MANY PRACTICE FALSE ECONOMY

Farmer Saves 15 Cents, Squanders Big Sum—Forgets Home Merchant.

If you know how to spend less than you get you have the philosopher's stone. Economy is the parent of integrity, of liberty and of ease and the beautiful sister of temperance, of cheerfulness and of health. Willful waste is a cruel and crafty demon that gradually involves her followers in dependence and debts and so fetters them with iron chains that enter their inmost souls. Economy is a procedure by which a certain sum of money can be saved and waste, on the other hand, by which the same sum of money is dissipated. To illustrate, a farmer wishes to buy an ax. The local merchant's price is $1.40, but the farmer can buy "an" ax from the retail catalogue house for $1.25. He is economical and is going to save that 15 cents.

Abandons Machinery In Field The previous summer the economical farmer bought a new mower with which to harvest his hay and paid therefor $85. The machine was nice and new and shiny, and when the farmer completed the cutting of his hay he promptly hitched his team and abandoned the pretty new mower to the tender elements of the hayfield, and there it remains, the seat and tongue protruding from a huge snowdrift.

That seems to be a case where waste took economy by the hand and led it out into the fields and lost it. Neglect is noticeable.

It is a regrettable fact that the practice is not uncommon; that it is the rule rather than the exception among farmers.

Look out of the window of any train as you pass through the country, and almost the first thing that meets the eye is a neglected piece of farm machinery standing in a vacant field unprotected from the rains of the summer, the winds of the fall, the sleet, ice and snow of winter and the mud and mire of spring.

What must be the condition of that machinery when in the course of time the farmer is again ready to put it into service?

Have rust, neglect and the elements added to its value and efficiency? Depreciated 50 per cent?

Have they not depreciated it at least 50 per cent in every way? Neglect of this kind is willful waste.

There is no better field in all the world in which the farmer can practice economy than in the proper care of his machinery.

Some farmers protect their machinery all right from the elements. They haul it in under a shed.

The barnyard fowls have also discovered this "nice shed" and find that machinery makes the nicest kind of roosting place, with the result that when the machines are again brought out into the sunlight they are things of sordid appearance rather than of worth and beauty.

Machinery Rusts Out. The back door robs the house, and the back door leads to the machinery shed and to the open fields. Go out and see if your machinery is protected from both the weather and barnyard dirt.

Remember it is better for machinery to wear out than to rust out. Saving 15 cents on an ax and losing $50 on a mowing machine is false economy, the practice of which leads past the gate of thrift and industry and up to the door of "woeful want and willful waste" and to the fireside of indolence.

Remember it is better for machinery to wear out than to rust out.

EXPENSE VS. SAVINGS.

Here and there one finds a dairyman who hesitates about taking up cow testing, because of the initial expense of about three dollars for the necessary outfit of scales and bottles.

This would seem to be an extreme case of "Penny wise and pound foolish". So many examples are constantly cropping up of distinct saving through the small expenditure that they should be noted for the encouragement of those who still hesitate.

Cows have been bought at auction time after time, discarded by owners who were evidently absolutely ignorant of their high value as good producers. After one or two months' test the new owners have often refused $50 and $100 on their bargains. That is a pretty quick return on the cow testing outfit expenditure. In fact amongst such discards at auction were picked up one or two world's champions, worth thousands of dollars.

This vital fact should not be overlooked: Hundreds of poor cows are being kept today at huge expense of whose low value the owners are also probably ignorant. Yet a three dollar outfit would help discover them soon turning the present loss into distinct savings.

Then, thanks to that small expense, many dairymen are now making an additional income of three hundred dollars from twenty cows, because the poorest have been discarded. It will abundantly pay every dairyman to keep dairy records.

ANOTHER STATEMENT ABOUT "THE MENACE"

Post Office Has Taken Ban From This Journal And It Can Now Be Mailed

Ottawa, April 29.—The postmaster general, Hon. L. P. Pelletier, made another statement in the commons this afternoon in regard to the exclusion of the Canadian "Menace," published at Aurora (Ont.), from the Canadian mails.

The government has been bombarded with resolutions from orange lodges protesting against this exclusion. Mr. Pelletier this afternoon, in reply to a question by Edmund Proulx, quoted a letter written in reply to a resolution of protest from a Montreal Orange lodge. This letter reviewed the reasons formerly given for barring "The Menace," on the ground that the paper published immoral, indecent and scurrilous things.

Continuing his reply to the Orange-men, Mr. Pelletier said: "Continuing the postmaster-general said in his letter: 'The publishers came out with a leading article in large type acknowledging that we were right in undertaking not to publish this kind of obscene and immoral language in future. They were told that the ban would be lifted if they did not keep their promise the privileges of the mails would be withdrawn.'"

A HOT TIME COMING

Parliament appears to be now coming to the fighting stage at Ottawa. For five months, the Government has avoided trouble by holding back controversial business and the Opposition has therefore had little opening for criticism. The Liberals made the budget now which should produce a month of real Parliamentary fighting. The redistribution bill is one of these. Not only have the two parties failed to agree on the terms of redistribution, especially in Quebec and Ontario, but in the Conservative party the members and ministers in some cases have had serious differences over the plans for running new lines of constituencies. These troubles may be aired in the House along with the Liberal protest.

There is every indication that lively fighting and the application of closure will mark the passage of the Militia estimates. Col. Hughes wants a large amount of money this year and is willing to fight for it. The Liberals appear to be more willing to give him the fight than the money.

The estimates for public works are due for criticism which promises to be warm in spots. The Government has been holding back on the estimates for these two departments apparently believing that the end of the session is an easier time to avoid controversy than earlier. They are giving the theory a fair test this year. The Liberals say it will not sound—Ex.

Your Oven Gains by Our Oven Test

Your oven becomes a certain producer of more bread and better bread. We can promise that.

For from each shipment of wheat delivered at our mills we take a ten pound sample. We grind it into flour. We bake the flour into bread.

If this bread is high in quality and large in quantity, we use the shipment. Otherwise we sell it.

There is no guess-work about our promise of more bread and better bread from flour bearing this name.
