Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and do not accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it deters so naturally and evenly that the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—Adv.

RUSSIAN PENNANT TAKEN DURING WAR GOES TO MUSEUM

Flag Was Secured by C. V. Walters During the Drive Against Bolsheviki.

FOUND IN OLD HOUSE

When the University of Western Ontario first set out its museum for which many Londoners are carefully hoarding various objects of interest and value, there will be a red and blue pennant and a little painted cross from Northern Russia ready to grace its walls. The history of the flag, which is in the possession of C. V. Walters of 420 Nelson street, is part of the story of the Canadian expeditionary force in Europe in the year of the war.

Mr. Walters, who was a sergeant in the C. F. A., was one of the 16th Brigade, who, when the Russian Revolution broke out, he was in the possession of a detachment of the Royal Scots, who, by the way, were mostly B class men, and a detachment of American troops, the Canadians having reached Archangel, proceeded to travel up the Dvina River on barges, towed by tugs. The Bolsheviks were the man they were after, and for ten months they met him in a series of engagements, inflicting defeats on him with more or less regularity until in June of 1919, together with his battery he was moving down the river banks, when an old storehouse, standing all alone in its emptiness, was noticed and on investigation, found to contain nothing but this flag rolled up in a bundle and tossed in a corner.

Offered To University. Sergeant Walters picked it up as a curiosity, and it now hangs on his walls as a memento of his Russian trip and his scraps with the Bolshevik, or the "Bolo" as the battery called them. He decided that a plain wall is hardly a fitting place for the pennant and has accordingly offered it to the university for its new museum. Col. W. J. Brown, executive secretary of the university, has been collecting all sorts of things for this museum for a long time and such an interesting war relic is sure to appeal to his fancy. The flag itself is a long V shaped pennant, the broad end being divided lengthways into two red and blue stripes. The tail of the pennant is a white background bearing a blue anchor and an axe crossed. The whole flag is about seven feet long. Mr. Walters believes it to be one of the old Russian naval flags, and not belonging to the Bolsheviks, whose flags when they used them were of the red flag order.

In the Walters home are other relics of war days which he will probably keep at home for his own interest. There is one of those great curved Cossack cavalry swords, a long heavy weapon attached to a leather sword belt, very much like the ordinary Canadian Sam Browne. The other rather unusual memento is a little painted wooden cross, inscribed with the words "Russia 1919". When the Canadian troops were leaving for England, a little chap in one of the villages gave it to Mr. Walters as a last gift to a stranger who had come to his aid, for he was a child of the old Russian party. Perhaps it was given as a measure of protection against the cruelty of the "Bolo".

Its present owner likes to think it was, and it is certain that the child believed implicitly in its saving properties. He may have held it close to his body on many occasions when the revolutionaries robbed him of his parents, and caused him to run in fear from their soldiery.

Designation of Great. It is a small, cheap affair, ten inches long, shaped in the form of a sepulchral cross. In the centre is a picture of the crucifix, and at the foot of the cross is a great heap of human bones, surmounted by a skull and crossbones. On each arm of the cross the picture of one of the women who attended Jesus at the last, and at the top of the right is Moses, with a triangular golden halo behind his head. The text at the bottom of the cross, in Russian, arranged on the lower part of the stem of the cross. The painting is done in red, blue, and gold, as in the picture of the crucifix, and the perfectly-trusted symbol of faith, and the visible sign of a power that illiterate Russia knew only by such pictures.

BADMINTON CLUB WILL MEET ON NOVEMBER 3

Many Amendments to Existing Constitution Will Be Made.

The annual general meeting of the London Garrison Badminton Club will be held at 5 p.m. on November 3, 1923, for the election of officers and general business. Proposed amendments to the bylaws and rules to be submitted to the meeting are attached.

The courts will be opened for play on November 3 from 2:30 to 6:30 p.m., and tea will be served in the club rooms at 4:30 p.m. Fees for the year of 1923-24 are now due and are payable to the treasurer. Fees should be paid not later than November 30.

An election of new members will take place on November 17, 1923. The names of candidates for membership should be submitted in writing to the secretary, with the names of the proposer and seconder, not later than November 5.

Members wishing to resign from the club should do so in writing to the secretary, and if the resignation is not accepted, they may be charged their subscription fee for the coming year.

Many amendments to the bylaws are in the form of notices of motion.

MAYOR IS ASKED TO PICK PRETTIEST GIRL IN CITY

Woodstock, Oct. 30.—Mayor Murray has been asked to accept the most delicate task yet placed before him since he became the chief executive of the city. He has received an appeal to find out the prettiest girl in the city, who will be named "Miss Woodstock," and who will represent the city at a contest to be held in Toronto on December 3 and 4, when Ontario's prettiest girl will be chosen to represent the province in the contest for the beauty championship of America.

Woodstock's mayor is a bachelor.

NOT SEEKING ELECTION, DECLARES LAWRASON

School Trustee States He Has No Ambition To Become Mayor.

Fred Lawrason, member of the board of education, is not seeking public honors via the mayor's chair, he told The Advertiser today, and furthermore he makes it quite clear that he does not desire to enter any public controversy with Mayor Wenige.

Yesterday the latter challenged Trustee Lawrason to test out the popularity of his city hall plan with the people, by appearing against him at the December election.

"Would I be heavy enough for that job?" asked Mr. Lawrason, humorously. "You know Mayor Wenige is considered a fairly big man of municipal affairs, and it would take a real big man to defeat him. I'm afraid I would scarcely fit in."

In a serious mood, however, Trustee Lawrason explained that he had no intention of entering the mayoralty arena or seeking undue publicity.

"I merely submitted for the consideration of the board the idea of having a new city hall on the present site," he explained. "The only sensible one that they might be interested in. If the people have lots of money to spend and want to spend it, let them vote for the mayor's scheme. If not, they have an economic proposition at their disposal."

With fear and trembling, the staffs of four of the largest public schools in the city await the visit of the teachers from Windsor next week. These four schools, which have been picked out from all the others for demonstration purposes, will be inspected by the visiting teachers on Friday of next week, the second day of the local teachers' annual convention.

While the buildings will be inspected, it is not an inspection in the ordinary sense of the word, for the schools will be kept open and the teachers will be at their desks as well as the students. They will carry on as usual, except that where on other days of the year they had only pupils to contend with, they will then have to do their work under the eyes of other teachers.

One of the principals concerned stated that he did not relish the idea of doing the work under the watchful gaze of his conferees, feeling sure that any mistakes, no matter how slight they might be, would be immediately noticed and taken up. The children, however, are looking forward to the visit, and expect that it will be as good as a holiday.

LOCAL STAGE ALL SET FOR "TORY" GATHERING

E. R. Dennis Expects 100 Delegates From 24 Ridings Here Tomorrow.

The stage is all set for the "big" Tory gathering here tomorrow. "Chief" E. R. Dennis says that Conservative gatherings are always "big," and that the Western Ontario assembly will run true to form. At least 100 delegates from 24 ridings are expected to be in attendance, including at least one member of the new cabinet. The two others will be here if their duties permit.

Several members of the provincial and federal houses are also expected including J. Frank Miller, M.P., London; R. V. LeSueur, West Lambton; J. S. Stansell, East Elgin; Hugh McKillop, West Elgin, and others.

While the session has been called by President Dennis for strictly business purposes—election of officers, etc.—it would not be a complete success without addresses relative to the next election.

MINSTRELS TO ENTERTAIN.

Burgessville, Oct. 30.—On Friday evening the "Y" Beaver minstrels of Woodstock will give a concert in the J. O. O. F. hall under the auspices of the Burgessville Women's Institute. The proceeds will be divided between the local Women's Institute and the Woodstock Y. M. C. A. Capt. Pearce will take a prominent part in the entertainment.

AUTO WENT INTO DITCH.

Special to The Advertiser. Cayuga, Oct. 30.—A heavy touring car came around the corner at J. R. Kohler's residence on Sunday, just as Mr. Kohler drove out, and in order to avoid a collision the former drove further to the edge of the road than was necessary and landed his car on its side in the ditch. Fortunately no one was injured.

FEARS GAS SHORTAGE MAY CAUSE TROUBLE

Chatham Gas Company Issues Warning To Consumers in That City.

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, Oct. 30.—The Chatham Gas Company, in a report covering improvements carried out to the local distributing system according to an agreement with the city, sounds a warning to citizens to be prepared against a gas shortage during cold spells.

The report says: "While the improvements should, and will, better the distribution of such amount of gas as may be available at the city limits, the additions will not produce gas, and gas consumers in the city would be well advised to provide some other fuel in the coldest weather to meet the demands."

PROHIBITION TALK.

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, Oct. 30.—"Prohibition" was the subject of a splendid address given last evening by G. B. Beardsall at the meeting of the Young Peoples' Society of St. Andrew's Church. Mr. McIntosh, the president, was in charge, and arrangements were made for a membership drive. S. J. Smith and A. A. McLeish were appointed captains. A solo was rendered by P. Fancher.
