Large as a Dollar

Were the scrofula sores on my poor little boy, sickening and disgusting. They were especially severe on his legs, back of his ears and on his head. His hair was so matted that combing was sometimes impossible. His legs were so bad that sometimes he could not sit down, and when he tried to walk his legs would crack open and the blood start. Physicians did not effect a cure. I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla. In two weeks the sores commenced to heal up; the scales came off and all over his body new and healthy flesh and skin formed. When he had taken two bottles of

BASEBALL.

CLEVELAND CRUSHED.

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—In the second inning yesterday, after three men should have been out, Clarkson came to bat. There were two out and two on bases. Clarkson then surprised the crowd by hitting the ball out of the lot, three runs coming in. A base on balls, an error by Long and two hits gave the Clevelands three more runs and they thought they had a winner. They were disappointed, however, as the Bostons, commencing with the fourth inning, banged Clarkson all over the field and won an easy victory, earning eight of their twelve runs. Cleveland's heart is broken. Score:

At Boston—			R.	H.	E.
Boston	0 0 0 3 2 4 3 0 *		12	14	3
Cleveland	0 6 0 0 1 0 0 0 0		7	9	4

Batteries—Stivetts and Ganzel; Clarkson and Zimmer. Earned runs—Boston, 8; Cleveland, 1. Attendance, 3,463.

METHODIST W. M. S.

Closing Session of the Convention—Report of the Appropriation Committee.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 22.—At the closing session of the Women's Methodist Missionary Society mission circles and bands desiring to do work in affiliation with the Epworth leagues were given permission to do so, providing the constitution of the Women's Missionary Society be adhered to.

A new bylaw was adopted as follows: "Membership fees must be forwarded in full to the branch treasurer; local expenses must be met out of other funds."

The supply committee reported liberal contributions of clothing and bedding, and a vote of thanks was passed to the Indian Department for a refund of $147 92 freight on clothing. The aggregate value of articles sent to the different missions totaled $2,000, and nearly 150 mission bands have been engaged in the work of benevolence.

The appropriation committee reported as follows for the ensuing year:

JAPAN.

General	$ 950
Tokyo evangelistic $1,665, school $1,900	6,555
Sheyneka—School $915, evangelistic $1,836	2,775
Hofu—School $1,375, evangelistic $1,100	2,475
Kanazawa	2,455

Port Simpson	3,550
Port Simpson Hospital	400
Chilliwack	2,300
McDougall Orphanage	600
Salaries, ladies	900
Total	$39,309

It was resolved that the executive committee be authorized to send ten more ladies to Japan if suitable persons can be found and to provide for their salary and traveling expenses.

The president announced that a massive gold necklace and a gold bracelet had been bequeathed to the society by the late Mrs. Brethour, of Brantford. It was left to the president to dispose of the articles. The corresponding secretaries of the mission band branches were instructed to become associate editors of the Mission Band Quarterly. The appointment of Miss Brachnell to the Chinese home was approved, and the resignation of Miss Elderkin, Chilliwhack, accepted. (The list of officers elected has already appeared in these columns.)

The End Drawing Near.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 23.—Mrs. (President) Harrison is approaching the end. How long it will be before it supervenes cannot be told at this writing. It may be only a few hours or it may possibly be a day more, but that she cannot last much longer is certain. Her condition to-night is so critical that her physician and the family fear that to-morrow's sun may not shine for her.

Laid in the Grave.

The Funeral of the Late Detective Harry Phair.

Imposing Scenes Attendant Upon the Last Sad Rites.

Thousands Line the Streets and View the Cortege—An Immense Attendance—Officials From Outside Points—The Civic Representatives—The Prisoners Hear the "Dead March."

Amid a drizzling rain his comrades and friends upon earth saw all that was mortal of Detective Harry Phair laid in the cold grave yesterday afternoon.

London has seldom seen a larger or more imposing funeral. The tragic associations caused thousands to assemble to witness the last sad rites. An hour before the coffin was placed in the hearse the roadway in front of the family residence was blocked with interested spectators. A constant stream passed in and out of the room where the body lay, and hundreds took a last glance at the familiar face, which appeared exceedingly natural in death.

The casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings, the exquisite tribute of the London police force, "The Gates Ajar," standing at the head. Rev. Ira Smith, pastor of the Talbot Street Baptist Church, of which deceased was a devoted member, conducted the simple yet touching devotional exercises, consisting of a reading from Scripture, a short earnest prayer and that grand old hymn sung with tender pathos by the blue-coated policemen and others in the apartment:

Jesus, lover of my soul,
Let me to thy bosom fly—
While the raging billows roll,
While the tempest still is high.

The mourning relatives took a parting look before the lid was closed, and the remains were born to the hearse by the pall-bearers: His two sons, John, of San Francisco, and Thomas, of this city; his brothers, Robert and Alexander Phair, of Brantford; his son-in-law, Mr. Bush, of Moline, Ill.; and his nephew, Thomas Phair, of Toronto. Richmond street to Dundas, and Dundas to Kensington bridge was lined all the way by immense crowds. The funeral cortege was headed by the band of No. 1 Company, C. R. I., and solemn indeed did the strains of the "Dead March in Saul," sound. A detachment of No. 1 Company under Sergt. Munro followed.

Then came, also on foot, the city representatives, namely, Mayor Spencer and City Treasurer Pope; Aldermen Connor, John Heaman, Yates, Moule, O'Meara, Jeffrey, Gartshore, Jones, Wm. Heaman, Leonard, Garratt, Hannah, Fitzgerald, Dreaney, Bartlett, Shaw, Judd and Parnell; City Clerk Kingston, Assessment Commissioner Grant, City Auditor Geo. F. Jewell, ex-Mayor Taylor, Water Commissioner Jones, Waterworks Engineer John M. Moore, Waterworks Secretary O. Ellwood, ex-Mayor Cowan, and ex-Ald. John Callard.

Then a number of police officials from outside points among whom were the following: Detective Burrows, of Toronto, representing the Toronto department; Medical Detective Wasson, of Toronto; Chief Fewings and M. C. R. Detective Heenan, of St. Thomas; Chief Wills, P. C.s Anderson, Tisdale and Workmen, of Woodstock; Chief Northgreaves, Assistant Chief Cotton and ex-Chief Capron, of Ingersoll; Chief Redford, of Wingham; Chief Wills, and Government Detective McKee and Campau, of Windsor.

A squad of 30 of the police force came next, in command of Sergeants Adams, Jenkins and McGuire. Behind them walked Chief Williams in uniform, Chief McKinnon, of Hamilton, and Police Magistrate E. J. Parke, Q.C.

The hearse and a large number of vehicles brought up the rear. There were fully 150 rigs in line, a fitting testimony of the universal esteem with which the deceased was regarded by his fellow-citizens of all classes and creeds. The procession wended its way at a measured pace through the streets to the bridge, where part of those on foot returned and part proceeded in 'busses. A large crowd assembled on the elevated ground at the county jail to witness the column go by, and many cast glances at the grim structure as the thought suggested itself that within its walls were the two men responsible for the sad event without. Wilson and Burke were confined in a cell at the side furthest from the street, but the refrain of the "Dead March" was wafted through the corridors and struck upon their ears. They inquired its meaning and were told it by the prisoners near them, but evinced no emotion of any sort.

When the cortege reached Mount Pleasant Cemetery the casket was mounted on the shoulders of Sergeants McGuire and Jenkins, and P. C.s Crawford, Boyd, Egelton and Morgan, who carried it to the open grave. Another passage from Scripture and a prayer marked the final service, and the earth soon closed over the shell in the ground. The clouds had rolled by and the sun shone out bright during the march through the city, but before the cemetery was reached the rain started to pour, adding a dreariness to the sorrowful scene.

CABINET CHANGES.

Strong Probability of Mr. Chapleau's Withdrawal.

MONTREAL, Oct. 23.—The declaration made by Hon. Mr. Chapleau at the Hochelaga nomination as to his retirement from the Ministry is exciting much interest here. One of his intimate friends claimed that he had the best of authority for stating that in the meantime Mr. Chapleau will proceed to France for the benefit of his health, that he will return in December, when he will succeed Lieutenant-Governor Angers, who by that time will have resigned.

OTTAWA, Oct. 23.—The members of the Cabinet decline to express any opinion about the statement made by Mr. Chapleau, foreshadowing his early retirement from the Ministry.

BLAINE'S LETTER.

The Man From Maine at Last Unbosoms Himself.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Mr. Blaine's long-promised utterance on the Presidential election of 1892 will appear to-morrow. It occupies thirteen pages of the North American Review. Mr. Blaine notes the lack of excitement attending the present election, contrasting it with the turmoil of interest that characterized the campaign of the elder Harrison. The change in the public interest in such contests, he suggests, may be accounted for by the growth in population and the consequent absorption in vast commercial and financial operations, and it may possibly indicate a subsidence in future of extreme partisanship.

Mr. Blaine gives special attention to the letters of the presidential candidates. Of President Harrison's letter he says among other things that "perhaps none of his predecessors has made so exhaustive and none a more clear presentation of the questions involved. Mr. Cleveland's letter is subjected to searching criticism. Mr. Blaine finds that in a greater measure than Mr. Harrison's it departs from the platform of his party. In fact that "Mr. Cleveland has made the platform upon which he is now before the people," and that "Mr. Cleveland's departures from the positions of his party's platform on the question of free trade confirms the impression which has been general that a large proportion of the Democratic party believes in protection in some form."

Mr. Blaine upholds the Republican policy of granting liberal pensions to the veterans of the war. The most remarkable thing in the presidential canvass of 1892 Mr. Blaine regards is the manner in which in some sections of the country all other issues have been put out of sight and the Force Bill alone is brought into prominence, and he compliments Mr. Dana, of the New York Sun—whom he calls the author of this policy—on his zeal and ability in achieving this result. The representation made as to the purpose and the effect of the Force Bill, however, he declares to be inconsistent with the spirit of President Harrison's letter.

Mr. Blaine is full and explicit in his treatment of the subject of reciprocity, claiming that a material increase has been caused in the United States trade by reciprocal treaties with the islands and countries of America, and particularly by the treaties made with European countries.

Infectious Diseases In Toronto.

TORONTO, Oct. 23.—The record of infectious diseases continues to increase. The figures for the week ending to-day shows diphtheria 55, typhoid 16, scarlet fever 15. This is the highest point reached by diphtheria since the outbreak of last year when for two months it averaged 60 per week.

The vital statistics for the week show 93 births, 65 deaths and 26 marriages.
