ORGANIZATION OF A RED CROSS

that we do not need such a nurse, we need one or two and perhaps more and we need them badly. We only have to look in the Vital Statistics of the town and see the great number of young babies who appear in this world and disappear after a few weeks or a few months to get the certitude that there is something wrong somewhere. Every mother feels that it is not the wish of God that her young baby be taken away from her and put in the ground at the age where the innocent creature begins to smile and stretch his little arms towards the one who gave him life.

Mothers, it is not God's desire that you should suffer in vain and that the reward of your devotion to your country should be two or three small white crosses in a corner of a grave-yard. Oh, no, your children are given to you to stay with you, to grow under your eyes, to help you when they are grown up to take your place when you get old and to close your eyes when it is time for you to follow the great law of nature and lay down for the endless sleep.

We often hear people say when a child dies: "This is God's will, the poor child makes one more angel in heaven." This is a blasphemy, it is not God's will but often it is the parent's neglect that causes the child's death.

I admit that in some cases the child will lose the fight in spite of all, in spite of proper care and feeding, but in the majority of cases these feeble creatures are deprived of the greatest possible gift, which is life, on account of some defects in the management of their diet and hygiene in the early life.

Parents can not always be blamed or kept responsible for what happens, Organization No. 2 of the Red Cross for the reason that they do the best they can, they do according to the best way they were told. The responsibility lays on the community which did not teach them the sciences of motherhood. There should be schools where mothers will learn how to feed their babies how to take care of them, how to prevent many diseases and there are none but the Red Cross nurse will try to remedy it.

Those who are educated and have time to read will take in the books the knowledge necessary to enable them to fulfill properly their duties of mother. Those who can hardly read or have no time to do so, are generally guided by the neighbors who have received their hygienic education from their mothers and grand mothers and God knows how hard it is for a small child to pass through the ill-treatment and stomach and entire body and still live and become strong.

The Red Cross nurse is here to tell you what you should do to give your babies all the possible chances to live, to grow strong and be in fighting condition to support the attacks of our numerous enemies called microbes or germs of disease.

In order to work properly the present nurse and those who will follow her, require help and support, she cannot work with success and authority if she is left alone, she must have some influential body to support and assist her in every way, and this meeting is called to elect, I would say to select, those who are more willing to do good to their neighbors and fellow citizens.

I hope that this organization will be a success and that every Red Cross member present and future will make it a duty to work in sympathies with the nurse.

This is a non sectarian organization and I hope religion will be left home and have nothing to do with the Red Cross affairs; or you may adopt a new religion, the religion of saving the lives of dozens of babies who die of preventable diseases every year, adopt the religion of bringing consolation in the homes that are desolated, of bringing hope to those who despair, adopt the religion of bringing sunshine and light where darkness reigns and health where death is waiting.

In devoting yourselves to the Red Cross works or in helping the nurse to conduct as it should be you will save many lives, and more fortunate than the great men who had stone monuments erected in their memory, you will see around you numerous living monuments under the form of rosy happy children.

Remember that children have a God given right to live, and to deprive them of it is a crime. Remember also that nothing brings more satisfaction than being able to say to yourself when the day is over, that you made some difference in the day just ended, that a sick one is suffering less, that a child is feeling more comfortable and sleeps better, that someone is blessing you for the good you did to them.

ADVERTISING AND BUSINESS

Puts Pep in Business When
"Properly Administered—
An Instance."

When a Campbellton merchant came to The Graphic early in March and said he wanted to move his stock and wanted space we frankly told him that the season was not opportune for any large movement of goods, but he could have all the space he wanted at current rates.

He stated that he evidently had more faith in The Graphic than we had, and would start by issuing a page ad., and two thousand five hundred posters.

The sale was to start Friday, Mar. 10th and continue until Saturday the 18th. From the opening hour until the store closed Saturday night, the 12th, customers thronged the counters and a tremendous amount of goods were sold. Of course the advertising was backed up with high quality goods at unheard of prices.

Mr. Davidson is a great booster of The Graphic. He says it has done what was considered impossible, and put it over big.

Davidson's sale is on only two more days, but there are still many bargains if you call and look over his stocks.
