The city commissioners have written City Electrician Brown asking for a statement of cost for illuminating the city hall and the lights across the bridge which were erected in 1908. It is not clear from the statement that it does not cost too much these lights will be lit every Saturday night and on special occasions.

In reply to a communication asking when the C. N. R. would reach Calgary, Secretary Wilson, of the Calgary board of trade, has received a letter from headquarters that work is being rushed on the Calgary-Vancouver line with the possible completion. The grading is already completed, and only the laying of the steel for a matter of about one hundred miles remain to be done to complete the line.

George Moore, residing with his parents at Thirteenth avenue west, collided with a street car yesterday afternoon at the corner of Eighth avenue and First street west. MacLeod, agent at Botha, for district No. 2; and J. Austin, agent at Elkton, for district No. 3.

Yesterday was pay day for Calgary's city employees, a total of $41,958.55 being disbursed. This payment included only those employed at the city hall, street railway employees, electric lighting department, etc.

The next pay day will occur about October 4 or 5, when the laborers will receive a half-month's pay. This payment will approximate $20,000, steady one-half that of last month, and the following will be less owing to the reduction in force during the summer.

The great army of laborers that will pass from the pay rolls of the city during the winter months will find plenty to do, owing to the heavy demand for all classes of labor.

RESTORING THE WAPITI TO WESTERN FORESTS

Biological Survey Transports a Few Animals From the Yellowstone Park

Removing Animals From Old Feeding Ground to Prevent Their Extinction

Washington, September 28.—Restoration to the forests of the Rocky Mountain region of at least a portion of the great herds of elk, which formerly roamed the mountain sides all the way from northern Canada to the Mexican line, is a project which the biological survey of the department of agriculture in conjunction with the United States Forest Service has recently taken up.

Contrary to the accepted belief that the elk of the United States suffered decimation and extermination through slaughter by hunters, white and red, the forest service explains that starvation occasioned by the consumption of the herbivore by the cattle, and, more particularly, by the sheep on the ranges, has been the chief cause of the dying out of the elk.

In Yellowstone park, however, there have been all along several fine herds of elk; also in the regions of Wyoming surrounding Jackson Hole there is a superb herd.

In the summer of 1911, Supervisor Knowles obtained a shipment of elk for the Sun Dance National Forest. The Wichita forester, in western Oklahoma, besought the Washington chiefs of the allied services for a small herd, which were sent him in 1909, and the Wichita herd now numbers twelve.

It is the present intention of the biological survey to fill out each and every request of the forest supervisors wherever favorable opportunity offers. So long as the elkander money supply available, these transfers of elk from their present habitat to the new or sections of the distant west will be effected.

The transportation of the elk is an interesting, as well as an exciting process. The young elk, that is, bucks and does ranging in age from seven months up to two years, are transported into fix of corals and trapped. After the trapping they are rounded up and tied in the instance of the recent transfer from the Yellowstone region to the Sun Dance forest reserve, the journey was made for a considerable portion of the way by pack.

In separate frame cages, were loaded on the sleds and drawn by sturdy mules mile after mile across the hills and prairies to the railway. The favored time for moving the elk is in the early spring. By that time the animals born the preceding spring are stout and strong enough to withstand transportation.

Elk, twenty-five animals made the journey. Four died from injuries sustained by the animals while being hauled from Jackson Hole to St. Anthony, Idaho, where the trans-shipment to the railway was made. One female died a few months later from unhealed fractured ribs, evidently suffered on the railway journey. At Sun Dance the other twenty-one elk are now doing well and happy.

The transference of the elk from the more northern latitudes to the more southern climate of western Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico, it is believed by the biological experts, will result in the rapid propagation of the valuable and desirable game animal.

LOOKS MORE FAVORABLE FOR END OF WAR

Rome, Sept. 27.—The fact that the Turkish government has sent Rechad Pacha to Ouchy to take part in the peace negotiations in progress there between Italian and Turkish delegates revives the hope here that an amicable understanding will be reached. This feeling is the outgrowth of the fact that Rechad Pacha for many years was Turkish ambassador to Italy, and knows the country and its people thoroughly.

WOMAN'S SOCIETIES OF CALGARY TO MEET IN LOCAL COUNCIL

Mrs. O. C. Edwards, Organizer of National Council, Interviewed by Representatives of Several Associations

The organization of a local Council of Women in Calgary will be completed within a month or two. Mrs. O. C. Edwards, vice-president of the National Council of Women, and convenor of the Committee on Laws, was in Calgary yesterday on her way from Edmonton, and was interviewed by representatives of several women's organizations, including the W. C. T. U., the Y. W. C. A., the Women's Canadian Club, and several other societies, and also by several women interested in the formation of a Civic League, regarding the details of Women's Council work.

Mrs. Edwards spent yesterday with the day previous in discussion with local club women, and will probably return in four weeks to call a meeting of these interested.

The possibilities of a local council are of particular interest at present, as the organization of a Civic League is pending, and there has been some apprehension that the two bodies might overlap. The information given by Mrs. Edwards removed this difficulty.

"Civic league work might easily become the most important as well as the most interesting branch of the collective work of a local council," said Mrs. Edwards to The Albertan. "Every woman actively interested in the work of the Civic League committee, and in addition to the individual influence of each of these women, the efforts of the committee would have the collective support of practically every woman's organization in the city."

The National Council of Women puts forth no propaganda, but represents the united aims and objects of the local councils of which it is composed.

"A local council of women is an independent organization representative of the clubs and societies already formed. It adopts its own constitution and elects its own officers, before it becomes affiliated with the National Council. The executive of a local council is not a part of the national committee of laws, but is a committee of laws, has made an exhaustive research of the statutes of each province of the Dominion, and has completed the information in a valuable pamphlet, the 'Legal Status of Canadian Women,' which was published several years ago.

POOR SPORTSMEN SHOOT HUNGARIAN PHEASANTS

Alberta Fish and Game Protective Association Would Prosecute Farmers

Will Ask Government for Appointment of Twelve Special Game Guardians

The Calgary branch of the Alberta Fish and Game Protective Association at a meeting held last night, in the board of trade rooms, decided to appoint six special guardians for the purpose of protecting the Hungarian pheasants, which the local organization imported into this part of the province.

It is the purpose of the association to obtain for these special guardians full constable privileges. Their duties will commence next week at the opening of the prairie chicken season, and men will be stationed at each of the various bridges of the city, in an effort to catch any person who shoots or kills these Hungarian pheasants, which are protected until October 1, 1913.

Most of the danger comes from Calgary people who go out from the city in motor cars or teams. Consequently these cars must pass over one or the other of the bridges. It will be the duty of these guardians to search for game, and find out if possible, on their return whether or not the law have been broken by shooting these imported birds.

Major Wolly-Dod occupied the chair, and the meeting was fairly representative. Some of the members were severe in their criticism of the provincial government owing to its failure to appoint more game wardens. It was claimed from Red Deer south there were only two game wardens to cover a distance of nearly 250 square miles.

The pheasants which the local association imported from abroad have been doing well, and can be seen south of here, especially near Midnapore and Fish Creek. Complaints have reached the officials here, that a party driving from Calgary south last week came across a covey of these birds and shot two of them. If possible, evidence will be obtained against these men.

When the chicken season opens next week the association is afraid that some poor sportsmen will take shot at these birds, and it is for that purpose the special guardians have been appointed.

Another suggestion made at the meeting was that the duck and prairie chicken season should open at the same time. This would prevent the slaughter of ducks, which are small and only flappers at the opening of the season.

Two resolutions were passed in reference to fishing. The association took objection to the large carboys which were supposed to be tied on the fishing rod, and asked that these tags be substituted for a small metal tag.

Another resolution was passed asking the government to define the boundaries of the province in the Louisiana, Missouri. At the present time anyone can fish in the park without a license or at any time in the season. If the boundaries were defined, the province would be divided into two parts, one under the fishery overseers just the same as any other part of Alberta.

During the evening, considerable discussion took place in reference to what the government intended doing with the revenue which would be derived from the sale of licenses. The members maintained it should be used for the purpose of appointing more game guardians, as the present number were entirely inadequate to cover the large territory they were called upon to do.

McGraw is Grooming His Men for the Big World Contest

Great Find in Recruit Named Demaree

Tesreau is Being Trained Particularly for the Big Events

McGraw Believes He Has Made Great Find in Recruit Named Demaree

New York, Sept. 27.—Manager McGraw, of the New York Giants, today began grooming his men for the world's series with the Boston Americans. The team's failure to clinch the pennant yesterday necessitated keeping all the world's series eligibles regularly in the games, but with the season now over, the recruits will be given the benefit of the work for the remaining weeks' play. The veteran players will rest on the relays, playing just enough to keep in good condition.

It is seldom that McGraw discusses the initial work of his young players, but he said today the debut of Demaree, the Southern League star in the box against Boston yesterday, was the finest work he had seen done by a newcomer in 30 years of baseball. It was Demaree's first game for the Giants and although the game was crucial to the extent that winning it meant clinching the pennant, the youngster had almost perfect control. He struck out nine men, allowed seven hits, two of which were scratches, gave only one base on balls, and scored a shut out.

Speculation as to how Demaree would figure in the world series, however, is useless, as he only represents the Giants on September 4, a week too late to be eligible. Tesreau is being groomed particularly for "split ball" pitching against the Red Sox, and Matthews and Marquard probably will each have a chance to start one of the big games.
