faced, lovely girl and obeying the behests of Lord George Somerton.

His conscience was not altogether easy upon the matter, but lawyers are seldom troubled by such obstacles.

He believed that Elsie Sterne was a willful girl, rushing blindly in the face of her friends, and against her best interests. He had been assured of this by the two letters of Lady Helena Freeman, by the sorrowful admissions of the dead rector, and by the actions of Lord Somerton. Sir John had vested too much power in the hands of his daughter; but even when he was hardly responsible for his actions, he had taken the precaution to appoint two guardians—Lawyer Grant and Mr. Vallance—whose concerted authority would check any folly to which Miss Sterne might desire to commit herself.

Instead of equal amounts of ordinary milk or cream, as the canned soap labels read, you use only one-half cup of Libby's Milk and water. That's a saving of practically 33 1/3% over the cost of common milk—a cost only one-seventh that of the cream.

Yet your soup, you'll find, is wonderfully rich and creamy, with a delightful body and flavor.

Within a few days of Sir John's departure, this irresponsible girl had committed the unpardonable sin of entertaining a young gentleman at the Park, and falling in love with him. He was a gentleman, and a man of distinction in the world of art. He was a man with a very promising future, and in every way worthy of even the heiress of Blairwood Park, but Colin Ernescliffe was already betrothed to Mr. Grant's handsome stepdaughter, and Mr. Grant found himself entangled very much in the meshes of a web which had been weaving about others.

The lawyer was an ambitious man. He had originally commenced business in an attic in Grace Church street, and for three or four years subsisted upon what would have starved the life and purpose out of any ordinary man. By working upon the speculation plan known as "half-shares," he gradually made a doubtful practice. But one influential client introduced others; until finally he married the widow of a wealthy stockbroker, and he came one of the most successful lawyers of the day, although some of his schemes were described as "shady."

He it was who had furnished funds to Colin Ernescliffe in the days of his early struggles, when the only mistress of his dreams was fame! He it was who had long been in secret correspondence, through one of his many secret channels, with the man who called himself James Castlemon, and who had stirred up within the heart of Noel Campbell that natural desire to see the man who had murdered his father should be punished. To him Sir John was pictured as the most heartless of men; but the astute and scheming lawyer kept back his ulterior motives. He even threw dust into the eyes of Lord Somerton, and listened with pretended horror to so much as my lord deemed it advisable to tell him concerning Sir John's early life.

It was now his policy to propitiate Somerton in every way. A man who had lately succeeded to an earldom was not to be carelessly played with. It was possible—just possible—that his daughter Adeline might eventually make a conquest of the earl, if she could tear from her heart this mad infatuation which she felt for Colin Ernescliffe. And yet, knowing as much as the lawyer did, the artist would one day be quite as good a match, and all that brought honor and power and wealth to Miss Cleveland, redounded to the credit of her stepfather, Mr. James Grant.

"Can it be, Miss Sterne," he said, looking at a roll of papers tied together with a pink string—"can it be possible that my daughter's name was not unfamiliar to you?"

(To be continued.)

Mr. Grant came back, and, flashing one of his odd, keen glances at her, sat down at his table.

"Well, Miss Sterne," he said, quickly. "Now to business. What is it that I can do for you, please?"

CHAPTER XXVI.

The keen eyes of Lawyer Grant had noticed Elsie Sterne's start of surprise when the name of Miss Adeline Cleveland had been spoken, and, partly to relieve the awkwardness of the situation, he made an attempt at explanation.

Though reputedly gift-tongued and ever ready with biting sarcasms or well-turned phrases, sparkling with legal acumen, as the case might warrant, when opposed by the most scathing counsel in the courts of justice, the clever lawyer felt considerable difficulty in facing this sad-faced, lovely girl and obeying the behests of Lord George Somerton.

His conscience was not altogether easy upon the matter, but lawyers are seldom troubled by such obstacles.

He believed that Elsie Sterne was a willful girl, rushing blindly in the face of her friends, and against her best interests. He had been assured of this by the two letters of Lady Helena Freeman, by the sorrowful admissions of the dead rector, and by the actions of Lord Somerton. Sir John had vested too much power in the hands of his daughter; but even when he was hardly responsible for his actions, he had taken the precaution to appoint two guardians—Lawyer Grant and Mr. Vallance—whose concerted authority would check any folly to which Miss Sterne might desire to commit herself.

Instead of equal amounts of ordinary milk or cream, as the canned soap labels read, you use only one-half cup of Libby's Milk and water. That's a saving of practically 33 1/3% over the cost of common milk—a cost only one-seventh that of the cream.

Yet your soup, you'll find, is wonderfully rich and creamy, with a delightful body and flavor.

Touting for Wives

WIVES OF THE MATRIMONIAL AGENT.

"I was introduced to my husband by a matrimonial agent," said a woman in the Divorce Court recently, "and," she added, "I have regretted it with scalding tears."

The speaker, who was the petitioner in a suit for divorce, met the matrimonial agent at a fashionable hotel in the North of England. The man was perfectly frank about his business, and said that, for a certain consideration, he would introduce a man of excellent position who wanted to meet a suitable partner for life.

Intrigue and Trickery.

The consideration was forthcoming, the introduction arranged, and marriage followed. Within six months the wife filed a petition for divorce and won her case. Her views on the subject of matrimonial agents are emphatic.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulders, and the dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."

Mrs. EDGAR SIMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MINARD'S LIMENT FOR BATHS

DEUFF.

A better way to cream canned soup

—at a third less cost than even ordinary milk!

7 1/2 teaspoons of butter fat in every 16 oz. can

Nothing is added to it; none of its food values taken away. We just seal it in air-tight cans and sterilize it, for only so can we bring it safely to you who live, perhaps, many hundreds of miles away.

The milk that good cooks use. Order a can of this richer milk for your grocery today. Try it tonight in place of ordinary milk—in the Cream of Tomato recipe given above, in a gravy or sauce, or in your favorite dessert.

You'll see at once why Libby's Milk has become the regular choice of good cooks everywhere. You'll want it for all your cooking, not only because it gives greater richness and finer flavor but because it's so convenient and economical to use.

Write for free recipe folders. Upon request we'll gladly send you copies of some new folders containing many excellent recipes sent us by good cooks who use Libby's Milk. Write today.

Libby, McNeill & Libby
100 Duckworth Street, St. John's, N. F.

Libby's MILK

The milk that good cooks use

7 1/2 teaspoons of butter fat in every can

Libby's Milk gives greater richness to cooking for the same reason that cream and butter do: it is rich in butter fat. There are, in fact, 7 1/2 teaspoons of this enriching substance in every 16 oz. can of Libby's Milk!

"From famous pasture lands"

For, unlike ordinary milk, Libby's Milk comes only from selected herds in the finest dairy sections of the country—those favored localities where nature has made of shady hills and green, well watered meadows ideal pasture lands, and where men specialize in raising cows that give exceptionally rich milk.

Not only that. At our condenseries in the heart of these famous dairy sections, we remove more than half the moisture from this fine milk, making it double rich.

Touting for Wives

WIVES OF THE MATRIMONIAL AGENT.

"I was introduced to my husband by a matrimonial agent," said a woman in the Divorce Court recently, "and," she added, "I have regretted it with scalding tears."

The speaker, who was the petitioner in a suit for divorce, met the matrimonial agent at a fashionable hotel in the North of England. The man was perfectly frank about his business, and said that, for a certain consideration, he would introduce a man of excellent position who wanted to meet a suitable partner for life.

Intrigue and Trickery.

The consideration was forthcoming, the introduction arranged, and marriage followed. Within six months the wife filed a petition for divorce and won her case. Her views on the subject of matrimonial agents are emphatic.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulders, and the dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."

Mrs. EDGAR SIMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MINARD'S LIMENT FOR BATHS

DEUFF.

Touting for Wives

WIVES OF THE MATRIMONIAL AGENT.

"I was introduced to my husband by a matrimonial agent," said a woman in the Divorce Court recently, "and," she added, "I have regretted it with scalding tears."

The speaker, who was the petitioner in a suit for divorce, met the matrimonial agent at a fashionable hotel in the North of England. The man was perfectly frank about his business, and said that, for a certain consideration, he would introduce a man of excellent position who wanted to meet a suitable partner for life.

Intrigue and Trickery.

The consideration was forthcoming, the introduction arranged, and marriage followed. Within six months the wife filed a petition for divorce and won her case. Her views on the subject of matrimonial agents are emphatic.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulders, and the dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."

Mrs. EDGAR SIMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MINARD'S LIMENT FOR BATHS

DEUFF.

Touting for Wives

WIVES OF THE MATRIMONIAL AGENT.

"I was introduced to my husband by a matrimonial agent," said a woman in the Divorce Court recently, "and," she added, "I have regretted it with scalding tears."

The speaker, who was the petitioner in a suit for divorce, met the matrimonial agent at a fashionable hotel in the North of England. The man was perfectly frank about his business, and said that, for a certain consideration, he would introduce a man of excellent position who wanted to meet a suitable partner for life.

Intrigue and Trickery.

The consideration was forthcoming, the introduction arranged, and marriage followed. Within six months the wife filed a petition for divorce and won her case. Her views on the subject of matrimonial agents are emphatic.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulders, and the dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."

Mrs. EDGAR SIMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MINARD'S LIMENT FOR BATHS

DEUFF.

Cream of Tomato Soup

1/2 cup Libby's Evaporated Milk
1 1/2 cups water
1 tablespoon flour
1 can tomato soup
Soda

Blend flour with a small amount of cold water, add remaining water and Libby's Milk. Heat to boiling and cook one minute then add the tomato soup and a pinch of soda. Heat quickly and serve at once.

Why you

HEMATISM

HEMATISM is a disease of the kidneys and the blood. It is caused by the accumulation of uric acid in the blood, and is characterized by rheumatism, gout, and other ailments. It is a common disease, and one that can be cured by the use of the J.J. Strang's Kidney Pills. These pills are made of natural ingredients, and are gentle on the stomach. They are sold in boxes of 50 pills, and cost 50 cents a box. They are available at all drug stores.

Touting for Wives

WIVES OF THE MATRIMONIAL AGENT.

"I was introduced to my husband by a matrimonial agent," said a woman in the Divorce Court recently, "and," she added, "I have regretted it with scalding tears."

The speaker, who was the petitioner in a suit for divorce, met the matrimonial agent at a fashionable hotel in the North of England. The man was perfectly frank about his business, and said that, for a certain consideration, he would introduce a man of excellent position who wanted to meet a suitable partner for life.

Intrigue and Trickery.

The consideration was forthcoming, the introduction arranged, and marriage followed. Within six months the wife filed a petition for divorce and won her case. Her views on the subject of matrimonial agents are emphatic.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulders, and the dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."

Mrs. EDGAR SIMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MINARD'S LIMENT FOR BATHS

DEUFF.

Why you

HEMATISM

HEMATISM is a disease of the kidneys and the blood. It is caused by the accumulation of uric acid in the blood, and is characterized by rheumatism, gout, and other ailments. It is a common disease, and one that can be cured by the use of the J.J. Strang's Kidney Pills. These pills are made of natural ingredients, and are gentle on the stomach. They are sold in boxes of 50 pills, and cost 50 cents a box. They are available at all drug stores.

Touting for Wives

WIVES OF THE MATRIMONIAL AGENT.

"I was introduced to my husband by a matrimonial agent," said a woman in the Divorce Court recently, "and," she added, "I have regretted it with scalding tears."

The speaker, who was the petitioner in a suit for divorce, met the matrimonial agent at a fashionable hotel in the North of England. The man was perfectly frank about his business, and said that, for a certain consideration, he would introduce a man of excellent position who wanted to meet a suitable partner for life.

Intrigue and Trickery.

The consideration was forthcoming, the introduction arranged, and marriage followed. Within six months the wife filed a petition for divorce and won her case. Her views on the subject of matrimonial agents are emphatic.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulders, and the dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."

Mrs. EDGAR SIMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MINARD'S LIMENT FOR BATHS

DEUFF.

Why you

HEMATISM

HEMATISM is a disease of the kidneys and the blood. It is caused by the accumulation of uric acid in the blood, and is characterized by rheumatism, gout, and other ailments. It is a common disease, and one that can be cured by the use of the J.J. Strang's Kidney Pills. These pills are made of natural ingredients, and are gentle on the stomach. They are sold in boxes of 50 pills, and cost 50 cents a box. They are available at all drug stores.

Touting for Wives

WIVES OF THE MATRIMONIAL AGENT.

"I was introduced to my husband by a matrimonial agent," said a woman in the Divorce Court recently, "and," she added, "I have regretted it with scalding tears."

The speaker, who was the petitioner in a suit for divorce, met the matrimonial agent at a fashionable hotel in the North of England. The man was perfectly frank about his business, and said that, for a certain consideration, he would introduce a man of excellent position who wanted to meet a suitable partner for life.

Intrigue and Trickery.

The consideration was forthcoming, the introduction arranged, and marriage followed. Within six months the wife filed a petition for divorce and won her case. Her views on the subject of matrimonial agents are emphatic.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulders, and the dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."

Mrs. EDGAR SIMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MINARD'S LIMENT FOR BATHS

DEUFF.

Why you

HEMATISM

HEMATISM is a disease of the kidneys and the blood. It is caused by the accumulation of uric acid in the blood, and is characterized by rheumatism, gout, and other ailments. It is a common disease, and one that can be cured by the use of the J.J. Strang's Kidney Pills. These pills are made of natural ingredients, and are gentle on the stomach. They are sold in boxes of 50 pills, and cost 50 cents a box. They are available at all drug stores.

Touting for Wives

WIVES OF THE MATRIMONIAL AGENT.

"I was introduced to my husband by a matrimonial agent," said a woman in the Divorce Court recently, "and," she added, "I have regretted it with scalding tears."

The speaker, who was the petitioner in a suit for divorce, met the matrimonial agent at a fashionable hotel in the North of England. The man was perfectly frank about his business, and said that, for a certain consideration, he would introduce a man of excellent position who wanted to meet a suitable partner for life.

Intrigue and Trickery.

The consideration was forthcoming, the introduction arranged, and marriage followed. Within six months the wife filed a petition for divorce and won her case. Her views on the subject of matrimonial agents are emphatic.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulders, and the dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."

Mrs. EDGAR SIMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MINARD'S LIMENT FOR BATHS

DEUFF.

Why you

HEMATISM

HEMATISM is a disease of the kidneys and the blood. It is caused by the accumulation of uric acid in the blood, and is characterized by rheumatism, gout, and other ailments. It is a common disease, and one that can be cured by the use of the J.J. Strang's Kidney Pills. These pills are made of natural ingredients, and are gentle on the stomach. They are sold in boxes of 50 pills, and cost 50 cents a box. They are available at all drug stores.

Touting for Wives

WIVES OF THE MATRIMONIAL AGENT.

"I was introduced to my husband by a matrimonial agent," said a woman in the Divorce Court recently, "and," she added, "I have regretted it with scalding tears."

The speaker, who was the petitioner in a suit for divorce, met the matrimonial agent at a fashionable hotel in the North of England. The man was perfectly frank about his business, and said that, for a certain consideration, he would introduce a man of excellent position who wanted to meet a suitable partner for life.

Intrigue and Trickery.

The consideration was forthcoming, the introduction arranged, and marriage followed. Within six months the wife filed a petition for divorce and won her case. Her views on the subject of matrimonial agents are emphatic.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulders, and the dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."

Mrs. EDGAR SIMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MINARD'S LIMENT FOR BATHS

DEUFF.

Why you

HEMATISM

HEMATISM is a disease of the kidneys and the blood. It is caused by the accumulation of uric acid in the blood, and is characterized by rheumatism, gout, and other ailments. It is a common disease, and one that can be cured by the use of the J.J. Strang's Kidney Pills. These pills are made of natural ingredients, and are gentle on the stomach. They are sold in boxes of 50 pills, and cost 50 cents a box. They are available at all drug stores.

Touting for Wives

WIVES OF THE MATRIMONIAL AGENT.

"I was introduced to my husband by a matrimonial agent," said a woman in the Divorce Court recently, "and," she added, "I have regretted it with scalding tears."

The speaker, who was the petitioner in a suit for divorce, met the matrimonial agent at a fashionable hotel in the North of England. The man was perfectly frank about his business, and said that, for a certain consideration, he would introduce a man of excellent position who wanted to meet a suitable partner for life.

Intrigue and Trickery.

The consideration was forthcoming, the introduction arranged, and marriage followed. Within six months the wife filed a petition for divorce and won her case. Her views on the subject of matrimonial agents are emphatic.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulders, and the dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."

Mrs. EDGAR SIMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MINARD'S LIMENT FOR BATHS

DEUFF.

Why you

HEMATISM

HEMATISM is a disease of the kidneys and the blood. It is caused by the accumulation of uric acid in the blood, and is characterized by rheumatism, gout, and other ailments. It is a common disease, and one that can be cured by the use of the J.J. Strang's Kidney Pills. These pills are made of natural ingredients, and are gentle on the stomach. They are sold in boxes of 50 pills, and cost 50 cents a box. They are available at all drug stores.

Touting for Wives

WIVES OF THE MATRIMONIAL AGENT.

"I was introduced to my husband by a matrimonial agent," said a woman in the Divorce Court recently, "and," she added, "I have regretted it with scalding tears."

The speaker, who was the petitioner in a suit for divorce, met the matrimonial agent at a fashionable hotel in the North of England. The man was perfectly frank about his business, and said that, for a certain consideration, he would introduce a man of excellent position who wanted to meet a suitable partner for life.

Intrigue and Trickery.

The consideration was forthcoming, the introduction arranged, and marriage followed. Within six months the wife filed a petition for divorce and won her case. Her views on the subject of matrimonial agents are emphatic.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulders, and the dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."

Mrs. EDGAR SIMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MINARD'S LIMENT FOR BATHS

DEUFF.

Why you

HEMATISM

HEMATISM is a disease of the kidneys and the blood. It is caused by the accumulation of uric acid in the blood, and is characterized by rheumatism, gout, and other ailments. It is a common disease, and one that can be cured by the use of the J.J. Strang's Kidney Pills. These pills are made of natural ingredients, and are gentle on the stomach. They are sold in boxes of 50 pills, and cost 50 cents a box. They are available at all drug stores.

Touting for Wives